pay homage at the altar of childhood heaping endless goods on the young reveling in memories of a more innocent time and finding solace in the softly backlit memories of our earliest years We are the proclamation goes just big kids at heart And accordingly we delight in prolonging and inflating the childhood experiences of our offspring In images of the naughty but nice Buster Brown and the coquettish but sweet Shirley Temple Americans at mid century offered up a fantastic world of treats toys and stories creating a new image of the child as cute Holidays such as Christmas and Halloween became blockbuster affairs vehicles to fuel the bedazzled and wondrous innocence of the adorable child All this Gary Cross illustrates reflected the preoccupations of a more gentle and affluent culture but it also served to liberate adults from their rational and often tedious worlds of work and responsibility But trouble soon entered paradise The cute turned into cool as children following their parental example embraced the gift of fantasy and unrestrained desire to rebel against the saccharine excesses of wondrous innocence in deliberate pursuit of the anti cute Movies comic books and video games beckoned to children with the allures of an often violent sexualized and increasingly harsh worldview Unwitting and resistant accomplices to this commercial transformation of childhood adults sought over and over again in repeated and predictable cycles to rein in these threats in a largely futile jeremiad to preserve the old order Thus the cute child deliberately manufactured and cultivated has ironically fostered a profoundly troubled ambivalence toward youth and child rearing today Expertly weaving his way through the cultural artifacts commercial currents and parenting anxieties of the previous century Gary Cross offers a vibrant and entirely fresh portrait of the forces that have defined American childhood Writers Directory NA

NA,2016-03-05 The Middle Eastern Village Richard Lawless,2023-05-31 Rapid and uneven change to the fabric of rural life is widespread in modern Middle Eastern countries Modernisation usually in the Western model has often brought major improvements in agricultural technology education and public health but has also had the effect of weakening the traditional rural economy of many villages and encouraging their growing dependence on external sources of income most notably oil remittances This collection of research on the Middle Eastern village looks at the impact on rural life and environment of such factors as the mass exodus of labour to urban centres emigration immigration environmental change and the changing role of women in rural communities particularly the wives of migrant workers who have to fill a new role in the family structure State sponsored agrarian policies have weakened the power of traditional landed interests and together with labour migration have provoked new tension and inequalities in rural society The book makes clear that the pattern of change has been highly uneven and has served to heterogenise the countryside As the oil states enter a period of recession and the likelihood of substantial return migration increases rural communities will need to make further major adjustments and the book examines the tensions this new development is likely to produce First published in 1987 Film Theory Goes to the Movies Jim Collins,Ava Preacher Collins,Hilary Radner,2012-10-02 Film Theory Goes to the Movies fills the gap in film theory literature which has failed to analyze high grossing blockbusters The contributors in this volume however discuss such popular films as The Silence of the Lambs, Dances With Wolves, Terminator II, Pretty Woman, Truth or Dare, Mystery Train and JungleFever. They employ a variety of critical approaches from industry analysis to reception study to close readings informed by feminist deconstructive and postmodernist theory as well as recent developments in African American and gay and lesbian criticism. An important introduction to contemporary Hollywood, this anthology will be of interest to those involved in the fields of film theory, literary theory, popular culture and women's studies. International Literary Market Place, 1980
