The Historic Urban Landscape Francesco Bandarin, Ron van Oers, 2012-03-19 Much of the current debate on how we should preserve our cultural heritage revolves around urban sites historic monuments in urban settings historic districts or complete historic towns The growing complexity of urban heritage conservation makes reaching a consensus on how to manage urban heritage difficult Additionally the sharp increase in the world's population now living in urban areas combined with a lack of policies to facilitate a sustainable use of heritage assets means the pressure on historic sites is set to rise Unless new and innovative ways of managing these sites can be agreed on there is a real danger that historic cities as we know them today will not survive the first decades of the 21st century The Historic Urban Landscape managing heritage in an urban century offers a comprehensive overview of the intellectual developments in urban conservation The book examines its modern interpretations and critiques and the way in which the classical approach has been challenged by the evolution of the conceptual and operational context of urban management Analyses are provided of how World Heritage sites are managed with associated debates and decisions to inform the development of local urban conservation policies and practices The authors offer unique insights from UNESCO's World Heritage Centre and the book is richly illustrated with colour photographs Examples are drawn from urban heritage sites worldwide from Timbuktu to Liverpool to demonstrate key issues and best practice in urban conservation today The book offers an invaluable resource for architects planners surveyors and engineers worldwide working in heritage conservation as well as for local authority conservation officers and managers of heritage sites Sustainability in Energy and Buildings 2021 John R. Littlewood, Robert J. Howlett, Lakhmi C. It introduces innovative economic, environmental, and governance models and evaluation tools tested and validated for adaptive reuse within the CLIC Circular models Leveraging Investments in Cultural Heritage Adaptive Reuse project funded by the European Horizon 2020 Research Innovation Action Program. The CLIC project is a transdisciplinary research project bringing together expertise from disciplines such as heritage studies, regeneration and urban development, business management, economics, ecology, and social sciences. The research covered in this book responds to the European Societal Challenge 5 Climate action, environment, resource efficiency, and raw materials, aimed at achieving resource efficient and climate change resilient economy and society through systemic innovation. The CLIC project also unlocks public and private investments in solutions for a more resource efficient, greener, and more competitive economy as a key part of smart, inclusive, and sustainable growth strategy for Europe and worldwide. This book is fundamental key reading for scholars, professionals, and policy makers, demonstrating how the adaptive reuse of cultural heritage in a systemic perspective has the potential to stimulate growth, sustainable development, social regeneration, welfare, jobs, income, and livability of urban territorial settings to implement the circular economy model. It also provides innovative models and a circular toolkit for financing reusing and managing cultural heritage based on research outcomes and implementation of experimental models in four pilot European territories covered as case studies.

aspects of China's key position in the climate change situation and policy debates. However, limited by its development stage, natural resource endowment and other unbalanced developing issues, China is still a developing country. This book shows the reader the real China which can provide more comprehensive solutions for future global climate regimes. This book includes research into China's twelfth Five Year Plan, low carbon city pilot schemes, policies and pathways for China's nationally appropriate mitigation actions, China's forestry management, China's NGOs and climate change, the low carbon 2010 Expo in Shanghai, carbon budget proposals, China's green economy and green jobs, China's reaction to carbon tariffs, China's actions in approaching adaptation, China's cumulative carbon emissions and more. China's Climate Change Policies brings together experienced experts with in-depth understanding of the scientific assessment of climate change and relevant social and economic policies and senior experts who have participated directly in international climate negotiations. This will help the reader to better understand the 2011 Durban climate change conference as well as China's long-term strategy in response to climate change.

Solar Energy Technologies in Cultural Heritage Elena Lucchi, 2024-11-02. Solar Energy Technologies in Cultural Heritage offers a comprehensive overview of the solar renewable energy possibilities, developments, innovations and challenges for cultural heritage applications. This book bridges the traditional boundary between research, professional practices and policies as well as between arts, architecture, engineering and social science. Conservation of heritage buildings, especially in urban settings, has evolved from purely physical preservation to functional redevelopment and repurposing. This opens new opportunities for active solar energy systems in buildings, towns and landscapes. This book presents international contributions on the integration of solar renewable energies within cultural heritage, providing detailed coverage of cultural legislative and social frameworks, design criteria, simulation tools, innovative materials and technologies. This book is an essential resource for anyone interested in solar energy technologies for the built environment, including researchers, scientists, graduate students, engineers, designers, developers and policymakers. Presents current knowledge and innovative technologies for the integration of photovoltaic and solar thermal systems in cultural heritage. Illustrates approaches and solutions for solving the complex cost-benefit balance between conservation and energy production. Includes contributions from major experts and scientists in the field, supported by real experience and practical examples.

Reshaping Urban Conservation Ana Pereira Roders, Francesco Bandarin, 2019-02-07. This volume focuses on the implementation of the 2011 UNESCO Recommendation on the Historic Urban Landscape (HUL) approach, designed to foster the integration of heritage management in regional and urban planning and management and strengthen the role of heritage in sustainable urban development. Earlier publications and research looked at the underlying theory of why the HUL approach was needed and how this theory was developed and elaborated by UNESCO. A comprehensive analysis was carried out in consultation with a multitude of actors in the twenty-first century urban scene and with disciplinary approaches that are available to heritage managers and practitioners to implement the HUL approach. This volume aims to be empirical, describing, analyzing and comparing 28 cities taken as case studies to implement the HUL approach From those cases many lessons can be learned and much guidance shared on best practices concerning what can be done to make the HUL approach work Whereas the previous studies served to illustrate issues and challenges in this volume the studies point to innovations in regional and urban planning and management that can allow cities to avoid major conflicts and to further develop in competitiveness These accomplishments have been possible by building partnerships devising financial strategies and using heritage as a key resource in sustainable urban development to name but a few effective strategies For these reasons this volume is primarily pragmatic linked to the daily work and challenges of practitioners and administrators using specific cases to assess what was and is good about current practices and what can be improved in accordance with the HUL approach and aims

Eco-Landscape Design John A. Flannery, Karen M. Smith, 2014-06-19 The ability to adapt to a changing environment has ensured the continued survival of the human race into the 21st century The challenges to be faced in this century are now well documented by the United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change The effects of drought melting polar ice and increased incidences of extreme weather events will impact on the diverse landscapes of the earth and a human population predicted to be 9 billion by the middle of the 21st century a three fold increase in less than one hundred years This book provides a valuable insight into landscaping activity worldwide by those tasked with housing feeding and nurturing all species that share the planet Research for this publication reveals the growth of non anthropized design philosophies acknowledging that humanity cannot be indefinitely sustained if animal bird and plant life are excluded The precious resources of water and the air that we breathe are no longer taken for granted rivers flowing through the world's mega cities are now being cleaned restored and given pride of place in the landscapes they flow through Conservation projects provide evidence that even fragile island and desert landscapes can be protected from the negative impacts of population Eco Landscape Design demonstrates that an intelligent and thoughtful approach to landscape design can not only ensure survival it can reap compound benefits and rewards far in excess of those originally envisaged
