Learning to Live Beatrix Tudor-Hart, 2023-02-13 Originally published in 1963 this account based on a lifetime of first hand experience of the growing child covers all the situations and problems which a child and its parents and educators meet in the first twelve years of life from the earliest of feeding and sleeping right through to learning to read write and adjust happily to other people Every parent wants to be sure that his or her child gets the best possible start in life At the time so many books that were supposed to deal with the formative years of a child's life gave advice that was incomplete conflicting or ambiguous It was for this reason that there had been so many pleas for a book which gave full explanations for its recommendations without sacrificing either warmth or humanity The author produced such a book The late Beatrix Tudor Hart's early study of psychology at Cambridge and in Germany and America was followed by six years of running her own nursery kindergarten for children of two to seven years until in 1933 she felt that it was wrong to separate this age group from older children For sixteen years from 1938 1954 she ran a cooperative non profitmaking school for children of two to twelve years At the time of original publication the author was a lecturer in Child Psychology for Department of Child Care at the North Western Polytechnic London

Early Childhood Settings Ingrid Pramling Samuelsson, Marilyn Fleeer, 2008-11-14 This book represents the outcome of the joint activities of a group of scholars who were concerned about the lack of international research in play for children from birth to 3 years The authors are members of the Organisation Mondiale pour l'Education Prescolaire OMEP For further information see <http://www.om.org.net> The idea of carrying out a research project internationally was born at the OMEP's World Congress in Melbourne Australia 2004 All member countries were invited and 10 countries decided to participate of which three have withdrawn during the process The reason for this might be that in these countries only one person was working with the project while other seven countries have been working in a team of two or more persons The countries that have carried out research and contributed to this book with a chapter each are Australia Chile China Japan New Zealand Sweden and USA Wisconsin For more information about the participating countries and their corresponding addresses see Appendix I This book project started in Melbourne with a discussion about what is general in early childhood education globally and what is culturally specific The discussion was inspired by one of the keynote speakers Nazhat Shameem 2004 judge in the supreme court in Fiji when she said If we all think we are so different and specific in each culture the role of human rights has no value anymore We formulated three questions

Learning in Social Context: The Nature and Profit of Living in Groups for Development Ildikó Király, David Buttelmann, 2017-05-25 One of the distinctive features of humans is their unique sociality Humans live in organized societies that are characterized by a high level of interdependence of group members in various aspects of life ranging from the economic phenomenon of labour division to providing emotional support to others Under these circumstances the capacity to track social connections within and between groups has great adaptive value in managing everyday life We may understand the importance and adaptive value of tracking the scope of culturally shared knowledge if we consider the importance of cultural norms in guiding behaviour To become a competent member of their cultural group one must be able to conform to the group's specific behavioural norms and to accumulate culturally shared knowledge Acquiring this knowledge is essential for successful social interactions In contrast to current dominant explanatory theories emphasizing that social category formation is simply rooted in humans' need to belong and affiliate with a group the aim of this e-book is to provide evidence that in addition to its affiliative role children form social categories for epistemic purposes We show that children use specific cues like kinship patterns of resource allocation and consensus to understand group cohesion Section 1 Once children figured out who is in group and who is out group they show a significant in-group bias in attention acting and learning Section 2 Yet this in-group bias can be attenuated by induced synchronous behavior Section 3
