Pluralism Politics And Ideology In The Creole Caribbean:

Pluralism, Politics, and Ideology in the Creole Caribbean Michael Garfield Smith, 1991 Ethnic Stratification and Structural Pluralism in Guyana Duane Edwards, 2024-07-08 Through a case study of Guyana a society in which structural pluralism and ethnic racial divisions coincide to a large extent this book explores the specific way in which social structures interact with and affect social institutions ethnic stratification social actions and both group based and purportedly universalist ideologies The book examines how a system of differentiation and stratification inherited from colonial times persists in its essential form in the current time despite attempts to dislodge it While not falling prey to a structural determinism the book argues based on the evidence provided through both a historical sociological review of historical evidence and a presentist analysis of cross sectional data on business ownership that actions which coincide with the logic of social structures tend to prevail over actions which take that logic for granted It is for this reason that political and social players with grand ideals have been less successful in their attempts to bridge the social and economic divides in the country than those players whose interests coincided with the structural divides Caribbean Public Policy Jacqueline Anne Braveboy-wagner, 2018-02-23 This book focuses on public policy issues in Caribbean evaluating current policy and suggests realistic improvements and alternatives It also focuses on following themes economic policy the regional business environment regionalism and integration health care labor and migration and gender Routledge International Handbook of Diversity Studies Steven Vertovec, 2014-11-20 In recent years the concept of diversity has gained a leading place in academic thought business practice and public policy worldwide Although variously used diversity tends to refer to patterns of social difference in terms of certain key categories Today the foremost categories shaping discourses and policies of diversity include race ethnicity religion gender disability sexuality and age further important notions include class language locality lifestyle and legal status The Routledge Handbook of Diversity Studies will examine a range of such concepts along with historical and contemporary cases concerning social and political dynamics surrounding them With contributions by experts spanning Sociology Anthropology Political Science History and Geography the Handbook will be a key resource for students social scientists and professionals It will represent a landmark volume within a field that has become and will continue to be one of the most significant global topics of concern throughout the twenty first century A Man Divided Douglas Hall, 1997 Michael Garfield Smith was an internationally distinguished anthropologist He was also a poet of merit but few people knew that or really understood the conflicts personal and professional that made him in the opinion of many who knew him appear arrogant and unapproachable This account tries to show the whole man and it is to date the only biography of M G Smith A Man Divided is a brief account of M G Smith the man the talented hardworking Jamaican and how he made his way rather than of the academic performance of Professor M G Smith the internationally distinguished anthropologist Preface Politics, Ethnicity and the Postcolonial Nation Eleonora Esposito, 2021-05-15

This book explores the politics of ethnicity and nationalism in the Caribbean from a critical discourse analytical perspective. Focusing on political communication in Trinidad and Tobago it offers unique socio political insights into one of the most complex and diverse countries of the Archipelago. Through a detailed reconstruction of Kamla Persad Bissessar's 2010 victorious run for office this book offers ample empirical evidence of the multimodal discursive strategies that held the key to the success of the first woman PM candidate and her inter ethnic coalition bid to overcome political tribalism in the country. In parallel it explores the implications and challenges of the postcolonial Trinbagonian national project caught between pluralism and creolization. Through its innovative context dependent and interdisciplinary CDS approach this book breaks new ground in Caribbean Studies while at the same time broadening the horizons of the Euro American tradition of Political Discourse Studies to address the complexities of global postcoloniality.

Race, Class, and Nationalism in the Twenty-First-Century Caribbean Scott Timcke, Shelene Gomes, 2024-11. This collection of more than a dozen essays focuses on the political dynamics of race class and nationalism in the contemporary Caribbean. Despite the plethora of studies on nationalism in the Caribbean few have attempted to look at the phenomenon as a political invention that does not and cannot serve the interests of all. How essentialist reductive overdetermining nationalism is a political and conceptual confusion that forever stalls the project of universal human emancipation. Editors Scott Timcke and Shelene Gomes gather and frame chapters that in their collective expression help trace the process of race class and nationalism through the contours of a broader political economic and social geography. These chapters argue that notions of racial identity have changed over time but those reformations are not independent of class rule or nationalism. By using several case studies that span the Anglo Dutch French and Spanish Caribbean and focus on the development of political organizations hardships and ideology each of these essays continues the struggle for liberation against elite entrenchment.

Brereton, Bridget, Martínez-Vergne, Teresita, Römer, René A., Silvestrini, Blanca G., UNESCO, 2004-12-31. The major objective of this publication is to provide an account and interpretation of the historical development of the region from around 1930 to the end of the century. Within its compass are the turbulent thirties including the Cuban Revolution of 1933 and the labour protests in the British Caribbean of 1934; the strategic position occupied by the region during the Second World War; the development of proletarian movements and trade unions and their links with political parties; decolonization; political evolution in the French and Dutch Caribbean and the turn to the left made in the 1970s by a number of Anglophone Caribbean countries notably Grenada. Also examined are the Castro Revolution and its aftermath; to the 1990s ethnicity and race consciousness and their effects in uniting or dividing communities and nations; international relations and regional co operation; changes in social and demographic structures including the role and status of women; education; migration and urbanization and the beliefs and cultural experiences which underpin Caribbean identity. The final chapter provides an overall survey of changes in the quality of life in the Caribbean during the twentieth century.
