Environmental Treaties Gerry Nagtzaam,2009 Gerry Nagtzaam contends that in recent decades neoliberal institutionalist scholarship on global environmental regimes has burgeoned as has constructivist scholarship on the key role played by norms in international politics In this innovative volume the author sets these interest and norm based approaches against each other in order to test their ability to illustrate why and how different environmental norms take hold in some regimes and not others The book explores why some global environmental treaties seek to preserve and protect some parts of nature from human utilization some seek to conserve certain parts of nature for human development whilst others allow the reckless exploitation of nature without accounting for the consequences It tracks the fate of these three underlying environmental norms preservation conservation and exploitation using case studies on whaling mining in Antarctica and tropical timber The book illustrates how international political battles to shape environmental regimes inevitably result in clashes between these competing environmental norms This unique study will prove a fascinating read for both academics and practitioners in the fields of international environmental politics and international environmental law International Environmental Law

Gerry Nagtzaam,Evan van Hook,Douglas Guilfoyle,2019-10-23 This book seeks to better understand how International Environmental Law regimes evolve The authors address throughout the major environmental economic and political tensions that have both shaped and constrained the evolution of international environmental policy within regimes and its expression in international legal rule and norm development Readers will gain an increased understanding of the growing role played by non state actors in global environmental governance including environmental non government organisations scientists the United Nations and corporations The authors also look ahead to the future of International Environmental Law evaluating key challenges and decisions that the discipline will face The text is clear concise and accessible It is ideally suited to students and professionals interested in International Environmental Law and individuals who are intrigued by this dynamic area of law Changes in Land Use and Land Cover William B. Meyer,Billie Lee Turner,University Corporation for Atmospheric Research. Office for Interdisciplinary Earth Studies,1994-09-15 This book analyses the impact of human activities on the Earth's surface and environment Mixed and Pure Tree Plantations with Native Species at La Selva Biological Station, Costa Rica , Biosphere 2000 Donald G. Kaufman,Cecilia M. Franz,2000 Natural Forest Management in the American Tropics Francis E. Putz,1991 Companion Encyclopedia of Geography Ian Douglas,Richard J. Huggett,Michael Ernest Robinson,1996 In 45 chapters a team of geographers have compiled a major work that will be an invaluable resource to not only students and teachers but also commercially motivated professionals in the private sector and public sector organisations too Companion Encyclopedia of Geography Ian Douglas, Mike Robinson,1996 Ambio a Journal of the Human Environment , Natural Connections David Western,Michael Wright,2013-03-19 Both realism and justice demand that efforts to conserve biological diversity address human needs as well The most promising hope of accomplishing such a goal lies in locally based conservation efforts an approach that seeks ways to make local communities the beneficiaries and custodians of conservation efforts Natural Connections focuses on rural societies and the conservation of biodiversity in rural areas It represents the first systematic analysis of locally based efforts and includes a comprehensive examination of cases from around the world where the community based approach is used The book provides an overview of community based conservation in the context of the debate over sustainable development poverty and environmental decline case studies from the developed and developing worlds Indonesia Peru Australia Zimbabwe Costa Rica the United Kingdom that present detailed examples of the locally based approach to conservation a review of the principal issues arising from community based programs an agenda for future action Debt-for-Development Exchanges Ross P. Buckley,2011-04-25 Debt for development exchanges are an important financing tool for development They make debt relief more politically and practically attractive to donor countries and serve the development of recipient countries through the cancellation of external debt and the funding of important development projects This book commences by chronicling the emergence of debt for development exchanges from their forebears debt equity exchanges and analyzes why debt for development suffers from very few of the problems that plagued debt equity The book analyzes the different types of debt for development exchanges and the different ways they have been used by all donor nations that have made use of them The book then explores a range of critical perspectives on exchanges and concludes by considering a wide range of new and innovative uses for the funds generated by exchanges Redefining Nature Roy Ellen,Katsuyoshi Fukui,2021-01-07 How can anthropology improve our understanding of the interrelationship between nature and culture What can anthropology contribute to practical debates which depend on particular definitions of nature such as that concerning sustainable development Humankind has evolved over several million years by living in and utilizing nature and by assimilating it into culture Indeed the technological and cultural advancement of the species has been widely acknowledged to rest upon human domination and control of nature Yet by the 1960s the idea of culture in confrontation with nature was being challenged by science philosophy and the environmental movement Anthropology is increasingly concerned with such issues as they become more urgent for humankind as a whole This important book reviews the current state of the concepts of nature we use both as scientific devices and ideological constructs and is organised around three themes nature as a cultural construction the cultural management of the environment and relations between plants animals and humans Special Bibliography Series United States Air Force Academy.
