Race And Resistance Literature And Politics In Asian America:

Race and Resistance Viet Thanh Nguyen, 2002-03-28 In Race and Resistance Literature and Politics in Asian America Viet Nguyen argues that Asian American intellectuals have idealized Asian America ignoring its saturation with capitalist practices This idealization of Asian America means that Asian American intellectuals can neither grapple with their culture's ideological diversity nor recognize their own involvement with capitalist practices such as the selling of racial identity Making his case through the example of literature which remains a critical arena of cultural production for Asian Americans Nguyen demonstrates that literature embodies the complexities conflicts and potential future options of Asian American culture

The Cambridge Companion to Asian American Literature Crystal Parikh, Daniel Y. Kim, 2015-08-20 The Cambridge Companion to Asian American Literature offers an engaging survey of Asian American literature from the nineteenth century to the present day Since the 1980s Asian American literary studies has developed into a substantial and vibrant field within English and American Studies This Companion explores the variety of historical periods literary genres and cultural movements affecting the development of Asian American literature Written by a host of leading scholars in the field this book provides insight into the representative movements regional settings archival resources and critical reception that define Asian American literature Covering subjects from immigrant narratives and internment literature to contemporary race studies and the problem of translation this Companion provides insight into the myriad traditions that have shaped the Asian American literary landscape

The Ethics and Poetics of Alterity in Asian American Poetry Xiaojing Zhou, 2006-05 Poetry by Asian American writers has had a significant impact on the landscape of contemporary American poetry and a book length critical treatment of Asian American poetry is long overdue In this groundbreaking book Xiaojing Zhou demonstrates how many Asian American poets transform the conventional I of lyric poetry based on the traditional Western concept of the self and the Cartesian I to enact a more ethical relationship between the I and its others Drawing on Emmanuel Levinas's idea of the ethics of alterity which argues that an ethical relation to the other is one that acknowledges the irreducibility of otherness Zhou offers a reconceptualization of both self and other Taking difference as a source of creativity and turning it into a form of resistance and a critical intervention Asian American poets engage with broader issues than the merely poetic They confront social injustice against the other and call critical attention to a concept of otherness which differs fundamentally from that underlying racism sexism and colonialism By locating the ethical and political questions of otherness in language discourse aesthetics and everyday encounters Asian American poets help advance critical studies in race gender and popular culture as well as in poetry The Ethics and Poetics of Alterity is not limited however to literary studies it is an invaluable response to the questions raised by increasingly globalized encounters across many kinds of boundaries The Poets

Marilyn Chin Kimiko Hahn Myung Mi Kim Li Young Lee Timothy Liu David Mura and John Yau      Asian Americans and the Spirit of Racial Capitalism Jonathan Tran, 2022 Any serious consideration of Asian American life forces us to reframe the way we talk about racism and antiracism There are two contemporary approaches to antiracist theory and practice The first emphasizes racial identity to the exclusion of political economy making racialized life in America illegible This approach's prevalence in the academy and beyond now rises to the level of established doctrine The second approach views racial identity as the function of a particular political economy what is called racial capitalism and therefore analytically subordinates racial identity to political economy Jonathan Tran develops arguments in favor of this second approach He does so by means of an extended analysis of two case studies a Chinese migrant settlement in the Mississippi Delta 1868 1969 and the Redeemer Community Church in the Bayview Hunters Point section of San Francisco 1969 present While his analysis is focused on particular groups and persons he uses it to examine more broadly racial capitalism's processes and commitments at the sites of their structural and systemic unfolding In pursuing a research agenda that pushes beyond the narrow confines of racial identity Tran reaches back to trusted modes of analysis that have been obscured by the prevailing antiracist orthodoxy and proposes reframing antiracism in terms of a theologically salient account of political economy      Asian America Pawan Dhingra, Robyn Magalit Rodriguez, 2021-05-20 Asian Americans are the fastest growing minority population in the country Moreover they provide a unique lens on the wider experiences of immigrants and minorities in the United States both historically and today Pawan Dhingra and Robyn Magalit Rodriguez's acclaimed introduction to understanding this diverse group is here updated in a thoroughly revised new edition Incorporating cutting edge thinking and discussion of the latest current events the authors critically examine key topics in the Asian American experience including education and work family and culture media and politics and social hierarchies of race gender and sexuality Through vivid examples and clear discussion of a broad range of theories the authors explore the contributions of Asian American Studies sociology psychology history and other fields to understanding Asian Americans and vice versa The new edition includes further pedagogical elements to help readers apply the core theoretical and analytical frameworks encountered In addition the book takes readers beyond the boundaries of the United States to cultivate a comparative understanding of the Asian experience as it has become increasingly global and diasporic This engaging text will continue to be a welcome resource for those looking for a rich and systematic overview of Asian America as well as for undergraduate and graduate courses on immigration race American society and Asian American Studies      Soundtracks of Asian America Grace Wang, 2015-02-15 In Soundtracks of Asian America Grace Wang explores how Asian Americans use music to construct narratives of self race class and belonging in national and transnational spaces She highlights how they navigate racialization in different genres by considering the experiences of Asians and Asian Americans in Western classical music U S popular music and Mandopop Mandarin language popular music Her study encompasses the perceptions and motivations of middle class Chinese and

Korean immigrant parents intensely involved in their children's classical music training and of Asian and Asian American classical musicians whose prominence in their chosen profession is celebrated by some and undermined by others Wang interviews young Asian American singer songwriters who use YouTube to contest the limitations of a racialized U S media landscape and she investigates the transnational modes of belonging forged by Asian American pop stars pursuing recording contracts and fame in East Asia Foregrounding musical spaces where Asian Americans are particularly visible Wang examines how race matters and operates in the practices and institutions of music making

The Cambridge Companion to Modern American Culture C. W. E. Bigsby, 2006-10-12 Publisher description Asian Canadian Writing Beyond Autoethnography Christl Verduyn, 2008-08-14 Asian Canadian Writing beyond Autoethnography explores some of the latest developments in the literary and cultural practices of Canadians of Asian heritage While earlier work by ethnic multicultural or minority writers in Canada was often concerned with immigration the moment of arrival issues of assimilation and conflicts between generations literary and cultural production in the new millennium no longer focuses solely on the conflict between the Old World and the New or the clashes between culture of origin and adopted culture No longer are minority authors identifying simply with their ethnic or racial cultural background in opposition to dominant culture The essays in this collection explore ways in which Asian Canadian authors and artists have gone beyond what Francoise Lionnet calls autoethnography or ethnographic autobiography They demonstrate the ways representations of race and ethnicity particularly in works by Asian Canadians in the last decade have changed have become more playful untraditional aesthetically and ideologically transgressive and exciting Jacket

The Cultural Capital of Asian American Studies Mark Chiang, 2009-11-01 Originating in the 1968 student led strike at San Francisco State University Asian American Studies was founded as a result of student and community protests that sought to make education more accessible and relevant While members of the Asian American communities initially served on the departmental advisory boards planning and developing areas of the curriculum university pressures eventually dictated their expulsion At that moment in history the intellectual work of the field was split off from its relation to the community at large giving rise to the entire problematic of representation in the academic sphere Even as the original objectives of the field have remained elusive Asian American studies has nevertheless managed to establish itself in the university Mark Chiang argues that the fundamental precondition of institutionalization within the university is the production of cultural capital and that in the case of Asian American Studies as well as other fields of minority studies the accumulation of cultural capital has come primarily from the conversion of political capital In this way the definition of cultural capital becomes the primary terrain of political struggle in the university and outlines the very conditions of possibility for political work within the academy Beginning with the theoretical debates over identity politics and cultural nationalism and working through the origins of ethnic studies in the Third World Strike the formation of the Asian American literary field and the Blue Hanging controversy The Cultural Capital of Asian American Studies articulates a new and innovative model of cultural and academic politics illuminating the position of ethnic studies within the American university

Youth Gangs, Racism, and Schooling Kevin D. Lam, 2015-09-01 Winner of the American Educational Studies Association 2016 Critics Choice Book Award Youth Gangs Racism and Schooling examines the formation of Vietnamese American youth gangs in Southern California Lam addresses the particularities of racism violence and schooling in an era of anti youth legislation and frames gang members as post colonial subjects offering an alternative analysis toward humanization and decolonization

The Race Card Tara Fickle, 2019-11-19 Winner 2020 American Book Award given by the Before Columbus Foundation How games have been used to establish and combat Asian American racial stereotypes As Pok mon Go reshaped our neighborhood geographies and the human flows of our cities mapping the virtual onto lived realities so too has gaming and game theory played a role in our contemporary understanding of race and racial formation in the United States From the Chinese Exclusion Act and Japanese American internment to the model minority myth and the globalization of Asian labor Tara Fickle shows how games and game theory shaped fictions of race upon which the nation relies Drawing from a wide range of literary and critical texts analog and digital games journalistic accounts marketing campaigns and archival material Fickle illuminates the ways Asian Americans have had to fit the roles play the game and follow the rules to be seen as valuable in the US Exploring key moments in the formation of modern US race relations The Race Card charts a new course in gaming scholarship by reorienting our focus away from games as vehicles for empowerment that allow people to inhabit new identities and toward the ways that games are used as instruments of soft power to advance top down political agendas Bridging the intellectual divide between the embedded mechanics of video games and more theoretical approaches to gaming rhetoric Tara Fickle reveals how this intersection allows us to overlook the predominance of game tropes in national culture The Race Card reveals this relationship as one of deep ideological and historical intimacy how the games we play have seeped into every aspect of our lives in both monotonous and malevolent ways
