Racial Neoliberalism, Social Forgetting, and Scientific Colonialism in Dutch Primary School History Textbooks<sup>1</sup>

Abstract

Textbooks are explicitly racial texts that offer important insights into national memories of slavery and colonialism. The Dutch have long engaged in the social forgetting of slavery even as race served as an organizing principal during centuries of colonial domination of the Dutch West Indies and Suriname. While the Dutch have recently begun to address their history of enslavement, they have yet to sufficiently address how the discursive legacies of slavery continue to impact the lives of Afro-Dutch descendants of enslaved<sup>2</sup> Africans and White Dutch in The Netherlands today. This paper uses qualitative content and discourse analytic methods to examine the depiction of slavery, The Netherlands' role in the slave trade and enslavement, and the commemoration of slavery in all Dutch primary school history textbooks published since 1980 to address questions of whether textbooks feature scientific colonialism to perpetuate The Netherlands' social forgetting of slavery in a nation that denies the existence of race even as racialized socioeconomic inequalities persist. A Eurocentric master narrative of racial Europeanization perpetuates Dutch social forgetting of slavery and scientific colonialism to both essentialize Afro-Dutch and position their nation squarely within Europe's history of enslavement even while attempting to minimize their role within it. Findings have important implications for both The Netherlands and all nations with histories of enslavement as the discourses and histories presented in textbooks impact generations of students, who shape local and national policy regarding racial minorities, racial identities, and ideologies.

INTRODUCTION

Textbooks, often a critical element of primary and secondary curriculum, play an important role in shaping how students view their nation's history and conceptions of racial groups, racial and power hierarchies (Apple and Christian-Smith, 1991; Giroux 1997; Giroux and McLaren, 1989). U.S. scholars consistently find that curriculum privileges the dominant culture by excluding minority groups and their oppression by the dominant group thereby obscuring historical roots of contemporary inequality and signaling to students which groups belong to the national community (Brown and Brown, 2010; Pinar 1993; Zimmerman 2002). Texts written from a Eurocentric important essay The Future American Moreover Charles W Chesnutt and the Fictions of Race approaches Chesnutt's writings from the perspective of recent literary theory To a greater extent than any previous study of Chesnutt it explores the way his texts interrogate and deconstruct the language and the intellectual constructs we use to organize reality The full effect of this new study is to show us how much more of a twentieth century writer Chesnutt is than has been previously acknowledged This accomplishment can only hasten his reemergence as one of our most important observers of race in American culture

High Schools, Race, and America's Future Lawrence Blum, 2012-09-01 In High Schools Race and America's Future Lawrence Blum offers a lively account of a rigorous high school course on race and racism Set in a racially ethnically and economically diverse high school the book chronicles students' engagement with one another with a rich and challenging academic curriculum and with questions that relate powerfully to their daily lives Blum, an acclaimed moral philosopher whose work focuses on issues of race, reflects with candor, insight, and humor on the challenges and surprises encountered in teaching the unexpected turns in conversation, the refreshing directness of students' questions, the aha moments and the awkward ones, and the paradoxes of his own role as a white college professor teaching in a multiracial high school classroom High Schools Race and America's Future provides an invaluable resource for those who want to teach students to think deeply and talk productively about race

Race, Romanticism, and the Atlantic Paul Youngquist, 2016-05-23 In highlighting the crucial contributions of diasporic people to British cultural production, this important collection defamiliarizes prevailing descriptions of Romanticism as the expression of a national character or culture The contributors approach the period from the perspective of the Atlantic maritime economy, making a strong case for viewing British Romanticism as the effect of myriad economic and cultural exchanges occurring throughout a circum-

Atlantic world driven by an insatiable hunger for sugar and slaves Typically taken for granted the material contributions of slaves sailors and servants shaped Romanticism both in spite of and because of the severe conditions they experienced throughout the Atlantic world The essays range from Sierra Leone to Jamaica to Nova Scotia to the metropole examining not only the desperate circumstances of diasporic peoples but also the extraordinary force of their creativity and resistance Of particular importance is the emergence of race as a category of identity class and containment Race Romanticism and the Atlantic explores that process both economically and theoretically showing how race ensures the persistence of servitude after abolition At the same time the collection never loses sight of the extraordinary contributions diasporic peoples made to British culture during the Romantic era Designs of our Slave Race Shannon Smith,2015-03-27 In the future robots will be made to serve us To better serve humanity they were made smarter perhaps too smart Follow the development of the HX01 robots through the eyes of one of the developers of it Shannon whom while not a model of human behaviour finds herself wrestling with the moral implications of her creation Race And Culture Thomas Sowell,2025-04-01 Encompassing more than a decade of research around the globe this book shows that cultural capital has far more impact than politics prejudice or genetics on the social and economic fates of minorities nations and civilization Apocalyptic Rhetoric and the Black Protest Movement Aaron Pride,2023-12-06 Apocalyptic Rhetoric and the Black Protest Movement offers a challenging new formulation of African American religious culture by asserting that African American Christianity produced a militant millennialist movement that invoked the apocalypse the kingdom of God and the end of the world to compel Black people to oppose racial injustice in the early twentieth century In this account of the Black civil rights movement in Boston in the early twentieth century Aaron Pride argues that the apocalyptic rhetoric and millennial imagery disseminated from the Boston Guardian by William Monroe Trotter cast Booker T Washington and other opponents of Black protest as false prophets biblical villains and harbingers of the end times By placing Black Christianity at the center of Black civil rights activism in the early twentieth century this book provides a seminal interpretation of the emancipatory capacity of religion as cultural and intellectual force in social and political movements This book will be of interest to scholars of cultural history Black studies and the history of religion Relational Formations of Race Natalia Molina,Daniel Martinez HoSang,Ramón A. Gutiérrez,2019-02-05 Relational Formations of Race brings African American Chicana Latinx Asian American and Native American studies together in a single volume enabling readers to consider the racialization and formation of subordinated groups in relation to one another These essays conceptualize racialization as a dynamic and interactive process group based racial constructions are formed not only in relation to whiteness but also in relation to other devalued and marginalized groups The chapters offer explicit guides to understanding race as relational across all disciplines time periods regions and social groups By studying race relationally and through a shared context of meaning and power students will draw connections among subordinated groups and will better comprehend the logic that underpins the forms of inclusion and
