THE MAN AND HIS IDEAS

"I'm very determined.
If I decide that something is worth doing, then I'll put my heart and soul to it.

The whole ground can be against me, but if I know it is right, I'll do it. That's the business of a leader."

Nuclear Madness Ira Chernus, 1991-01-01 This book builds on Robert Jay Lifton's theory of psychic numbing and takes madness as a guiding metaphor It shows that public perceptions of the Bomb are a kaleidoscope of ever changing ideas and images Recent changes in public awareness only signal new symptoms of this public madness symptoms unwittingly fostered by the antinuclear movement Since the newest nuclear images follow the same psychological pattern as their predecessors they are likely to lead us deeper into nuclear madness Chernus offers new interpretations of four major theorists in the psychology of religion Paul Tillich R D Laing Mircea Eliade and James Hillman to trace the roots of nuclear madness back to the onset of modernity when the West gained technological mastery at the price of losing religious imagination and ontological security The author develops an interpretation of Lifton's own thought as an ontological and religious psychology Drawing on the work of Eliade and Hillman he goes on to suggest that madness reflects a repressed desire to transform life by opening up the floodgates of imagination A conscious cultivation of the play of imagination can lead the way through madness to sanity and peace But imagination can only respond to the nuclear threat if it is acted out in a new brand of peace activism that blends pragmatic politics with psychological and religious transformation
