Adjustment and Political Transformation in Small States Erik Jones,2008-05-08 The smaller countries of Western Europe have a reputation for being more successful than their larger neighbours They are wealthier per capita they are more stable politically and they are more flexible economically The secret to this success lies in their consensual style of politics and their corporatist style of decision making Unfortunately however that may be about to change A political transformation underway in small states is undermining the politics of consensus and breakdown the effectiveness of corporatist institutions Small countries are becoming increasingly vulnerable to the vicissitudes of world markets as a result Belgium and the Netherlands offer clear examples of the problem at hand The political societies of both countries were tightly organized to avoid conflict and to promote consensus Over time however this tight organization has broken down politicians have opted for conflict over consensus and elections have become more volatile as a result In turn this political transformation of Belgium and the Netherlands has undermined their traditional approach to economic policymaking and economic adjustment Belgium and the Netherlands are now more vulnerable to world market forces than at any time since the end of the 1970s
Their relative economic and political success can no longer be taken for granted The relative success of other small states should be brought into question as well Education for Victory Olga Anna Jones,1943 Annals of the American

McArthur, Harold L. Smith, 2003-10-16 The principal orchestrator of the passage of women's suffrage in Texas a founder and national officer of the League of Women Voters the first woman to run for a U S Senate seat from Texas and a candidate for that state's governor Minnie Fisher Cunningham was one of the first American women to pursue a career in party politics Cunningham's professional life spanned a half century thus illuminating our understanding of women in public life between the Progressive Era and the 1960s feminist movement Cunningham entered politics through the suffrage movement and women's voluntary association work for health and sanitation in Galveston Texas She quickly became one of the most effective state suffrage leaders helping to pass the bill in a region where opposition to women voters was strongest In Washington Cunningham was one of the core group of suffragists who lobbied the Nineteenth Amendment through Congress and then traveled the country campaigning for ratification After women gained the right to vote across the nation she helped found the nonpartisan National League of Women Voters and organized training schools to teach women the skills of grassroots organizing creating publicity campaigns and lobbying and monitoring legislative bodies Through the League she became acquainted with Eleanor Roosevelt who credited one of her speeches with stimulating her own political activity Cunningham then turned to the Democratic Party serving as an officer of the Woman's National Democratic Club and the Women's Division of the Democratic National Committee In 1928 Cunningham became a candidate herself making an unsuccessful bid for the U S Senate An advocate of New Deal reforms Cunningham was part of the movement in the 1930s to transform the Democratic Party into the women's party and in 1944 she ran for governor on a pro New Deal platform Cunningham's upbringing in rural Texas made her particularly aware of the political needs of farmers women union labor and minorities and she fought gender class and racial discrimination within a conservative power structure In the postwar years she was called the very heart and soul of Texas liberalism as she helped build an electoral coalition of women minorities and male reformers that could sustain liberal politics in the state and bring to office candidates including Ralph Yarborough and Bob Eckhardt A leader and role model for the post suffrage generation Cunningham was not satisfied with simply achieving the vote but agitated throughout her career to use it to better the lives of others Her legacy has been carried on by the many women to whom she taught successful grassroots strategies for political organizing Minnie Fisher Cunningham was the winner of the Liz Carpenter Award of the Texas State Historical Association and of the T R Fehrenbach Book Award of the Texas Historical Commission

A Political Economy of American Hegemony Thomas Oatley, 2015-02-16 In A Political Economy of American Hegemony Thomas Oatley explores how America's military buildups have produced postwar economic booms that have culminated in monetary and financial crises The 2008 subprime crisis as well as the housing bubble that produced it was the most recent manifestation of this buildup boom and bust cycle developing as a consequence of the decision to deficit finance the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq Earlier instances of financial crises were generated by deficit financed buildups in the 1980s and the late 1960s The buildup boom and bust pattern results from the way political institutions and financial power shape America s response to military challenges political institutions transform increased military spending into budget deficits and financial power enables the United States to finance these deficits by borrowing cheaply from the rest of the world Oatley examines how this cycle has had a powerful impact on American and global economic and financial performance Proceedings of the Academy of Political Science in the City of New York ,1924
