

The background of the book cover features a black and white historical photograph. In the upper left, a tank with the name "LUCKY LEGS D" painted on its side is shown. Several soldiers are positioned around the tank; one is kneeling behind it, and others are in the background. The terrain appears to be a destroyed or rubble-strewn area. In the lower right foreground, there is a portrait of General Douglas MacArthur in his military uniform, wearing a cap and looking slightly upwards.

Macarthur's Victory The War In Guinea 1943 1944 Hc 2004:

MacArthur's Victory Harry Gailey, 2007-12-18 A GREAT WARRIOR AT THE PEAK OF HIS POWERS In March 1942 General Douglas MacArthur faced an enemy who in the space of a few months captured Malaya Burma the Philippines the Dutch East Indies and from their base at Rabaul in New Britain threaten Australia Upon his retreat to Australia MacArthur hoped to find enough men and material for a quick offensive against the Japanese Instead he had available to him only a small and shattered air force inadequate naval support and an army made up almost entirely of untried reservists Here is one of history's most controversial commanders battling his own superiors for enough supplies since President Roosevelt favored the European Theater butting heads with the Navy which opposed his initiatives and on his way to making good his promise of liberating the Philippines In the battles for Buna Lae and Port Moresby the capture of Finschhafen and other major actions he would prove his critics wrong and burnish an image of greatness that would last through the Korean War This was the other Pacific War the one MacArthur fought in New Guinea and against all odds and most predictions decisively won at the End of the World James P. Duffy, 2016-01-05 A harrowing account of an epic yet nearly forgotten battle of World War II General Douglas MacArthur's four year assault on the Pacific War's most hostile battleground the mountainous jungle cloaked island of New Guinea A meaty engrossing narrative history This will likely stand as the definitive account of the New Guinea campaign The Christian Science Monitor One American soldier called it a green hell on earth Monsoon soaked wilderness debilitating heat impassable mountains torrential rivers and disease infested swamps New Guinea was a battleground far more deadly than the most fanatical of enemy troops Japanese forces numbering some 600 000 men began landing in January 1942 determined to seize the island as a cornerstone of the Empire's strategy to knock Australia out of the war Allied Commander in Chief General Douglas MacArthur committed 340 000 Americans as well as tens of thousands of Australian Dutch and New Guinea troops to retake New Guinea at all costs What followed was a four year campaign that involved some of the most horrific warfare in history At first emboldened by easy victories throughout the Pacific the Japanese soon encountered in New Guinea a roadblock akin to the Germans disastrous attempt to take Moscow a catastrophic setback to their war machine For the Americans victory in New Guinea was the first essential step in the long march towards the Japanese home islands and the ultimate destruction of Hirohito's empire Winning the war in New Guinea was of critical importance to MacArthur His avowed I shall return to the Philippines could only be accomplished after taking the island In this gripping narrative historian James P Duffy chronicles the most ruthless combat of the Pacific War a fight complicated by rampant tropical disease violent rainstorms and unforgiving terrain that punished both Axis and Allied forces alike Drawing on primary sources War at the End of the World fills in a crucial gap in the history of World War II while offering readers a narrative of the first rank

Hurricane at Biak Marc D. Bernstein, 2000 The struggle for Biak Island waged by soldiers sailors and airmen of General Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific Area during mid 1944 was one of the most harrowing and least satisfying episodes of the Pacific War Almost everything about it was nasty the terrain the climate the prevalence of tropical diseases the lack of water the tenacity and fighting power of the enemy the acrimony that developed among the American commanders and the time pressure imposed by MacArthur himself Perhaps this is why Biak has remained one of the least known major battles fought by U S forces in World War II But Biak came perilously close to being a first class disaster for MacArthur which could have materially affected the subsequent conduct of the Pacific War and MacArthur s vision for liberating the Philippines The fact that victory was achieved at considerable cost directly resulted from the heroic fighting qualities of the U S troops and the hands on leadership of a great field commander little heralded at the time who had also saved MacArthur s reputation on an earlier difficult occasion World War II in the Southwest Pacific was a bitterly contested aspect of hell For the most part there were no towns or much civilization of any kind Malaria dengue fever and scrub typhus were ever present threats Lucky soldiers could sometimes swing temporary leave to rest camps or cities in Australia but most of the men sent forward to the gigantic island of New Guinea and beyond stayed there for the duration Some never saw a bottle of Coca Cola the entire time they were in New Guinea But there was always the jungle green wet and so thickly disorienting that many men who got lost in it were never seen or heard from again The heat was unbearable and the enemy was skilled in jungle fighting and utterly ruthless No quarter would be given by either side As MacArthur s advance proceeded westward along the northern coast of New Guinea its pace accelerated as his flow of troops and supplies increased What had started out in 1942 as a slow grinding advance against a fanatically stubborn foe had turned into a classic case of hit em where they ain t MacArthur could outfox the Japanese in part due to his codebreakers But MacArthur also was prone to taking dangerous gambles He was in a hurry to seize forward airfields from which he could operate his big bombers against enemy troop concentrations and supply depots He was involved in a great race to Tokyo with the U S Navy and he could not afford to finish second So after successfully executing his brilliant strategic landing at Hollandia in Dutch New Guinea his eye fell upon several islands to the west that would provide good operating fields for his heavy aircraft Biak was principal among these Due to its coral composition Biak made a perfect platform for aerial operations and its location off the northwest coast of New Guinea meant that Allied airfields there would pose a huge threat to Japanese military and naval activities south of the Philippines For that reason the Japanese were prepared to make a stiff fight for the island even to the point of risking their major fleet assets in an attempt to keep control of it Allied planning failed to comprehend these Japanese intentions with nearly disastrous results The defenses faced by MacArthur s men on the island were among the most formidable encountered anywhere in the Pacific War They rivaled those found later on Peleliu and Iwo Jima were incredibly elaborate and were manned by significant numbers of crack Japanese troops These factors had they been reckoned with beforehand would have altered the approach taken by MacArthur and his subordinate commanders toward c

MacArthur, 1971 No Substitute for Victory Theodore Kinni, Donna Kinni, 2008-05 General MacArthur defined principles of leadership that were decades ahead of their time In this book the authors reveal what MacArthur knew about setting the right goals building sleek fast response organizations inspiring subordinates to unprecedented performance focusing relentlessly on results and winning The Philippines Campaign of 1944-1945 Charles River Editors, 2018-02-21 Includes pictures Includes a bibliography for further reading Includes a table of contents I came through and I shall return General Douglas MacArthur As American and Filipino troops were in the process of being defeated in the Philippines on the night of March 12 1942 General Douglas MacArthur his family and closest advisors were smuggled out of the Philippines on PT boats From there they surged across the black ocean to Mindanao and were picked up by American B 17 bombers They stealthily flew to northern Australia a dangerous flight over Japanese held territory and at Adelaide on March 18 1942 that MacArthur met the assembled press and told them I came through and I shall return The words would go down in history and MacArthur would eventually fulfill the vow In the wake of the campaign Japan occupied the country and went on to expand their territory in the Pacific while at the same time destroying the American presence in that region but by the spring of 1943 American military planners had begun to create a plan to dislodge Japan from east and southeast Asia To do so parts of the Philippines were considered main strategic points in the potential Allied attack in the Pacific The end goal of the Allied plan was an invasion of the Japanese home islands in which heavy aerial bombardment would precede a ground assault In order for this to occur Allied forces would have to occupy areas surrounding Japan with China adding to Luzon the largest island in the Philippines and Formosa a large island off the coast of China to create a triangle from which they could launch their bombers The Allied advance across the Pacific was based on this 1943 plan with General MacArthur and his forces moving to the north through New Guinea then Morotai Island and then to Mindanao which was the southernmost major island in the Philippines chain At the same time Admiral Chester Nimitz sent his fleet through the central Pacific where they engaged Japanese forces at the Gilbert Marshall Marianas and Palau Islands en route to Mindanao As the Allies advanced American strategists became embroiled in a discussion over whether to stick to the 1943 plan or whether to focus their efforts on seizing Formosa from which they would be able to create a supply link to China and would also be able to cut Japanese communication lines to the south By the time the campaign started Japan was on the defensive but as they would prove in other places like Iwo Jima and Okinawa Japanese soldiers would act fanatically before admitting defeat or surrendering During this second major Philippines campaign an estimated 330 000 Japanese died and only a bit more than 10 000 were willing to be taken prisoner In fact some Japanese soldiers engaged in guerrilla warfare on the Philippines well after the campaign had ended and even after Japan had formally surrendered prompting the Japanese emperor to personally make a visit and intervene to end the fighting The Philippines Campaign of 1944 1945 The History of MacArthur's Return and the Allied Liberation of the Philippines chronicles the campaign from the start to its aftermath Along with pictures of important people places and events you will learn about the campaign like never before MacArthur's ULTRA Edward J. Drea, 1992 Drea recounts the story behind the army's painstaking decryption operation and its dramatic breakthrough He demonstrates how ULTRA shaped MacArthur's operations in New Guinea and the Philippines and shows how MacArthur used and misused intelligence information
