

Philosophy of the present and meta-philosophies

Endre Kiss

Summary

We are trying to present a way we think is optimal for making meta-philosophies. Our approach starts from actual philosophical and historical progress (it indicates the way and importance of the neomarxism, the structuralism and the post-structuralism in the near past), and it settles at the moment of a characterization of two comprehensive philosophical imperia of the neopositivism/neoliberalism. We think, that a meta-philosophy shall be grounded by a mutual analysis of these two great complexes. Our paper does this mutual analysis on the basis of symmetric relations. For this reason, it grounds a possible theoretical view of a conceptual symmetry. An analysis of the conceptual symmetry of the neoliberalism/neopositivism and postmodernism leads to the formulation of the most important basic principles of a possible new and timely meta-philosophy. In both great philosophical complexes, basic characteristics, which make the symmetry possible, lie in a special distribution of the "open" and "closed" specificities of philosophies.

We consider the neomarxism as the integrating philosophical trend of the sixties. The great promise of the structuralism strongly rises beside it (sometimes amplifying it, sometimes polemically with it), which promises a radically new model of science, that would also have eminent philosophical consequences. Obviously, right from the start, these both giant integrating trends also motivate other trends. At the end of the sixties, but especially in the mid-seventies, the philosophical neomarxism ceased to exist as with a blow of a natural disaster and the structuralism also announced, that its aspirations were impossible to proceed in a correct and open hitherto unprecedented way. There comes a philosophical vacuum, in which two factors seem to be defined from the beginning : one basic fact is, that there is a philosophical vacuum, but not a 'philosopher-vacuum'. This means, in this new situation, that each group of thought producers is being placed already in a pre-defined structural position from the beginning, and the act of filling the vacuum itself grows mainly from the fight of each relevant group of philosophers (moreover, scientists or even politicians of philosophical relevance) starting from these positions. Therefore, the intellectual-political position (actually position of intellectual power) often christallizes before a new philosophical standpoint. On the other hand, from the nature of this philosophical vacuum (partly from determinations of the two most important declining trends, partly from determinations of other environmental conditions), it shall be filled only with meta-philosophical ideas, as in the circumstances given, it is unimaginable to find any "normal paradigm" which could fill the vacuum of this double decline in a naturally dynamic way.

The structuralism and the neomarxism had not completely filled out philosophical space preceding the postmodernism, not even in their decline which did not take place much later. Yet, this does not mean, that we should enumerate other trends here, for other relevant trends (most of all the phenomenology and the existentialism, but in some contexts even the Stalinist

The Philosophy of the Present George Herbert Mead, 1932      G. H. Mead Hans Joas, 1997-09-16 This major study reassesses the work of the American pragmatist George Herbert Mead 1863 1931 which had a significant impact in fields ranging from metaphysics and ethics to sociology and social psychology The work of American pragmatist George Herbert Mead 1863 1931 had a strong influence in fields ranging from metaphysics and ethics to sociology and social psychology In this book Hans Joas interweaves Mead's political and intellectual biography with the development of his theories The key concept of the study is practical intersubjectivity a term Joas introduces to characterize the link implicit in Mead's work between a theory of intersubjectivity and a theory of praxis Throughout the book Joas stresses the practical social and political nature of Mead's work Besides comparing Mead to the other American pragmatists Joas discusses the relation between Mead's thought and that of such Europeans as Habermas Apel Husserl Merleau Ponty and Piaget Joas's revisionist portrait of Mead as a socially engaged intellectual with its emphasis on his relevance for contemporary philosophy and social science has been a key factor in the revival of interest in Mead The author's new preface includes an update on pragmatism studies in general and on Mead studies in particular      The Philosophy of the Present George Herbert Mead, 1932 Of the Supplementary essays p 93 195 the first three are selected from manuscripts which are obviously preliminary drafts of the Carus lectures the fourth is reprinted from the Proceedings of the sixth International congress of philosophy and the fifth from the International journal of ethics April 1925 cf Pref      Lectures on the Philosophy of Freemasonry Roscoe Pound, 1915 Lectures on the Philosophy of Freemasonry by Roscoe Pound first published in 1915 is a rare manuscript the original residing in one of the great libraries of the world This book is a reproduction of that original which has been scanned and cleaned by state of the art publishing tools for better readability and enhanced appreciation Restoration Editors mission is to bring long out of print manuscripts back to life Some smudges annotations or unclear text may still exist due to permanent damage to the original work We believe the literary significance of the text justifies offering this reproduction allowing a new generation to appreciate it      Modern Political Thought David Wootton, 1996-01-01 Presents unabridged works and substantive abridgments in preeminent translations along with balanced lucid sophisticated introductions This book includes a wide and balanced selection of many of the more important texts of modern political thought To its great credit it provides pertinent excerpts from frequently neglected authors such as Calvin and Hume which it nicely juxtaposes appear to be good and the introductions to each section help to situate the writers in their historical and intellectual context and to alert students to some of the central issues that arise in the texts This book offers an economical and useful approach to modern political thought      Annual Catalogue of the University of Kansas University of Kansas, 1917      Journalism for Democracy Géraldine Muhlmann, 2010-12 The important new book by Géraldine Muhlmann addresses these gaps in our understanding and goes a long way towards filling them      Philosophy's Role in Counseling and Psychotherapy Peter

Raabe,2013-11-26 In Philosophy s Role in Counseling and Psychotherapy Peter Raabe argues that philosophy is an effective method in treating mental illness Calling for a paradigm shift away from the standard belief that the brain and mind are identical Raabe argues that so called mental illnesses such as depression and schizophrenia are not the actual causes of psychological misery Instead they are just labels for symptoms For example the word depression is merely a label attached to a collection of symptoms such as sadness hopelessness and low self esteem Raabe posits that distressing or painful life events can cause symptoms that are often clinically labeled as the mental illness of depression The suffering brought on by painful life events can often be alleviated with helpful discussions and without resorting to medications Because philosophy is the foremost form of discussion it means that the suffering that is labeled mental illness can be treated and even cured with philosophy Raabe ultimately concludes that philosophy is beneficial in three ways it can prevent the onset of a so called mental illness in the person who studies it it can be used to help individuals suffering from the distress that is labeled mental illness and it will enhance the competence of the counselor or therapist who practices it The Intersubjective Mirror in Infant Learning and Evolution of Speech Stein Bråten,2009-07-29 The Intersubjective Mirror in Infant Learning and Evolution of Speech illustrates how recent findings about primary intersubjectivity participant perception and mirror neurons afford a new understanding of children s nature dialogue and language Based on recent infancy research and the mirror neurons discovery studies of early speech perception comparative primate studies and computer simulations of language evolution this book offers replies to questions as When and how may spoken language have emerged How is it that infants so soon after birth become so efficient in their speech perception What enables 11 month olds to afford and reciprocate care What are the steps from infant imitation and simulation of body movements to simulation of mind in conversation partners Stein Br ten is founder and chair of the Theory Forum network with some of the world s leading infancy primate and brain researchers who have contributed to his edited volumes for Cambridge University Press 1998 and John Benjamins Publishing Company 2007 Series B Organizations as Wrongdoers Stephanie Collins,2023-01-24 Organizations do moral wrong States pursue unjust wars businesses avoid tax charities misdirect funds Our social political and legal responses require guidance We need to know what we re responding to and how we should respond to it We need a metaphysical and moral theory of wrongful organizations This book provides a new such theory paying particular attention to questions that have been underexplored in existing debates These questions include where are organizations located as material objects in the natural world What s the metaphysical relation between organizations and their members Can organizations be blameworthy for attitudes and character traits as well as for actions What about feelings of guilt remorse and shame can organizations feel these emotions and why does this matter How and why are members implicated in organizations wrongs How should organizations reparative costs be apportioned among members The book provides provocative answers to these questions It argues that organizations are material objects with humans as material parts much like how a pizza is a material object with slices as material parts This picture helps us make sense of organizations blameworthiness including blame for organization level actions attitudes and character traits What s more organizations can experience moral self awareness a crucial component of guilt remorse and shame Members can be implicated in organizations actions in numerous ways and it is argued members level of implication should determine their share of organizations reparative burdens The Expository Times James Hastings,Ann Wilson Hastings,Edward Hastings,1898 Proceedings of the Aristotelian Society for the Systematic Study of Philosophy ,1912 Hibbert Journal ,1907 The Journal of Philosophy, Psychology and Scientific Methods ,1920 Lectures on the History of Philosophy Georg Wilhelm Friedrich Hegel,1892 Bulletin University of Georgia,1926 University of California Chronicle ,1918 The Philosophical Review Jacob Gould Schurman,James Edwin Creighton,Frank Thilly,Gustavus Watts Cunningham,1905 An international journal of general philosophy 25 Read-Aloud Mini-Plays Erin Fry,2000-06 Quick two page read aloud plays to spark student interest in ancient world history Perfect for kicking off a new lesson or reviewing material Topics include the first Pyramid the Han Dynasty Romulus and Remus and 22 more Plus background information standards based research activities and resource tips For use with Grades 4 8 Fichte Johann Gottlieb Fichte,2018-07-05 No detailed description available for Fichte
