Surrealism and Photography in 1930s Japan Jelena Stojkovic, 2020-05-31 Despite the censorship of dissident material during the decade between the Manchurian Incident of 1931 and the outbreak of the Pacific War in 1941 a number of photographers across Japan produced a versatile body of Surrealist work In a pioneering study of their practice Jelena Stojkovic draws on primary sources and extensive archival research and maps out art historical and critical contexts relevant to the apprehension of this rich photographic output most of which is previously unseen outside of its country of origin The volume is an essential resource in the fields of Surrealism and Japanese history of art for researchers and students of historical avant gardes and photography as well as for readers interested in visual culture The Study of Photography in Latin America Nathaniel Gardner, 2025-06-17 In this book Nathaniel Gardner provides an insider's perspective to the study of photography in Latin America He begins with a carefully structured introduction that lays out his unique methodology for the book which features over eighty photographs and the insights from sixteen prominent Latin American photography scholars and historians including Boris Kossoy John Mraz and Ana Mauad The work reflects the advances and developments of the study of photography throughout Latin America with certain emphasis on Brazil and Mexico The author further underlines the role of important institutions and builds context by discussing influential theories and key texts that currently guide the discipline The Study of Photography in Latin America is critical to all who want to expand their current knowledge of the subject and engage more robustly with its experts Photography in India Aileen Blaney, Chinara Shar, 2020-09-23 Photography's prominence in the representation and experience of India in contemporary and historical times has not guaranteed it a position of sustained attention in research and scholarship For a technology as all pervasive as photography and a country as colossal as India this scenario is somewhat of an anomaly Photography in India explores elements of the past present and future of photography in the context of India through speculation and reflection on photography as an artistic documentary and everyday practice The perspectives of writers theorists curators and artists are selectively brought to bear upon known as well as previously unseen photographic archives together with changes in photographic practice that have been synchronous with contemporary India's rapid urban and rural transformation and the technological shift from chemistry and light to programming and algorithms Essential reading for anyone interested in Indian photography this book binds insights into a history of photography with its contemporary development consolidating wide ranging thinking on the topic and setting the agenda for future research Photography in Africa Richard Vokes, 2012 Gives an ethnographic account of the complexities of the use of photography in Africa both historically and in contemporary practice This collection of studies in African photography examines through a series of empirically rich historical and ethnographic cases the variety of ways in which photographs are produced circulated and engaged across a range of social contexts In so doing it elucidates the distinctive characteristics of African photographic practices and cultures vis vis those of other forms of vernacular photography worldwide In addition these studies develop a reflexive turn examining the history of academic engagement with these African photographic cultures and reflecting on the distinctive qualities of the ethnographic method as a means for studying such phenomena The volume critically engages current debates in African photography and visual anthropology First it extends our understanding of the variety of ways in which both colonial and post colonial states in Africa have used photography as a means for establishing and projecting their authority Second it moves discussion of African photography away from an exclusive focus on the role of the studio and looks at the circulations through which the studio's products the photographs themselves later pass as artefacts of material culture Last it makes an important contribution to our understanding of the relationship between photography and ethnographic research methods as these have been employed in Africa RICHARD VOKES is Senior Lecturer in Anthropology and Development Studies at the University of Adelaide Australia and author of Ghosts of Kanungu Photography in Print Vicki Goldberg, 1988-10 Essays by photographers critics and philosophers Photography in Argentina Idurre Alonso, Judith Keller, 2017-09-15 From its independence in 1810 until the economic crisis of 2001 Argentina has been seen in the national and international collective imaginary as a modern country with a powerful economic system a massive European immigrant population an especially strong middle class and an almost nonexistent indigenous culture In some ways the early history of Argentina strongly resembles that of the United States with its march to the prairies and frontier ideology the image of the cowboy as a national symbol equivalent to the Argentine gaucho the importance of the immigrant population and the advanced and liberal ideas of the founding fathers But did Argentine history truly follow a linear path toward modernization How did photography help shape or deconstruct notions associated with Argentina Photography in Argentina examines the complexities of this country's history stressing the heterogeneity of its realities and especially the power of constructed photographic images that is the practice of altering reality for artistic expression an important vein in Argentine photography Influential specialists from Argentina have contributed essays on various topics such as the shaping of national myths the adaptation of gesture as related to the disappeared during the dictatorship period the role of contemporary photography in the context of recent sociopolitical events and the reinterpreting of traditional notions of documentary photography in Argentina and the rest of Latin America
