Motion Pictures LaMond F. Beatty, 1981 Abstract Aspects of the use of motion pictures as an educational tool by the classroom teacher are presented. The information offered will allow the teacher to suggest purposes for using a 16mm film in an instructional unit, understand and describe the characteristics of 16mm film including how the sound track is made and how a projector reproduces the sound track properly, prepare the classroom and the students for the presentation and design, follow up activities for use after the film is shown. Several case studies are described and student projects are suggested. A glossary of terms, producer lists for 16 mm projectors and films, and a bibliography also are included. Guidelines on film splicing and the classroom use of theatrical films are appended. wz Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 1991 Still Pictures LaMond F. Beatty, 1981 Abstract An overview of still pictures is presented to assist teachers in their effective preparation and use as part of an instructional unit in the classroom. Guidelines are given on favorable and unfavorable characteristics of still pictures, their production, utilization, preservation, and storage, and on the creation of display areas. Specific emphasis is given to planning and presenting a classroom lesson using still pictures. Several case studies and selected student project activities are included. A glossary, a listing of software producers, picture source catalogs covering free or inexpensive materials, and a bibliography are appended. wz

Instructional Media and Technologies for Learning Robert Heinich, 1996 Written from the viewpoint of the teacher, this text shows specifically and realistically how all types of media and instructional technology fit into the daily life of the classroom. It explores the full range of media and materials: traditional AV media and newer computer-based media, their selection and evaluation. Accompanying supplements: IBM Testbank 0 02 353072 3 and instructor's manual ISBN 0 02 353071 5 Photography Robert V. Bullough, 1981 Abstract Fundamentals in the production of photographs and their use by teachers as a communication medium for classroom education are presented and discussed. Background information is provided on cameras, films, papers, processing, and on criteria for selecting effective photographic prints. The educational use of photography is illustrated in a detailed case study. A number of student projects are described and suggested. An annotated listing of photography media and sources of equipment and materials, manufacturers and distributors are appended. wz
