The Assimilation Experience of Five American White Ethnic Novelists of the Twentieth Century Betty Ann

Burch, 2017-10-23 This title originally published in 1990 is a contribution to the social and literary history of ethnic groups in America. Its sources are the writings chiefly novels of five authors of Eastern and Southern European descent chosen because they depict the acculturation of their people, the meeting of their own ethnic group and American society. From their marginal stance they expressed in fiction what they had observed and experienced and they wrote symbolically of their journey to a choice of belonging to one group or the other. This title will be of interest to students of literature history and sociology.

Migrant Song Teresa McKenna, 2010-07-05 Migration and continuity have shaped both the Chicano people and their oral and written literature. In this pathfinding study of Chicano literature, Teresa McKenna specifically explores how these works arise out of social, political, and psychological conflict and how the development of Chicano literature is inextricably embedded in this fact. McKenna begins by appraising the evolution of Chicano literature from oral forms, including the important role of the corrido in the development of Chicano poetry. In subsequent chapters, she examines the works of Richard Rodriguez and Rolando Hinojosa. She also devotes a chapter to the development of the Chicana voice in Chicano literature. Her epilogue considers the parallel development of Chicano literary theory and discusses some possible directions for research. In McKenna's own words: "I believe that the future of this literature, as that of all literatures by people of color in the United States, rests largely on its being effectively introduced into the curricula at all levels, as well as its entrance into the critical consciousness of literary theory." This book will be an important step in that process.
