Race in Another America Edward E. Telles, 2006-09-25 This is the most comprehensive and up to date book on the increasingly important and controversial subject of race relations in Brazil North American scholars of race relations frequently turn to Brazil for comparisons since its history has many key similarities to that of the United States Brazilians have commonly compared themselves with North Americans and have traditionally argued that race relations in Brazil are far more harmonious because the country encourages race mixture rather than formal or informal segregation More recently however scholars have challenged this national myth seeking to show that race relations are characterized by exclusion not inclusion and that fair skinned Brazilians continue to be privileged and hold a disproportionate share of wealth and power In this sociological and demographic study Edward Telles seeks to understand the reality of race in Brazil and how well it squares with these traditional and revisionist views of race relations He shows that both schools have it partly right that there is far more miscegenation in Brazil than in the United States but that exclusion remains a serious problem He blends his demographic analysis with ethnographic fieldwork history and political theory to try to understand the enigma of Brazilian race relations how inclusiveness can coexist with exclusiveness The book also seeks to understand some of the political pathologies of buying too readily into unexamined ideas about race relations In the end Telles contends the traditional myth that Brazil had harmonious race relations compared with the United States encouraged the government to do almost nothing to address its shortcomings

Reginald Daniel, 2010-11-01      Recognizing Race and Ethnicity, 2018-05-15 This book approaches the study of race ethnicity through a sociological lens It focuses on a few social policies that are perceived as race related such as affirmative action to an understanding of the historical racialization of the US welfare state overall      Boundaries of Love Chinyere K. Osuji, 2019-05-21 How interracial couples in Brazil and the US navigate racial boundaries How do people understand and navigate being married to a person of a different race Based on individual interviews with forty seven black white couples in two large multicultural cities Los Angeles and Rio de Janeiro Boundaries of Love explores how partners in these relationships ultimately reproduce negotiate and challenge the us versus them mentality of ethno racial boundaries By centering marriage Chinyere Osuji reveals the family as a primary site for understanding the social construction of race She challenges the naive but widespread belief that interracial couples and their children provide an antidote to racism in the twenty first century instead highlighting the complexities and contradictions of these relationships Featuring black husbands with white wives as well as black wives with white husbands Boundaries of Love sheds light on the role of gender in navigating life married to a person of a different color Osuji compares black white couples in Brazil and the United States the two most populous post slavery societies in the Western hemisphere These settings she argues reveal the impact of contemporary race mixture on racial hierarchies and racial ideologies both old and new      The Turn to Racism and Anti-racism in Latin America Mónica G. Racial Domination Loïc Wacquant, 2024-06-07 Race is arguably the single most troublesome and volatile concept of the social sciences in the early 21st century It is invoked to explain all manner of historical phenomena and current issues from slavery to police brutality to acute poverty and it is also used as a term of civic denunciation and moral condemnation In this erudite and incisive book based on a panoramic mining of comparative and historical research from around the globe Loïc Wacquant pours cold analytical water on this hot topic and infuses it with epistemological clarity conceptual precision and empirical breadth Drawing on Gaston Bachelard Max Weber and Pierre Bourdieu Wacquant first articulates a series of reframings starting with dislodging the United States from its Archimedean position in order to capture race making as a form of symbolic violence He then forges a set of novel concepts to rethink the nexus of racial classification and stratification the continuum of ethnicity and race as disguised ethnicity the diagonal of racialization and the pentad of ethnoracial domination the checkerboard of violence and the dialectic of salience and consequentiality This enables him to elaborate a meticulous critique of such fashionable notions as structural racism and racial capitalism that promise much but deliver little due to their semantic ambiguity and rhetorical malleability notions that may even hamper the urgent fight against racial inequality Wacquant turns to deploying this conceptual framework to dissect two formidable institutions of ethnoracial rule in America Jim Crow and the prison He draws on ethnographies and historiographies of white domination in the postbellum South to construct a robust analytical concept of Jim Crow as caste terrorism erected in the late 19th century He unravels the deadly symbiosis between the black hyperghetto and the carceral archipelago that has coproduced and entrenched the material and symbolic marginality of the African American precariat in the metropolis of the late 20th century Wacquant concludes with reflections on the politics of knowledge and pointers on the vexed question of the relationship between social epistemology and racial justice Both sharply focused and wide ranging synthetic yet controversial Racial Domination will be of interest to students and scholars of race and ethnicity power and inequality and epistemology and theory across the social sciences and humanities
