Race Et Histoire:

Race et histoire dans les sociétés occidentales (XV-XVIIIe siècle) Jean-Frédéric Schaub, Silvia Sebastiani, 2021-10-06 Ce livre présente les processus de racialisation qui ont ponctué la transformation de l'Europe et de ses colonies de la fin du Moyen âge jusqu'à des révolutions. Cette histoire claire l'évolution des sociétés, des institutions, des cultures et des théories. Elle décrit la volonté de catégoriser les individus et les groupes de les enclore dans des identités présentes comme intangibles de discriminer les collectifs dominés voire d'organiser l'oppression grand échelle contre des populations définies par leur race. La racialisation procède par naturalisation des rapports sociaux et des caractéristiques physiques et morales qui se transmettent de génération en génération à travers la procréation. Elle repose sur une contradiction : le racisme affirme que les gens sont prisonniers de leur race et s'emploie néanmoins à gérer la transformation des races. Quatre coups de projecteur permettent de rendre compte de cette histoire : la noblesse de naissance face à l'anoblissement, la nature juive ou musulmane qui persiste dans le sang des convertis, l'origine ineffaçable des métis dans l'Amérique coloniale, la déshumanisation des Africains par la traite esclavagiste. Ces phénomènes sont les expériences séculaires sur lesquelles les auteurs des Lumières se sont fondés pour classer l'humanité en races. Ils hiérarchisent les groupes humains mais proclament aussi l'universalité des droits de l'homme. Le siècle des philosophes peut alors se lire comme le fruit d'une histoire passée autant que comme le fondement d'une histoire inachevée et à naître.

Race et histoire; suivi de L'oeuvre de Claude Lévi-Strauss par Jean Pouillon Claude Lévi-Strauss, 1969 Race et histoire Claude Lévi-Strauss, 1961 Philosophie Nicole Grataloup, Michel Vignard, 2006 Race et histoire Claude Lévi-Strauss, 2002 Culture and Rights Jane K. Cowan, Marie-Bénédicte Dembour, Richard A. Wilson, 2001-11-29 Do people everywhere have the same or even compatible ideas about multiculturalism, indigenous rights or women's rights? The authors of this book move beyond the traditional terms of the universalism versus cultural relativism debate. Through detailed case studies from around the world (Hawaii, France, Thailand, Botswana, Greece, Nepal, and Canada) they explore the concrete effects of rights talk and rights institutions on people's lives.

essays ultimately cohere around the question of the non human be it animal ecosystem god or machine Blood and Kinship Christopher H. Johnson, Bernhard Jussen, David Warren Sabean, Simon Teuscher, 2013-01-01 The word blood awakens ancient ideas but we know little about its historical representation in Western cultures Anthropologists have customarily studied how societies think about the bodily substances that unite them and the contributors to this volume develop those questions in new directions Taking a radically historical perspective that complements traditional cultural analyses they demonstrate how blood and kinship have constantly been reconfigured in European culture This volume challenges the idea that blood can be understood as a stable entity and shows how concepts of blood and kinship moved in both parallel and divergent directions over the course of European history Thinking without Desire Panu Minkinen, 1999-09-01 The book is an attempt to evaluate the reception of Continental philosophy phenomenology hermeneutics deconstruction etc within mainstream jurisprudence The book claims that the reduction of philosophy to social theory can only be accomplished by impoverishing the impetus of philosophical thinking and consequently by transforming critique into criticism and the philosophy of law into legal theory The response developed in this book is the creation of a metaphysical understanding of law or in other words what Aristotle called a first philosophy In addition to philosophy proper the classics of Antiquity the great German philosophers contemporary French thinking the book covers a wide range of jurisprudential literature These include the neo Kantian philosophers of law whose thinking is allegedly at the root of legal positivism but special emphasis is also given to existential philosophers of law deeply inspired by the hermeneutical phenomenology of Martin Heidegger Lastly the book encourages specifically philosophical approaches in law to the thinking of French contemporaries whose work has inspired critical legal scholarship during the past ten years Claude Lévi-Strauss Patrick Wilcken, 2011-11-21 Claude Lévi Strauss the father of modern anthropology and author of the classic Tristes tropiques was one of the most influential intellectuals of the second half of the twentieth century Dislodging Sartre Camus and de Beauvoir from the pinnacle of French intellectual life in the 1950s he brought about a sea change in Western thought and inspired a generation of thinkers and writers including Michel Foucault Roland Barthes and Jacques Lacan with his structuralist theories Lévi Strauss's bohemian childhood and later studies of the emerging discipline of anthropology in the field and the university led him to mix with intellectuals artists and poets from all over Europe Tracing the evolution of his ideas through interviews with the man himself research into his archives and conversations with contemporary anthropologists Wilcken explores and explains Lévi Strauss's theories revealing an artiste manqué who infused his academic writing with an artistic and poetic sensibility Coming Clean Eric Heinze, 2025-04-08 What has gone wrong with the left and what leftists must do if they want to change politics ethics and minds Leftists have long taught that people in the West must take responsibility for centuries of classism racism colonialism patriarchy and other gross injustices Of course right wingers constantly ridicule this claim for its wokeness In Coming Clean Eric Heinze rejects the idea that we should be less woke In fact we need more wokeness but of a new kind Yes we must teach about these bleak pasts but we must also educate the public about the left's own support for regimes that damaged and destroyed millions of lives for over a century Stalin in the Soviet Union Mao Zedong in China Pol Pot in Cambodia or the Kim dynasty in North Korea Criticisms of Western wrongdoing are certainly important yet Heinze explains that leftists have rarely engaged in the kinds of open and public self scrutiny that they demand from others Citing examples as different as the Ukraine war LGBTQ people in Cuba the concept of hatred and the problem of leftwing antisemitism Heinze explains why and how the left must change its memory politics if it is to claim any ethical high ground
