James Jennings, 1992 In April 1992 the world witnessed a renewal in South Central Los Angeles of the urban violence that exploded over a quarter of a century earlier As in 1965 the spark that ignited the firestorm was Black rage over police brutality But in both eras the tinder was prepared by decades of social neglect and political disenfranchisement that have left the predominantly non white urban poor trapped and virtually without hope Race Politics and Economic Development strips away the veneer of mass media images to examine the underlying causes of Black urban poverty and to recommend means to escape the seemingly endless cycle of retributive violence that it spawns The book brings together Black activists and scholars including two former mayors of American cities to analyse the theoretical and practical problems currently facing the Black community in the United States The essays collected here are dominated by three key themes that political influence power and wealth are major factors in determining social welfare policies directed at Blacks the poor and the working class that both liberal and conservative policies over the last fifty years are no longer effective in alleviating a growing human service crisis among Blacks and that the political mobilization of impoverished sectors of the Black community is absolutely critical in resolving the problem of poverty in urban America Drawing on new work in the social sciences political theory and economics and also on the contributors activist experiences these essays represent a pathbreaking new agenda for the participation of grassroots Black leaders in developing and implementing urban policy Contributors Jeremiah Cotton Julianne Malveaux Mack H Jones Charles P Henry Walter Stafford William Fletcher Jr Eugene Newport Sheila Ards Jacqueline Pope Keith Jennings Lloyd Hogan Richard Hatcher

Race and Democracy in the Americas

Georgia A. Persons, 2018-12-07 Race and Democracy in the Americas examines dimensions of the comparative dynamics of race and ethnicity with a directed focus on the Americas most particularly Brazil and the United States. Brazil and the United States are two countries in the Americas that have been major hosts for the African diaspora. Both countries experienced prolonged enslavement of Africans and both now claim to be beacons of democracy for much of the developing world. Both Afro Brazilians and African Americans have fielded major liberation movements against racism and oppression yet both groups continue to experience considerable residual racial discrimination and displacement. Brazil and the U.S. remain racialized societies though both officially purport to be otherwise. The chapters of this volume illuminate a common search for understanding how race operates in societies generally and how it shapes life opportunities for African Americans and Afro Brazilians both oppressed by this most detrimental social construction. The project that fueled this volume represented a rare opportunity for collaboration between Afro Brazilian scholars and their African American counterparts. This volume offers a passionate conversation between colleagues who have endured common sociopolitical and cultural struggles but who have only belatedly been able to meet and connect as individuals. Both groups share identities as scholars and activists for neither identity alone is sufficient to nourish the longings of their hearts nor of their consciences. This volume also represents an all too rare opportunity to give voice and expression to the work of Afro Brazilian scholars. Volume 9 of the National Political Science Review also carries a special tribute to Mack Henry Jones, a senior black political scientist retiring from Atlanta University and honors Jones's legacy and continues his quest for understanding the nature and intricacies of oppression and possible paths to liberation.

The Color of Freedom David Carroll Cochran, 1999-01-01 Offers a fresh distinctive and compelling analysis of the United States's continuing dilemma of race.

Diversity and Multiculturalism Shirley R. Steinberg, 2009 This reader demands that we understand diversity and multiculturalism by identifying the ways in which curriculum has been written and taught and by redefining the field with an equitable lens, freeing it from the dominant cultural curriculum. The book problematizes the issue of whiteness for instance as not being the opposite of blackness or person of color but rather a meta-description for our dominant culture. Issues are also addressed that are usually left out of the discussion about diversity and multiculturalism. This reader includes essays on physical diversity, geographic diversity, and difference in sexualities. This is the quintessential collection of work by critical scholars committed to redefining the conversation on multiculturalism and diversity.

Understanding the Nature of Poverty in Urban America James Jennings, 1994-08-23 This book is designed to help readers navigate through the vast and rapidly growing literature on poverty in urban America. The major themes, topics, debates, and issues are examined through an analysis of eight basic questions about the nature and problem of urban poverty: What is poverty and how is it measured? What kinds of national policies have been utilized to manage poverty? What are the major characteristics and trends associated with poverty in America and how are race and ethnicity reflected in these trends? What are the major explanations for persistent poverty in the United States What are the major characteristics and themes reflected in the American welfare system and anti poverty policies How is the underclass defined and explained How have the poor utilized political mobilization to fight poverty in the United States How does social welfare policy directed at poverty in America compare to social welfare systems in other countries After analyzing these issues Jennings concludes with a brief overview of how public discussions related to poverty in the 1990s are similar to such debates in earlier periods Essential reading for urban policy makers social scientists and students of contemporary American urban concerns

Economic Citizenship Amalia Sa'ar, 2016-07-01 With the spread of neoliberal projects responsibility for the welfare of minority and poor citizens has shifted from states to local communities Businesses municipalities grassroots activists and state functionaries share in projects meant to help vulnerable populations become self supportive Ironically such projects produce odd discursive blends of justice solidarity and wellbeing and place the languages of feminist and minority rights side by side with the language of apolitical consumerism Using theoretical concepts of economic citizenship and emotional capitalism Economic Citizenship exposes the paradoxes that are deep within neoliberal interpretations of citizenship and analyzes the unexpected consequences of applying globally circulating notions to concrete local contexts

The Politics of Black Empowerment James Jennings, 1992 The Politics of Black Empowerment uses the experiences of grassroots activists to develop various conceptualizations and explanations of Black political behavior today In analyzing Black politics since the late 1960s James Jennings focuses on both the behavioral aspects such as individual and group characteristics of voting and nonvoting and elections as well as more fundamental philosophical and cultural questions regarding Black politics This study examines how the traditional face of Black politics and electoral activism interacts with a growing progressive face of Black politics While traditional Black political activists seek access or political incorporation another group aims for power sharing The traditional approach is sometimes satisfied with merely replacing white politicians with Blacks but the progressive constituency focuses on fundamentally changing the whole economic and political pie Activists desirous of Black empowerment are pursuing a political and economic orientation that goes beyond programs based on access to American institutional arrangements and attempting to change or alter given political arrangements and social relations between Blacks and whites on the basis of changing the social structure and the distribution of wealth and power Based on interviews with Black and Latino activists in several big cities as well as on a review of the literature and the Black newspapers around the country The Politics of Black Empowerment describes the characteristics of Black empowerment activism in America
