Illuminating the Word in the Early Middle Ages Lawrence Nees, 2023-10-05 This richly illustrated study addresses the essential first steps in the development of the new phenomenon of the illuminated book which innovatively introduced colourful large letters and ornamental frames as guides for the reader's access to the text Tracing their surprising origins within late Roman reading practices Lawrence Nees shows how these decorative features stand as ancestors to features of printed and electronic books we take for granted today including font choice word spacing punctuation and sentence capitalisation Two hundred photographs nearly all in colour illustrate and document the decisive change in design from ancient to medieval books Featuring an extended discussion of the importance of race and ethnicity in twentieth century historiography this book argues that the first steps in the development of this new style of book were taken on the European continent within classical practices of reading and writing and not as usually presented among the non Roman barbarians

Arctic Mark Nuttall, Terry Callaghan, 2000-12-21 By demonstrating the importance of communication among social scientists in the natural sciences and stakeholders living in the Arctic this book provides a comprehensive overview of the region's rapidly changing physical and human dimensions In response to the tremendous challenges and opportunities facing the Arctic it is an essential resource for all Arctic researchers and those developing multidisciplinary projects Representing a state of the art overview of key areas of Arctic research by renowned specialists in the field each chapter forms a detailed varied and accessible account of current knowledge Each author introduces the subject to a non specialist readership while retaining intellectual integrity and relevance for specialists Overall the richness of the material presented in this volume reflects the ecological and cultural diversity of this vast and environmentally critical part of the globe

How Do Hurricane Katrina's Winds Blow? Liza Treadwell, 2014-03-26 The disproportionate effect of Hurricane Katrina on African Americans was an outcome created by law and societal construct not chance This book takes a hard look at racial stratification in American today and debunks the myth that segregation is a thing of the past An outstanding resource for students of African American history government policy sociology and human rights as well as readers interested in socioeconomics in the United States today this book examines why the divisions between the areas heavily damaged by Hurricane Katrina and those left unscathed largely coincided with the color lines in New Orleans neighborhoods and establishes how African Americans have suffered for 400 years under an oppressive system that has created a permanent underclass of second class citizenship Rather than focusing on the Katrina disaster itself the author presents significant evidence of how government policy and structure as well as societal mores permitted and sanctioned the dehumanization of African Americans purposefully placing them in disaster prone areas particularly those in New Orleans The historical context is framed within the construct of Hurricane Katrina and other hurricane catastrophes in New Orleans demonstrating that Katrina was not an anomaly For readers unfamiliar with the ugly existence of segregation in modern day America this book will likely shock and outrage as it sounds a call to both citizens and government to undertake the challenges we still face as a nation
