expectancy and an explosion of new retirees living with chronic health conditions this collaboration could not be more timely. This exceptional resource is itself evidence that physicians and psychologists can work together to optimize truly patient centered geriatric care. Here at last is a scientifically rigorous evidence based response to the aging mind and body from those most expertly trained. Illustrates why and how psychologists must assume a more integrated role in meeting the health care needs of older patients. Confronts emotionally laden topics such as cognitively impaired driving, caregiver burden, end of life communication, suicide, and systemic issues such as bias, payment, and the culture of medicine. Challenges decades long barriers to integration from both physician and psychologist perspectives, suggesting how they can finally be overcome. Provides an innovative practical response to academic medicine's growing emphasis on psychological and behavioral science. Demonstrates how health care reform creates a behavioral health niche that clinical psychologists are uniquely qualified to fill.
