Problems of Communism ,1979 China and the Major Powers in East Asia A. Doak Barnett,2001-09-19 The foreign policy of the People s Republic of China has been dominated in recent decades by the problems of dealing with the other major powers in East Asia Although many ideological political and economic aims have shaped particular Chinese policies Peking s dominant concern has been national security Since the late 1960s its leaders have viewed the Soviet Union as the primary threat to China and have pursued a distinctive Maoist balance of power strategy against it China s post Mao leaders continue to give priority to strategic considerations and the problems of relations with the other major powers It cannot be assumed however that they will simply continue past policies The recent changes both within China and in the broad pattern of international relations in East Asia have created a new situation In this study A Doak Barnett analyzes in detail China s bilateral relations with the Soviet Union Japan and the United States He also examines the changing nature of the four power relationship in East Asia On this basis he discusses possible future trends in Chinese policy and the prospects for achieving a more stable regional equilibrium Crisis and Commitment Robert

Accinelli,2017-11-01 This analytical study examines in comprehensive detail the making of the American military and political commitment to Taiwan during the first half of the 1950s Starting with President Truman s declaration in January 1950 that the United States would not militarily assist Taiwan s Nationalist Chinese government Robert Accinelli shows why Washington subsequently reversed this position and ultimately chose to embrace Taiwan as a highly valued ally Accinelli analyzes this critical reversal within the context of shifting international circumstances and domestic developments such as McCarthyism and the Truman MacArthur controversy In addition to describing the growth of a close but uneasy relationship between the United States and the Nationalist regime he focuses on the importance of the Taiwan issue in America's relations with the People's Republic of China and Great Britain. He concludes his study with an analysis of the 1954-55 confrontation between the United States and China over Quemoy and Matsu and other Nationalist-held offshore islands. According to Accinelli, neither the Korean War nor the Indochina War divided the United States and China more fundamentally during this period than did the issue of U.S. Taiwanese relations. Organizing for Foreign Policy Crises Patrick J. Haney, 2002-04-25. DIVHow Presidents use advisers in handling foreign policy crises. Useful Adversaries Thomas J. Christensen, 2020-05-05. This book provides a new analysis of why relations between the United States and the Chinese Communists were so hostile in the first decade of the Cold War. Employing extensive documentation, it offers a fresh approach to long-debated questions such as why Truman refused to recognize the Chinese Communists, why the United States aided Chiang Kai-shek's KMT on Taiwan, why the Korean War escalated into a Sino-American conflict, and why Mao shelled islands in the Taiwan Straits in 1958, thus sparking a major crisis with the United States. Christensen first develops a novel two-level approach that explains why leaders manipulate low-level conflicts to mobilize popular support for expensive long-term security strategies. By linking grand strategy, domestic politics, and the manipulation of ideology and conflict, Christensen provides a nuanced and sophisticated link between domestic politics and foreign policy. He then applies the approach to Truman's policy toward the Chinese Communists in 1947-50 and to Mao's initiation of the 1958 Taiwan Straits Crisis. In these cases, the extension of short-term conflict was useful in gaining popular support for the overall grand strategy that each leader was promoting domestically. Truman's limited containment strategy toward the USSR and Mao's self-strengthening programs during the Great Leap Forward. Christensen also explores how such low-level conflicts can escalate as they did in Korea despite leaders' desire to avoid actual warfare. The Myth of War in the Taiwan Strait Taiyi Sun, Dennis Lu-Chung Weng, 2024-12-15. The Myth of War in the Taiwan Strait. Elite Perspectives from Beijing, Taipei, and Washington. Amid the Yizhou Dilemma, proposes a new framework of the Yizhou dilemma to capture the conundrum faced by a hegemony, the U.S., a rising power, Mainland China, and the weaker third entity, Taiwan, crucial to the rising power's ascendance. Taiyi Sun and Dennis Lu-Cheng Weng, drawing evidence from the assessments and perceptions of directly involved elites from Beijing, Taipei, and Washington, argue war is not imminent, yet action or inaction by each party could potentially lead to detrimental outcomes. For the rising power, overexpansion incurs significant costs, but restraint makes it unable to attain major power status. Consequently, low-cost symbolic shows of force are more likely than a full invasion of the third entity. For the strategically vital yet relatively weaker entity, asserting autonomy and independence to put up a fight would risk escalating tension and trigger aggressive behaviors from the rising power Yet maintaining the status quo would allow the rising power to continue strengthening itself so that a coerced unification unfavorable to the weaker entity could become more probable For the hegemony leaving more looming challenges elsewhere unresolved could diminish the power of the hegemony but getting involved leads to even more challenges

Orme, 1992-06-18 A historical reexamination of the Cold War's cyclical pattern It aims to show how Soviet aggressiveness was most likely to occur when the credibility of US efforts at deterrence was damaged by the inability or unwillingness of the US to meet previous challenges

The "One China" Dilemma P. Chow, 2008-04-28 The new developments across the Taiwan Strait have illuminated the dilemma of the One China policy which could mislead to inconsistent or even contradictory policies and result in devastating military confrontation between China and the U S and possibly Japan

China and the United States Xiaobing Li, Hongshan Li, 1997-12-11 This essay collection presents a new examination and fresh insight into Sino American relations from the end of World War II to the 1960s The compilation breaks new ground by exploring some of the untouched Chinese and Soviet Communist sources to document the major events and crises in East Asia It also identifies a new pattern of confrontations between China and America during the Cold War Based on extensive multi archival research utilizing recently released records the authors move the study away from the usual Soviet American rivalry and instead focus on the relatively unknown area of communists interactions and conflicts in order to answer questions such as why Beijing sent troops to Korea what role China played in the Vietnam War and why Mao caused crises in the Taiwan Straits The articles in the book examine Chinese perceptions and positions and discuss the nature and goals of China's foreign policy and its impact on Sino American relations during this crucial period

Re-examining the Cold War: U.S.-China Diplomacy, 1954-1973 Robert S. Ross, Changbin Jiang, 2020-03-23 The twelve essays in this volume underscore the similarities between Chinese and American approaches to bilateral diplomacy and between their perceptions of each other s policy making motivations Much of the literature on U S China relations posits that each side was motivated either by ideologically informed interests or by ideological assumptions about its counterpart But as these contributors emphasize newly accessible archives suggest rather that both Beijing and Washington developed a responsive and tactically adaptable foreign policy Each then adjusted this policy in response to changing international circumstances and changing assessments of its counterpart s policies Motivated less by ideology than by pragmatic national security concerns each assumed that the other faced similar considerations Deterrence and Strategic Culture Shu Guang Zhang, 2019-06-30 Does strategic thinking on the question of deterrence vary between cultures Should practitioners assume a common understanding of deterrence regardless of national and cultural differences Shu Guang Zhang takes on these questions by exploring Sino American confrontations between 1949 and 1958 Zhang draws on recently declassified U S documents and previously inaccessible Chinese Communist Party records to demonstrate that the Chinese and the Americans had vastly different assessments of each other s intentions interests threats strengths and policies during this period China Review 1997 Maurice Brosseau, Hsin-chi Kuan, Y. Y. Kueh, 1997 China Review has been chosen by the American Public Libraries Association for inclusion in the list of books recommended to its members for acquisition China Review 1997 the seventh volume of the series is an expert survey of China's major sectors of interest and critically summarizes the development of the previous year in core chapters covering politics the economy and social change.
