The Arena of Racism Michel Wieviorka,1995-09-25 In this vital addition to the sociological literature on racism Michel Wieviorka presents a detailed and revisionary analysis of the vocabulary of racism prejudice discrimination segregation and violence arguing that racism is not reducible to these elementary forms He shows how the experiences of institutionalized racism in America and anti-Semitism in Europe can be analyzed to provide an understanding of the complex transition from race to racism As cultural identities are more fragmented in our societies as the social relations defined by industrial capitalism are in decline so too are ideas of progress and universality It is in this context of postmodern social and economic flux that Wieviorka puts forward a

The SAGE Encyclopedia of African Cultural Heritage in North America Mwalimu J. Shujaa,Kenya J. Shujaa,2015-07-13 The Encyclopedia of African Cultural Heritage in North America provides an accessible ready reference on the retention and continuity of African culture within the United States Our conceptual framework holds first that culture is a form of self knowledge and knowledge about self in the world as transmitted from one person to another Second that African people continuously create their own cultural history as they move through time and space Third that African descended people living outside of Africa are also contributors to and participate in the creation of African cultural history Entries focus on illuminating Africanisms cultural retentions traceable to an African origin and cultural continuities ongoing practices and processes through which African culture continues to be created and formed Thus the focus is more culturally specific and less concerned with the broader transatlantic demographic political and geographic issues that are the focus of similar recent reference works We also focus less on biographies of individuals and political and economic ties and more on processes and manifestations of African cultural heritage and continuity

Racism in Contemporary Germany Ivan Kalmar, Nitzan Shoshan, 2022-06-23 This book presents a critical and empirically informed examination of Islamophobia and related issues of racism and nationalism in Germany today with particular attention to the East West distinction The authors representing several disciplines such as anthropology sociology and media and literary studies situate the topic in the global and German context of the 2015 16 migration crisis and its aftermath and of the ongoing transformations seen in the postsocialist regions of the European Union Since the 2015 16 refugee crisis illiberal leaders and parties within Europe have instrumentalized Islamophobia in an attempt to dislodge the traditional political elites Strikingly such illiberal movements have been most successful in the formerly socialist areas of the EU This is mirrored within Germany itself where political formations with an Islamophobic agenda remain more popular in the East than in the West This volume examines the reasons for this difference including not only the ideological heritage of Soviet dominated socialism but also the effects of western interventions in the formerly socialist areas in and beyond Germany since the end of the Cold War Some Islamophobic and other hateful tendencies were in fact introduced from and continue to prosper also in the West The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary European Studies

Contours of African American Politics Georgia A. Persons, 2017-07-05 Contours of African American Politics chronicles the systematic study of African American politics and its subsequent recognition as an established field of scholarly inquiry African American politics emanates from the demands of the prolonged struggle for black liberation and empowerment Hence the study of African American politics has sought to track codify and analyse the struggle that has been mounted and to understand the historic and changing political status of African Americans within American society This two volume set presents a selection of scholarship on African American politics as it appeared in The National Political Science Review from its initial launch in 1989 to the spring of 2009 Represented are contributions from some of the leading scholars of African American politics who have helped to establish and sustain the field The volumes are organised around themes that derive from the unfolding real life drama of African American politics and its subsequent scholarly treatment The result is a window into the political efforts that meld the historically disparate strands of black political expressions into a reconstructed and strategically nimble electoral based mass mobilisation necessary for optimising the impact of the African American vote Sections in the volumes also chronicle the evolution of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists as a professional organisation The two volumes illuminate a pivotal epoch in black political empowerment and provide a context for the future of black politics Asian American Society Mary Yu communal and radical tradition of football seen to best effect in demands for democratic fan ownership and control of clubs in fan campaigns against racist and fascist mobilisation of football supporters and in a firm commitment to anti corporatism Drawing on the rich and varied traditions of fan cultures across Europe the book examines how football as a cultural form carries with it the possibility of promoting the voices of the disenfranchised and the marginalised and so the basis for nurturing solidarity against oppression alienation and exploitation current in modern capitalist society This book was published as a special issue of Soccer and Society

The Social Context of Health and Health Work Linda J. Jones, 1994-07-19 The Social Context of Health and Health Work breaks new ground by linking together sociology of health and social policy perspectives Linda Jones argues that health and health work cannot be understood in isolation Patterns of disease illness treatment and provision are crucially influenced by class race gender age and disability Conflicts over health policies reflect fundamental debates about the purpose of welfare The writer draws on her specialist knowledge of developing and teaching nursing and health studies courses and on her recent experience of writing distance learning materials to create a book which encourages critical thinking and supports study

Embedded Racism Debito Arudou, 2015-11-06 Despite domestic constitutional provisions and international treaty promises Japan has no law against racial discrimination Consequently businesses around Japan display Japanese Only signs denying entry to all foreigners on sight Employers and landlords routinely refuse jobs and apartments to foreign applicants Japanese police racially profile foreign looking bystanders for invasive questioning on the street Legislators administrators and pundits portray foreigners as a national security threat and call for their segregation and expulsion Nevertheless Japan's government and media claim there is no discrimination by race in Japan therefore no laws are necessary How does Japan resolve the cognitive dissonance of racial discrimination being unconstitutional yet not illegal Embedded Racism carefully untangles Japanese society's complex narrative on race by analyzing two mutually supportive levels of national identity maintenance Starting with case studies of hundreds of individual Japanese Only businesses it carefully analyzes the construction of Japanese identity through legal structures statute enforcement public policy and media messages It reveals how the concept of a Japanese has been racialized to the point where one must look Japanese to be treated as one The product of a quarter century of research and fieldwork by a scholar living in Japan as a naturalized Japanese citizen Embedded Racism offers an unprecedented perspective on Japan's deeply entrenched poorly understood and strenuously unacknowledged discrimination as it affects people by physical appearance

Beyond the Boundaries Georgia A. Persons, 2017-09-29 In the past African American aspirations for political office were assumed to be limited to areas with sizeable black population bases By and large black candidates have rarely been successful in statewide or national elections This has been attributed to several factors limited resources available to African American candidates or identification with a black liberationist ideological thrust Other factors have been a relatively small and spatially concentrated primary support base of black voters and the persistent resistance of many white voters to support black candidates. For these reasons the possibility of black candidates winning elections to national office was presumably just a dream. Conventional wisdom conceded a virtual cap on both the possible number of black elected officials and the level of elective office to which they could ascend. But objective political analysis has not always made sufficient allowances for the more universal phenomenon of individual political ambitions. The contributors to this volume explore the ways ambitious individuals identified and seized upon strategies that are expanding the boundaries of African American electoral politics. This volume is anchored by a symposium that focuses on new possibilities in African American politics. Both the electoral contests of 2006 and the Barack Obama presidential campaign represent an emergent dynamic in American electoral politics. Analysts are beginning to agree that the contours of social change now make the electoral successes of black candidates who are perceived as ideologically and culturally mainstream increasingly likely. The debate captured in this volume will likely inspire further scholarly inquiry into the changing nature and dimensions of the larger dynamic of race in American politics and the subsequent changing political fortunes of African American candidates.
