Paul Cezanne The Bathers:

Paul Cézanne Mary Louise Elliot Krumrine, Paul Cézanne, 1990 Of the bathers      Paul Cézanne Mary Louise Krumrine, 1990 The theme of the bathers fascinated Cézanne from 1870 until his death in 1906. He created masterpiece after masterpiece and the many studies that emerged from this period are exquisite works in themselves. Paul Cézanne's The Bathers brings all these paintings and drawings together in one magnificently illustrated volume, the first to concentrate on this major theme which appeared in some 200 of Cézanne's works. Relating these images to works of literature of the period to Cézanne's changing relationships with women and to the milieu of nineteenth century France, the lively and original text provides a revealing portrait of the artist's complex personality and artistic development. While the early bathers were based largely on scenes of everyday life, the later works became increasingly abstract with deeper, more symbolic meanings which at first baffled the critics yet fascinated his fellow painters.      The Bathers of Paul Cézanne: Text Melvin Waldogel, 1961      Paul Cézanne, 1839-1906 Ulrike Becks-Malorny, 2001 From banker to painter Cézanne and the Impressionists Harmony in parallel with nature Still lifes Mont Saint Victoire Latter years      Cézanne's Bathers: Biography and the Erotics of Painting Aruna D'Souza, 1999      The Paintings of Paul Cézanne Paul Cézanne, 2012-11-30 Unlike many other artists of his period who painted in only one area of composition, Cézanne was adept at many areas of composition, including landscapes, still lifes, nude studies and portraits. The artist completed many portraits often using models from real life as his guides. He employed a light style that was related to his direct observation of his subject, as indicated by the lightly amused looks on Madame Cézanne's face and her engaged postures. His paintings are also indicative of his use of small color planes. Rather than completing the painting with realistic depth and shadow, he illustrates the figures as if they are in a singular dimension, employing the use of one color for each area of the composition. From Cézanne's home in Aix en Provence, Southern France, where he spent many of his later years painting, he developed a special relationship with the landscape of the Provence and painted many renditions of it, especially the mountain Sainte Victoire in the background. The paintings clearly illustrate the way Cézanne sought to depict the nature of reality and our perception of it. The mountain gives way to simple forms and the buildings in the foreground have been devolved into their particular shapes, all the while keeping the entirety of the landscape intact. Cézanne's use of light and color give the impression that it is not his renderings of the landscapes that give them their fragmented quality, but that it is an inherent quality of the landscapes itself. The Bathers 1900 is the largest in a series of nude bather paintings by Cézanne (see back cover) and is often referred to as the Large Bathers or Big Bathers to distinguish it from the other bather scenes painted by Cézanne. It is also considered one of the masterpieces of modern art, as well as Cézanne's finest painting. It was purchased for 100 000 for the Philadelphia Museum of Art, which was criticized for the expenditure because at the time ten percent of Philadelphia's population was without bathtubs. The nude figures in the painting have been compared to Picasso's later work Les Desmoiselles d'Avignon, suggesting the influence that Cézanne had.

Locke,2025-04-22 Modernism has often been described as a rejection of the art of the past but C zanne s Shadows makes an eloquent case for precisely the opposite artistic practice In this book Nancy Locke argues that the idea of a modernist forgetting would never have taken hold if the modernist painters themselves and C zanne in particular had not wrestled so fiercely with the work of their predecessors C zanne routinely interrupted his work with a model to go back to the Louvre or to consult sketches and studies he did after the old masters Exploring the importance of C zanne s involvement with the art of the past in essays devoted to Poussin Chardin and Rubens Locke argues that C zanne s art cannot be understood without an investigation into what he made of these earlier models and how they continued to haunt even his mature work C zanne s Shadows offers an elegant new model for understanding the relationship between modernist painting and the creative tradition it often feigns to reject This study of artistic ambitions and an analysis of nineteenth century art writing will be especially valuable to scholars of modernism and European art history Paul Cézanne Ambroise Vollard,1923

BOOK JACKET Cézanne and the End of Impressionism

Richard Shiff, 2014-12-15 Drawing on a broad foundation in the history of nineteenth century French art Richard Shiff offers an innovative interpretation of Cézanne's painting. He shows how Cézanne's style met the emerging criteria of a technique of originality and how it satisfied critics sympathetic to symbolism as well as to impressionism. Expanding his study of the interaction of Cézanne and his critics, Shiff considers the problem of modern art in general. He locates the core of modernism in a dialectic of making technique and finding originality. Ultimately Shiff provides not only clarifying accounts of impressionism and symbolism but of a modern classicism as well.

Cézanne's Other Susan

Sidlauska, 2009 In the voluminous scholarship that has been written on Paul Cézanne little has been said about the twenty four portraits in oil that Cézanne made of his wife Hortense Fiquet Cézanne over an extended twenty year period. In Cézanne's Other The Portraits of Hortense Susan Sidlauska breaks new ground focusing on these paintings as a group and looking particularly at the differences that render many of them unrecognizable as the same person. She argues that Cézanne sidestepped the conventional goals of portraiture he avoids representing a consistent identifiable physiognomy or conventional feminine postures and does not portray the subject's inner life making lack of fixedness itself his subject which leads him ultimately to a radical reformulation of modern portraiture. Sidlauska also upends the notion of Mme Cézanne as the irrelevant and absent spouse. Instead she reveals Hortense Fiquet Cézanne as a presence so crucial to the artist that she became the essential other to his ever evolving self. Coupling historical texts from philosophy psychology and physiology with more recent writings from women's and gender studies cognitive psychology and visual culture Sidlauska demonstrates that Mme Cézanne offered intimacy at arm's length for the painter who has been dubbed the lone wolf of Aix.

Imagining Jewish Art Aaron Rosen, 2017-07-05 Short listed for the Art and Christian Enquiry Mercers International Book Award 2009 a book which makes an outstanding contribution to the dialogue between religious faith and the visual arts. What does modern Jewish art look like? Where many scholars critics and curators have gone searching for the essence of Jewish art in Biblical illustrations and other traditional subjects Rosen sets out to discover Jewishness in unlikely places. How he asks have modern Jewish painters explored their Jewish identity using an artistic past which is by and large non-Jewish? In this new book we encounter some of the great works of Western art history through Jewish eyes. We see Matthias Grunewald's Isenheim Altarpiece re-imagined by Marc Chagall 1887-1985 traces of Paolo Uccello and Piero della Francesca in Philip Guston 1913-1980 and images by Diego Velazquez and Paul Cézanne studiously reworked by R.B. Kitaj 1932-2007. This highly comparative study draws on theological philosophical and literary sources from Franz Rosenzweig to Franz Kafka and Philip Roth. Rosen deepens our understanding not only of Chagall Guston and Kitaj but also of how art might serve as a key.
