Plunging Through the Clouds David K. Reynolds, 1993-01-26 Constructive Living brings together two psychotherapies Morita and Naikan and their associated lifeways Both therapies were developed in this century but their roots extend back hundreds of years in East Asian history Morita was a professor of psychiatry at Jikei University School of Medicine in Tokyo Yoshimoto was a successful businessman who retired to become a lay priest in Nara Morita's method has its origins in Zen Buddhist psychology and Yoshimoto's Naikan has its origins in Jodo Shinshu Buddhist psychology Neither of these systems requires that one believe in Buddhism or have faith in anything other than one's experience They work as well for Christians and Moslems and Jews as for Buddhists Both are built on the naturalistic observations of humans and careful introspection of their founders Constructive Living isn't mystical or oriental but practical and human The Children's Newspaper and Children's Pictorial, 1919 New World Mindfulness Donald McCown, Marc S. Micozzi, 2011-12-22 Techniques to fit mindfulness into the demands and pace of real life Reveals the medical benefits of mindfulness for stress anxiety and depression as well as for coping with serious illness and major life changes Offers a wide range of techniques including a high speed form of contemplation from the authors extensive experience working with this practice as a healing modality We are all busy and we all long for quiet and connection Yet despite the growing body of evidence supporting the benefits of mindfulness the hectic pace of modern life leaves little time to devote to meditation relaxation and contemplation In New World Mindfulness mindfulness teacher and therapist Donald McCown and physician Marc Micozzi provide techniques to successfully integrate mindfulness into real life so we can rise above the stress of work family and community that can easily pull us out of the moment and into states of tension anxiety or depression Dispelling the two big myths of mindfulness that it is an exotic activity and that it requires you to slow down and find more time the authors present a history of mindfulness in the West from the American Founding Fathers Thoreau and Emerson up to present day leaders in the field such as Jon Kabat Zinn and reveal a high speed form of contemplation ideal for even the busiest of lives Exploring the physiological impact of mindfulness practices for stress anxiety depression and coping with serious illness and major life changes the authors show that mindfulness is not about being silent and alone it can even be practiced as a family or community Not prescribing change but rather working from within this book connects Western no nonsense get it done pragmatism with the yearning for beauty and balance that makes a full life truly fulfilled
