The Private Sector and Water Pricing in Efficient Urban Water Management Cecilia Tortajada, Francisco González-Gómez, Asit K. Biswas, Miguel A. García-Rubio, 2016-01-08 This book focuses on participation of the public and private sectors in urban water management and on the role of water pricing. It discusses in depth topics such as public choices of urban water service management dynamics of privatization and regulation of water services adoption of water demand instruments impacts of price and non price policies on residential water demand quality of water services lessons from not for profit public private partnerships and critical examinations of models and projections of demands in water utility resource planning in England and Wales. Appropriateness of water prices and tariffs in achieving socially desirable outcomes is also analyzed and a global survey of urban water tariffs is approached with a focus on sustainability efficiency and fairness. This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Water Resources Management.
Pro-Poor Strategies in Urban Water Provisioning Akosua Sarpong Boakye-Ansah, 2021-02-25 Water utilities are the main instrument for countries to achieve universal service coverage. In pursuing universal service coverage water utilities have turned to pro poor water services to extend water services in low income areas. This thesis discusses the use of pro poor water services by water utilities in Kenya with the intention of highlighting the dimensions of the approach that require attention of policy makers and practitioners when engaging with the concept. Based on the analysis of the technologies financial and organisational arrangements associated with the pro poor concept this thesis shows that the use of pro poor strategies allows water utilities to reduce the risks of servicing low income areas while still claiming to fulfil their mandate of providing access to all in a commercially viable manner. The analysis also shows that rather than a decision of the water utility the choice for pro poor strategies emerges as the result of a consensus or compromise between the different actors that constitute the broader institutional environment in which water utilities operate. The thesis concludes that while pro poor water services may serve the interests of water utilities and other stakeholders in the absence of well directed subsidies and proper monitoring they will not result in low income households benefiting from more affordable and reliable access to water.
Transnational Corporations in Urban Water Governance Joyce Valdovinos, 2021-08-14 This book examines the role played by business in urban water governance by analyzing the evolution of the global private water sector along with four public private partnerships in Mexico and the U S. The local nature of water services often hides the global developments behind the rise of transnational water corporations which have gone from being local operators to becoming dynamic and powerful actors within an interconnected transnational space for water. This book focuses on the French groups Veolia and Suez two of the most prominent private actors in global water governance and the development and adaptation strategies of both companies in the cities of Aguascalientes Mexico City Atlanta and Milwaukee over the past 30 years Drawing on over 100 interviews conducted with corporate executives public authorities and local users of water services this book moves beyond the simplistic dichotomy of the public private debate and develops a theoretical framework that analyzes the economic and political power wielded by transnational business actors in global water governance Not only does the book explain how Veolia and Suez strategically mobilize resources at difference scales in order to expand their global operations but it also provides a nuanced picture of how state regulation remains of central importance to understanding the dynamics and evolution of the global water sector Students and scholars interested in business and the environment including public private partnerships business management and transnational corporations and water governance will find this book of great interest as will professionals and policymakers working in these fields

Transforming Urban Water Supplies in India Govind Gopakumar, 2011-09-14 The absence of water supply infrastructure is a critical issue that affects the sustainability of cities in the developing world and the quality of life of millions of people living in these cities Urban India has probably the largest concentration of people in the world lacking safe access to these infrastructures This book is a unique study of the politics of water supply infrastructures in three metropolitan cities in contemporary India Bangalore Chennai and Kochi It examines the process of change in water supply infrastructure initiated by notable Public Private Partnership s efforts in these three cities to reveal the complexity of state society relations in India at multiple levels at the state city and neighbourhood levels Using a comparative methodology the book develops as understanding of the changes in the production of reform water policy in contemporary India and its reception at the sub national state level It goes on to examine the governance of regimes of water supply in Bangalore Chennai and Kochi and evaluates the role of the partnerships in reforming water supply The book is a useful contribution to studies on Urban Development and South Asian Politics Urban Water Governance in Postcolonial Zimbabwe Abraham R. Matamanda, Tazviona R. Gambe, Johannes I. Bhanye, Tafadzwa C. Maramura, Oratilwe Annastacia Khoza, 2025-09-04 This book focuses on urban water supply and governance in the Global South using urban Zimbabwe as a case study to provide insights and perspectives into the realities of the water governance Applying a resilience and sustainability perspective we argue that fragmentation of responsibilities between various institutions the difficulty of coordination at various levels and the politics centered on water supply constrain effective water governance in Zimbabwe This has resulted in a downward spiral in urban water services in Zimbabwe s urban centers Additionally the innovative nature of this study is to draw from an often neglected dimension in urban water governance which is the political ecology which brings into perspective the varying interests associated with environmental contests and conflicts that influence water allocation and sharing among urban areas by the public sector Therefore this book dwells on understanding the politics economic and ecology of water governance through an interdisciplinary lens This analysis is critical for this study because Zimbabwe s current state of obsolete water infrastructure has also had a negative impact on the supply of high quality portable water services to the public in urban areas This book will be a critical read for academic and professionals in the fields of urban geographers planners sociologists and water experts It will also be useful for undergraduate and postgraduate students from Geography Urban and regional Planning Political Science Development Studies and Economics Manual for Undertaking National Urban Assessments Asian Development Bank, 2016-11-01 Urbanization in Asia is expected to reach 55% by 2030 and 64% by 2050 to constitute 53% of the world s urban population and contribute half the world s gross domestic product But as cities swell they also struggle with environmental degradation traffic congestion inadequate urban infrastructure and lack of basic civic services This manual prepared by Urban Sector Group of the Asian Development Bank ADB provides guidelines for conducting rapid urban assessments It is guided by the Urban Operational Plan 2012 2020 which outlines ADB s support to its members in developing their urban economies through the 3E approach Economy Environment and Equity It presents a framework providing a context for the city level 3E tool kits Tool Kit for Rapid Economic Assessment Planning and Development of Cities in Asia Green City Development Tool Kit and Enabling Inclusive Cities Tool Kit for Inclusive Urban Development
