Domestic Political Change and Grand Strategy National Bureau of Asian Research (U.S.),2007 Based upon work supported by the Department of Energy National Nuclear Security Administration under Award Number DE FG52

03SF22724 Religion and Political Change in the Modern World Jeffrey Haynes,2015-09-07 The purpose of the book is to ascertain whether there is a generic impact that religion brings to bear on recent political changes in the modern world Over the last two decades or so there have been increasing numbers of political issues with which various manifestations of religion engage This impact is not restricted exclusively to countries in the developed or developing world Instead we seem to be seeing a widespread impact of religion on politics which defies earlier assumptions about secularisation This presumed that the more modern a country is then the less likely it is that religion will play a significant political role Recent evidence is however firmly to the contrary the degree of modernity in a country does not correspond well with the amount of religiosity in a country nor with the role that religion can play in politics The book focuses on the recent return of religion to politics It assesses how religion is involved in recent examples of political change in various countries including the impact of religion on democratization The book features both theoretical chapters and case studies The case studies examine different countries Israel Egypt Morocco and Iran and regions Sub Saharan Africa with a focus on Islam Judaism and Protestantism and Catholicism The overall aim is to get a sense of what is happening when religion and politics interact The chapters in this book were originally published in Democratization Crisis and Institutional Change in Regional Integration Sabine Saurugger,Fabien Terpan,2016-03-31 Comparative regional integration has met with increasing interest over the last twenty years with the emergence or reinforcing of new regional dynamics in the EU NAFTA MERCOSUR and ASEAN This volume systematically and comparatively analyses the reasons for regional integration and stalemate in European Latin American and Asian regional integration It examines whether regional integration systems change in crisis periods or more precisely in periods of economic crises and why they change in different directions Based on a neo institutionalist research framework and rigorously comparative research design the individual chapters analyse why financial and economic crises lead to more or less integrated systems and which factors lead to these institutional changes Specifically it addresses institutional change in regional integration schemes power relations between member states and the institutions in different policy domains and change in individual or collective citizens attitudes towards regional integration Adopting an actor centred approach the book highlights which regional integration schemes are influenced by economic and financial crises and how to explain this This text will be of key interest to scholars students and policy specialists in regional integration European Politics International Relations and Latin American and Asian studies Ibss: Political Science: 1988 British Library of Political and Economic Science,1992 This bibliography lists the most important works in political science published in 1988 The Paradox of Myanmar's Regime Change Roger Huang,2020-04-06 This book analyzes Myanmar s contemporary political history arguing that Myanmar's so called democratization has always been a calculated regime transition planned by the military with every intention that the military to remain the key permanent political actor in Myanmar's political regime. Using the period since Myanmar's regime change in 2011 as an extended case study this book offers an original theory of regime transition. The author argues that Myanmar's ongoing regime transition has not diverged from its authoritarian military roots and explains how the military has long planned its voluntary partial withdrawal from direct politics. Therefore Myanmar's disciplined democracy contains features of democratic politics but at its core remains authoritarian. Providing an original contribution to the theoretical literature on regime change by developing a theory of trial and error regime transition the book engages with and challenges the popular democratization theory by arguing that this theory does not sufficiently explain hybrid regimes or authoritarian durability. Additionally the book adds to an alternative understanding of how the regime transition was initiated by examining the historical evolution of Myanmar's post colonial regime and offers a fresh perspective on contemporary political developments in Myanmar. An important contribution to the study of authoritarian durability and the dynamics of regime change in Southeast Asia this book will be of interest to academic researchers of comparative politics international relations and Southeast Asian studies.

Non-Western Encounters with Democratization Christopher K. Lamont, Jan van der Harst, 2016-03-09. Non Western Encounters with Democratization offers diverse perspectives on democracy and transition spanning the Middle East and North Africa to East Asia. This unique collection of essays drawn from contextually rich case studies presents readers with a variety of non western encounters with democracy and provides important insights into the dramatic political and social transformations in these regions over the past decades. The book offers a deeper understanding of democratization and challenges the image of western democracy as a universal model to which non western societies aspire. Taking the events of the Arab Spring as the starting point international contributors look at why the uprisings that rapidly spread across North Africa and the Middle East had a strong resonance in East Asia but failed to inspire similar revolts. Through direct engagement with non western experiences of political transition the book demonstrates a unique coherence across two regions relatively under explored in democratization literature.

Economic Crisis and Political Change in North Africa Azzedine Layachi, 1998-10-28. A collective effort by American and North African scholars this volume provides a comprehensive analysis of recent economic social and political events in North Africa. It shows how the Maghrebi states and societies are currently at a very important junction as they try to adjust to different ways of doing things in new regional and international orders. Using a political economy approach the book focuses on a series of issues raised by the interaction between economic crisis and reform on the one hand and political change or stagnation on the other. The author and his contributors provide a comprehensive and up to date survey of particular value to scholars and researchers of the Arab world in general and North Africa in particular.

Understanding Modern East Asian Politics Christian Schafferer, 2005. East Asia has developed into one of the most promising regions This volume of essays by leading European Asian and American scholars provides a comprehensive look at the key themes relating to politics in East Asia today The contributors explore the formidable obstacles on the road to democratic consolidation in the region s new democracies and the prospects for democratic transitions among the region s remaining authoritarian polities The essays address issues of institutional design media reform electoral politics and religious movements
