Political Economy Of West African Agriculture:

The Political Economy of West African Agriculture Keith Hart, 1982-05-31 West Africa's agriculture has for 150 years been heavily geared toward export yet the region is one of the world's poorest Keith Hart examines this question focusing particularly on how this situation has affected the indigenous peoples of West Africa Commerce has grown impressively but productivity remains low and capital accumulation is retarded The reasons exist primarily in internal conditions shaping social institutions Before during and since colonialism the particular problems of these preindustrial states have shaped agricultural development more than the pressure supposedly emanating from the world system of international capitalism This book following the classical economists as well as Marx and Lenin argues for the necessity of rapid capitalist penetration into West African agriculture The book is also a readable introduction to the history and ethnography of the region as a whole

The State and Rural Class Formation in Ghana Piet Konings, 2018-10-24 First published in 1986 Africanists are nowadays devoting increasing attention to the role of the state both colonial and post colonial in the process of class formation in African societies The present study of the role of the state in the process of rural class formation in Ghana can be viewed as both an expression of the current interest in and an addition to the growing body of literature on this subject

Feeding African Cities Jane Guyer, 2018-08-06 Originally published in 1987 this book traces the broad outlines of urban food policy drawing attention to the limited knowledge of regional social history Urban food supply systems in Africa have developed very fast in the midst of societies in which food production was not in general oriented to feeding distant populations of specialist consumers Institutional and political links had to be forged between town and country if food supply was to be cheap and predictable This volume explores the political and material dynamics of urban food supply through 4 case studies Kano Yaound Dar es Salaam and Harare

Africa Patrick Chabal, 2013-04-04 The question usually asked about Africa is why is it going wrong Is the continent still suffering from the ravages of colonialism Or is it the victim of postcolonial economic exploitation poor governance and lack of aid Whatever the answer increasingly the result is poverty and violence In Africa

The Politics of Suffering and Smiling Patrick Chabal approaches this question differently by reconsidering the role of theory in African politics Chabal discusses the limitations of existing political theories of Africa and proposes a different starting point arguing that political thinking ought to be driven by the need to address the immediacy of everyday life and death How do people define who they are Where do they belong What do they believe How do they struggle to survive and improve their lives What is the impact of illness and poverty In doing so Chabal proposes a radically different way of looking at politics in Africa and illuminates the ways ordinary people suffer and smile This is a highly original addition to Zed's groundbreaking World Political Theories series Politics And Economic Development In Tom Forrest, 2019-09-11 Since the end of civil war in 1970 Nigeria has struggled to build a stronger federal center and to reduce conflicts that have arisen from uneven development and from ethnic regional class and religious differences This book provides a comprehensive account of the dynamic interplay between the political and economic forces that have shaped govern

The Economic Limits to Modern Politics John Dunn, 1992-07-31 The central problem of modern government and political action is how to choose and implement effective economic policies For this reason the economic considerations of public policy have assumed a more prominent place in contemporary political thought Despite efforts among political scientists economists and sociologists to fathom the complexities of this added dimension none of these solid sciences offers a satisfying approach to the problem This volume attempts to display the historical novelty and intellectual importance of this dilemma to uncover its origins and to procure a remedy through a clearer and steadier focus The book's contributors range from historians of ideas to economic theorists who bring the approach of their own intellectual discipline to bear upon the issue Agrarian Capitalism and the Development of the Coffee Industry in Colonial Zimbabwe Takesure Taringana, 2019-01-29 This book analyses the development of the coffee sector in colonial Zimbabwe within the broader context of agrarian capitalism in settler economies It unpacks the central philosophy of statecraft based on the desire to develop Southern Rhodesia as a permanent white settler colony The development of the coffee sector was designed to fulfil the objective of expanding economic opportunities for white settlers and to increase their incomes in order to inspire immigration and discourage emigration Expanded incomes were similarly vital in sponsoring the highly eulogised civilised standards of living The book casts the development of the coffee sector as an alternative prism through which the nature of the anatomy of colonial Zimbabwean political economy can be unpacked The book departs from the dominant macro approach in detailing the development of colonial Zimbabwean agrarian capitalism to the micro twist which analyses sector specificities important in enhancing our understanding of the Southern Rhodesian economy It will appeal to economic historians historians and political economists and explores various themes including labour marketing and the role of the state in allocating productive forces
