Political Ascent Contemporary Islamic Movements In North Africa:

Political Ascent Emad Eldin Shahin, 2018-02-23 Islamic movements in North Africa have historically been distinguished from their counterparts in other parts of the Arab world because they have demonstrated a marked willingness to work within the political system and have at times even been officially recognized and allowed to participate in local and national elections. As a result, Islamic thinkers from the Maghrib have produced important writing about the role of Islam and the state, democracy and nonviolent change. In this book, Emad Shahin offers a comparative analysis of the Islamic movements in Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco, exploring their formation and expansion in the late 1960s and the tenets of their ideology for social transformation. Islamic movements in North Africa have historically been distinguished from their counterparts in other parts of the Arab world because they have demonstrated a marked willingness to work within the political system and have at times even been officially recognized and allowed to participate in local and national elections. As a result, Islamic thinkers from the Maghrib have produced important writing about the role of Islam and the state, democracy and nonviolent change. In this book, Emad Shahin offers a comparative analysis of the Islamic movements in Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco, exploring the roots of their development, the nature of their dynamics and the tenets of their ideology. He argues that the formation and expansion of Islamic movements since the late 1960s has come in response to the marginalization of Islam in state and society and to a perceived failure of imported models of development to resolve socioeconomic problems or to incorporate the Muslim belief system into a workable plan for social transformation.

Rethinking Islamist Politics Salwa Ismail, 2006-05-26 In an atmosphere of growing concern over the threat posed by Islamist violence, political Islamism has become the most important of geopolitical issues. In the process, it has been misrepresented. Contrary to what many believe, Islamist movements are characterised by their diversity. Revisiting the main arguments and explanations that have been used over the past twenty years to understand Islamist activism, moderate as well as militant, Salwa Ismail here proposes a rethinking of Islamist politics. The phenomenon of political Islam is determined by macro and micro level changes in the Muslim world, such as the retreat of the welfare state across the Middle East and the subsequent expansion in the role of informal political activists in the popular neighbourhoods of such cities as Algiers or Cairo. Ismail examines both levels to explain the socio-economic and political settings out of which Islamism has developed. Her focus is both the economic and political environments that fomented Islamism and the structures of Islamist movements themselves, from their ideologies to their modes of action. Looking at Islamism as a form of contestation politics, Ismail offers a reassessment of its failures and successes, limited as it is by its use of violence but capable of real mobilisation at a popular level. Rethinking Islamist Politics will be vital reading for anyone seeking to understand such spectacular expressions of Islamism as the September 11th attacks but also the everyday struggles of ordinary people which Islamism embodies.

Shari'a and the Constitution in Contemporary Legal Models Federico Lorenzo Ramaioli, 2024-03-23 This comparative law book aims at formulating a new analytical approach to constitutional comparisons assuming as a starting point the different legal perspectives implied in the Sunni Islamic outlook on the juridical phenomena and the Western concept of law with particular reference to constitutionalism The volume adopts a wider and comprehensive viewpoint comparing the different ways in which the Islamic shar'a and Western legal categories interact regardless of substantive contents of specific provisions thus avoiding conceptual biases that can sometime affect present literature on the matter The book explores the various dynamics subtended to the interactions between shar'a and Western constitutionalism providing a new classification to the different contemporary models The philosophical and legal comparisons are analyzed in a dynamic way based on a wide range of contemporary constitutional systems virtually encompassing all the States in which Sunni Islam plays a major cultural role and taking also into consideration non State actors and non recognized actors Published in cooperation with gLAWcal Global Law Initiatives for Sustainable Development Hornchurch Essex United Kingdom

Religion in International Relations Theory Nukhet Sandal, Jonathan Fox, 2013-06-19 There is a growing realization among international relations scholars and practitioners that religion is a critical factor in global politics The Iranian Revolution the September 11 attacks the ethno religious conflicts such as the ones in the former Yugoslavia and Sri Lanka are among the many reasons for this increased focus on religion in international affairs The rise of religious political parties across the world ranging from the Christian Democrats in Europe to Bharatiya Janata Party in India similarly illustrated religion's heightened international profile Despite all this attention it is challenging to situate religion within a discipline which has been dominantly secular from its inception Only a few existent works have ventured to integrate religion into core international relations theories such as Classical Realism Neorealism Neoliberalism Constructivism and the English school This work is the first systematic attempt to comparatively assess the place of religion in the aforementioned theoretical strands of international relations with contemporary examples from around the world Written in an accessible and systematic fashion this book will be an important addition to the fields of both religion and international relations Nukhet A Sandal is Assistant Professor in the Political Science Department at Ohio University Jonathan Fox is Professor in the Department of Political Studies at Bar Ilan University Israel
