Political Development And The New Realism In Sub Saharan Africa:

Political Development and the New Realism in Sub-Saharan Africa David Ernest Apter, Carl Gustav Rosberg, 1994 Since the 1950s David Apter and Carl Rosenberg have been among the leading American scholars in African Studies In this volume they along with other major specialists in the field explore the new configurations of African politics With tentative efforts at a revival of democracy now taking place it seems appropriate to reassess the theoretical debates and empirical themes that have characterized postwar Sub Saharan African politics Focusing on new realism that has emerged among Africanists since the dismantling of colonial rule the essays are presented as a corrective both to the initial euphoria informing African studies and to the later tendency to place blame for all Africa's political and economic difficulties on the receding specter of colonial oppression

The International Relations of Sub-Saharan Africa Ian Taylor, 2010-04-01 This title examines Sub Saharan Africa's relations with states such as the US India China the EU and Britain as well as with non state actors The International Relations of Sub Saharan Africa is an in depth examination Africa's place in global politics The book provides a comprehensive and critical appraisal of the ways in which peace prosperity and democracy are being advanced or restricted by the activities of the great powers in Africa including non state actors as well as who benefits from these policies and who does not The book is a needed comparative study of the role of great powers and new actors such as China and India in Africa within the wider context of neo liberal hegemony It fills a gap in the literature and will be of interest to any student of the continent Its focus on external actors contributes to providing a fuller picture of Africa's place in the global political economy and how the continent interacts with the rest of the world This is an essential work for anyone researching issues in international relations comparative foreign policies and African politics

Africa's Challenge to International Relations Theory K. Dunn, T. Shaw, 2001-02-20 Africa has been noticeably absent in international relations theory This new collection of essays by contemporary Africanists convincingly demonstrates the importance of the continent to every theoretical approach in international relations This collection breaks new ground in how we think about both international relations and Africa re examining such foundational concepts as sovereignty the state and power critically investigating the salience of realism neo liberalism liberalism in Africa and providing new thinking about regionalism security and identity

The Politics of Patronage in Africa Roger K. Tangri, 1999 This is a survey of the influence of political factors on economic performance throughout Africa with case studies drawn from Ghana Zambia and Uganda It is a comparative study of the difficulties in developing a private enterprise economy

International Development and the Social Sciences Frederick Cooper, Randall M. Packard, 1997 This superb collection assembles a number of stimulating and theoretically current contributions by outstanding scholars Angelique Haugerud author of The Culture of Politics in Modern Kenya

Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions John James Quinn, 2015-12-30 Global Geopolitical Power and African Political and Economic Institutions When Elephants Fight describes the emergence and nature of the prevailing African political and economic institutions in two periods In the first most countries adopted political and economic institutions that funneled significant levels of political and economic power to the political elites usually through one or no party military political systems inward oriented development policies and or state led and often state owned industrialization In the second period most countries adopted institutions that diluted the overarching political and economic power of ruling elites through the adoption of de jure multiparty electoral systems more outward oriented trade policies and the privatization of many state owned or controlled sectors though significant political and economic power remains in their hands The choices made in each period were consistent with prevailing ideas on governance and development the self interests of political elites and the perceived availability of support or autonomy vis vis domestic regional and international sources of power at the time This book illustrates how these two region wide shifts in prevailing political and economic institutions and practices of Africa can be linked to two prior global geopolitical realignments the end of WWII with the ensuing American and Soviet led bipolar system and the end of the Cold War with American primacy Each period featured changed or newly empowered international and regional leaders with competing national priorities within new intellectual and geopolitical climates altering the opportunities and constraints for African leaders in instituting or maintaining particular political and economic institutions or practices The economic and political institutions of Africa that emerged did so as a result of a complex mix of contending domestic regional and international forces material and intellectual all which were themselves greatly transformed in the wake of these two global geopolitical realignments

African Intellectuals and Decolonization Nicholas M. Creary, 2012-10-04 Decades after independence for most African states the struggle for decolonization is still incomplete as demonstrated by the fact that Africa remains associated in many Western minds with chaos illness and disorder African and non African scholars alike still struggle to establish the idea of African humanity in all its diversity and to move Africa beyond its historical role as the foil to the West As this book shows Africa s decolonization is an ongoing process across a range of fronts and intellectuals both African and non African have significant roles to play in that process The essays collected here examine issues such as representation and retrospection the roles of intellectuals in the public sphere and the fundamental question of how to decolonize African knowledges African Intellectuals and Decolonization outlines ways in which intellectual practice can serve to de link Africa from its global representation as a debased subordinated deviant and inferior entity Contributors Lesley Cowling University of the Witwatersrand Nicholas M Creary University at Albany Marlene De La Cruz Ohio University Carolyn Hamilton University of Cape Town George Hartley Ohio University Janet Hess Sonoma State University T Spreelin McDonald Ohio University Ebenezer Adebisi Olawuyi University of Ibadan Steve Odero Ouma University of Nairobi Oyeronke Oyewumi State University of New York at Stony Brook Tsenay Serequeberhan Morgan State University Comparing Apples and Mangoes S. N. Sangmpam, 2012-02-01 Two competing approaches currently dominate the debate about the state and institutions in developing countries The first projects a picture of transnational vertical uniformity descending from the West to developing countries and views liberal democracy as the only game in town In this view the state and institutions resemble or ought to resemble those in the West The second by contrast explains political outcomes by local idiosyncrasies and regional variations in institutions In his original approach to third world politics S N Sangmpam challenges both views by uncovering important similarities in the political features of developing countries He shows that they share political behaviors and features unaccounted for in either local idiosyncratic or liberal democratic theories These behaviors converge toward a common property overpoliticization that defies political compromise leading to an overpoliticized state Sangmpam provides a wealth of empirical historical and quantitative evidence from Latin America Asia Africa and the West and demonstrates the overpoliticized state constitutes the cornerstone of an integrated theory of politics in developing countries Mipes;Econ Lib Democ Civil Soci NA NA,2016-04-30 This 12 country comparative volume examines the impact of economic structural adjustment programs upon grassroots civil associations and the implications for political liberalization and democratization in the developing countries of Latin America Africa Asia and the Middle East The authors take an in depth look at the impact of economic reform upon women s groups human rights organizations social welfare non governmental organizations unions and business associations They challenge the prevailing assumption that economic reform will automatically lead to greater democratization Special Bibliography Series ,1957
