The Making and Unmaking of the Haya Lived World Brad Weiss, 1996 At the center of this subtle ethnographic account of the Haya communities of Northwest Tanzania is the idea of a lived world as both the product and the producer of everyday practices Drawing on his experience living with the Haya Brad Weiss explores Haya ways of constructing and inhabiting their community and examines the forces that shape and transform these practices over time In particular he shows how the Haya a group at the fringe of the global economy have responded to the processes and material aspects of money markets and commodities as they make and remake their place in a changing world Grounded in a richly detailed ethnography of Haya practice Weiss s analysis considers the symbolic qualities and values embedded in goods and transactions across a wide range of cultural activity agricultural practice and food preparation the body s experience of epidemic disease from AIDS to the infant affliction of plastic teeth and long standing forms of social movement and migration Weiss emphasizes how Haya images of consumption describe the relationship between their local community and the global economy Throughout he demonstrates that particular commodities and more general market processes are always material and meaningful forces with the potential for creativity as well as disruption in Haya social life By calling attention to the productive dimensions of this spatial and temporal world his work

highlights the importance of human agency in not only the Haya but any sociocultural order Offering a significant contribution to the anthropological theories of practice embodiment and agency and enriching our understanding of the lives of a rural African people The Making and Unmaking of the Haya Lived World will interest historians anthropologists ethnographers and scholars of cultural studies Making Sense of Marx Jon Elster, 1985-05-09 A critical examination of the social theories of Karl Marx The State and Rural Class Formation in Ghana Piet Konings, 2018-10-24 First published in 1986 Africanists are nowadays devoting increasing attention to the role of the state both colonial and post colonial in the process of class formation in African societies The present study of the role of the state in the process of rural class formation in Ghana can be viewed as both an expression of the current interest in and an addition to the growing body of literature on this subject The Micro-Politics of Capital Jason Read, 2012-02-01 What is the relation between the economy or the mode of production and culture beliefs and desires How is it possible to think of these relations without reducing one to the other or effacing one for the sake of the other To answer these questions The Micro Politics of Capital re reads Marx in light of the contemporary critical interrogations of subjectivity in the works of Althusser Deleuze Guattari Foucault and Negri Jason Read suggests that what characterizes contemporary capitalism is the intimate intersection of the production of commodities with the production of desire beliefs and knowledge Crisis and Neoliberal Reforms in Africa Piet Konings, 2011 This book discusses the social and political consequences of the economic and financial crisis that befell African economies since the 1980s using as case study the plantation economy of the Anglophone region of Cameroon The focus is thus on recent efforts to liberalize and privatize an agro industrial enterprise where overseas capital and its domestic partners have converged the consequent modes of production and labour and the alternatives proposed and resistance generated The study details how the unprecedented crisis caused great commotion in the region and presented a serious challenge to existing theories on plantation production and capital accumulation The crisis resulted in the introduction of a number of neoliberal economic reforms including the withdrawal of state intervention and the restructuring liquidation and privatisation of the major agro industrial enterprises These reforms in turn had severe consequences for several civil society groups and their organisations that had a direct stake in the regional plantation economy notably the regional elite chiefs plantation workers and contract farmers On the basis of extensive research in the Anglophone Cameroon region Konings shows that these civil society groups have never resigned themselves to their fate but have been actively involved in a variety of formal and informal modes of resistance Deleuze and Politics Ian Buchanan, 2008-05-20 This volume in the Deleuze Connections series debates and extends Deleuze s political thought through engagement with contemporary political events and concepts Against recent critique of Deleuze as a non political thinker this book explores the specific innovations and interventions that Deleuze s profoundly political concepts bring to political thought and practice The contributors use Deleuze s dynamic theoretical apparatus to engage with contemporary political problems themes and possibilities including micropolitics cynicism war

Service Workers in the Era of Monopoly Capital Fabian van Onzen, 2021-10-11 In Service Workers in the Era of Monopoly Capital Fabian van Onzen uses Marxist theory to analyse the process by which service and retail workers are exploited by the capitalist class. His analysis takes us through the primary concepts of Marxism: surplus value, commodity form, etc. and demonstrates their relevance for understanding the service industry. The book reveals that service and retail workers, shop employees, cleaners, hospitality workers, are integral to the capitalist system and have significant power to transform society if organised properly. Van Onzen argues that the key to ending the exploitation of service workers is through the socialist transformation of society. The book contains an examination of what service work will be like under socialism and provides examples of how former socialist countries changed the nature of service labour. Service Workers in the Era of Monopoly Capital is an important addition to Marxist theory which is still somewhat lacking in detailed accounts of the service and retail industry.

Capitalist World Development Stuart Corbridge, 1986 Corbridge provides a fascinating review of the conflict of interest between metropolitan capitalism and the development of the periphery of the modern world system.

How Revolutionary Were the Bourgeois Revolutions? Neil Davidson, 2012-07-24 An impressive contribution both to the history of ideas and to political philosophy. Alasdair MacIntyre, author of After Virtue, once of central importance to left historians and activists alike, recently the concept of the bourgeois revolution has come in for sustained criticism from both Marxists and conservatives. In this magisterial work, Neil Davidson offers theoretical and historical insights about the nature of revolutions. Through extensive research and comprehensive analysis, Davidson demonstrates that what is at stake is far from a stale issue for the history books; understanding that these struggles of the past offer far-reaching lessons for today's radicals. A monumental work, Neil Davidson has given us what is easily the most comprehensive account yet of the life and times of the concept of bourgeois revolution and has also provided us with a refined set of theoretical tools for understanding the often complex interactions between political revolutions which overturn state institutions and social revolutions which involve a more thoroughgoing transformation of social relations. Colin Mooers, author of The Making of Bourgeois Europe, Davidson's book is one of immense and impressive erudition. His knowledge of the history of Marxist theory and historiography is as detailed as it is comprehensive and must be well nigh unrivalled. The endless complex debates that characterize the Marxist tradition are distilled with clarity and illumination. Times Literary Supplement. A brilliant and fascinating book, wide-ranging and lucidly written.

Karl Marx, Anthropologist Thomas C. Patterson, 2020-05-31 After being widely rejected in the late 20th century, the work of Karl Marx is now being reassessed by many theorists and activists. Karl Marx Anthropologist explores how this most influential of modern thinkers is still highly relevant for Anthropology today. Marx was profoundly influenced by critical Enlightenment thought. He believed that humans were social individuals that simultaneously satisfied and forged their needs in the contexts of historically particular social relations and created cultures.

Marx continually refined the empirical philosophical and practical dimensions of his anthropology throughout his lifetime. Assessing key concepts from the differences between class based and classless societies to the roles of exploitation, alienation and domination in the making of social individuals, Karl Marx Anthropologist is an essential guide to Marx's anthropological thought for the 21st century.

Transforming Capitalism and Patriarchy April A. Gordon, 1996. Gordon analyzes the interplay between capitalism, development and the status of African women. Drawing on the work of both African and Western researchers, she shows that capitalist development projects have mainly benefited a small stratum of African elites and proposes concrete strategies for making it more equitable for women.

The State, Industrialization and Class Formations in India Anupam Sen, 2017-04-07. The purpose of this book, first published in 1982, is to probe the nature of the state in India and the role played by it in the evolution of the social economy, particularly in the growth of industry. In fact, the problematic of the state and its relationship with socio-economic progression or regression is a dialectic process. Critical Perspectives on Agrarian Transition B. B. Mohanty, 2016-01-29. This book evaluates the relevance of classical debates on agrarian transition and extends the horizon of contemporary debates in the Indian context, linking national trends with regional experiences. It identifies new dynamics in agrarian political economy and presents a comprehensive account of diverse aspects of capitalist transition, both at theoretical and empirical levels. The essays discuss several neglected domains in agricultural economics such as discursive dimensions of agrarian relations and limitations of stereotypical binaries between capital and non-capital, rural and urban sectors, agriculture and industry, accumulation and subsistence. With contributions from major scholars in the field, this volume will be useful to scholars and researchers of agriculture, economics, political economy, sociology, rural development and development studies.
