Saracen Island The Poems Of Andreas Karavis:

Saracen Island David Solway,2000 Andreas Karavis has been called Greece's modern Homer This is the first time that his work has appeared in English except for a poem in the Atlantic Monthly October 1999 and a selection of poems which appeared with a feature article and interview in Books in Canada October 1999 Andreas Karavis was born in 1932 His first book White Poems appeared in 1965 His second volume The Dream Masters was published in 1989 and rapidly established Karavis as one of the most magisterial and patristic poetry voices in the history of modern Greek literature The title poem generally considered to be Karavis signature work is included in almost every recent anthology and is a staple in university courses This Is Not a Hoax Heather Jessup,2019-11-06 This Is Not a Hoax shows how the work of some contemporary artists and writers intentionally disrupts the curatorial and authorial practices of the country's most respected cultural institutions art galleries museums and book publishers This first ever study of contemporary Canadian hoaxes in visual art and literature asks why we trust authority in artistic works and how that trust is manifest This book claims that hoaxes far from being merely lies meant to deceive or wound may exert a positive influence Through their insistent disobedience they assist viewers and readers in re-examining unquestioned institutional trust habituated cultural hierarchies and the deeply inscribed racism and sexism of Canada's settler colonial history Through its attentive look at hoaxical works by Canadian artists Iris H ussler Brian Jungen and Rebecca Belmore photographer Jeff Wall and writers and translators David Solway and Erin Mour this book celebrates the surprising ways hoaxes call attention to human capacities for flexibility adaptation and resilience in a cultural moment when radical empathy and imagination is critically needed Text, Lies and Cataloging Jana Brubaker,2018-07-09 What do James Frey's A Million Little Pieces Margaret B Jones Love and Consequence and Wanda Koolmatrie's My Own Sweet Time have in common None of these popular books are what they appear to be Frey's fraudulent drug addiction memoir was really a semi-fictional novel Jones chronicle of her life in a street gang was a complete fabrication and Koolmatrie was not an Aboriginal woman removed from her family as a child as in her seemingly autobiographical account but rather a white taxi driver named Leon Carmen Deceptive literary works mislead readers and present librarians with a dilemma Whether making recommendations to patrons or creating catalog records objectivity and accuracy are crucial and can be difficult when a book's authorship or veracity is in doubt This informative and entertaining study addresses ethical considerations for deceptive works and proposes cataloging solutions that are provocative and designed to spark debate An extensive annotated bibliography describes books that are not what they seem International Who's Who in Poetry 2005 Europa Publications,2004 Provides up to date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets David Solway Carmine Starnino,2001 In recent years David Solway's groundbreaking trio of critical books have earned him a reputation as a thinker and prose writer of considerable erudition He now emerges into the 21st century as a Canadian poet of major stature The Lover's Progress David Solway,Marion Wagschal,2001 Between 1733 and 1735 William Hogarth produced a series of paintings and engravings under the title of A Rake's Progress which became perhaps his best known and most admired work. In this sequence he told a story of a young parvenu who having inherited a fortune resolves to emulate the stereotypical profligate and arranges his life according to the standard formula. When the dust settles we are left with a cautionary tale curiously neutralized to some extent by an extraordinary profusion of choreographic detail and an astonishing technical virtuosity compelling delight and approval or possibly resistance in the aesthetic rather than the moral dimension. Motivated by Hogarth's example David Solway tells the story of a representative figure a lover of our own anarchic era which is in some ways very similar to the dissolute and ostentatious period the painter anatomized. Solway has equipped the lover with a sketchy CV he is an inveterate traveller or perhaps cruiser is a better word and diarist with an introspective bent but he is also a confirmed voluptuary prone to distraction and not without a streak of coarseness in his nature. Illustrations detailing critical moments in the lover's career have been contributed by renowned Montreal artist Marion Wagschal.

Burdens of Proof Susanna Egan, 2011-04-20 Autobiographical impostures once they come to light appear to us as outrageous scandalous. They confuse lived and textual identity the person in the world and the character in the text and call into question what we believe what we doubt and how we receive information. In the process they tell us a lot about cultural norms and anxieties. Burdens of Proof Faith Doubt and Identity in Autobiography examines a broad range of impostures in the United States Canada and Europe and asks about each one: Why this particular imposture? Why here and now? Susanna Egan's historical survey of texts from early Christendom to the nineteenth century provides an understanding of the author in relation to the text and shows how plagiarism and other false claims have not always been regarded as the frauds we consider them today. She then explores the role of the media in the creation of much contemporary imposture examining in particular the cases of Jumana Hanna Norma Khouri and James Frey. The book also addresses ethnic imposture deliberate fictions plagiarism and ghostwriting all of which raise moral legal historical and cultural issues. Egan concludes the volume with an examination of how historiography and law failed to support the identities of European Jews during World War II creating sufficient instability in Jewish identity and doubt about Jewish wartime experience that the impostor could step in. This textual erasure of the Jews of Europe and the refashioning of their experiences in fraudulent texts are examples of imposture as an outcrop of extreme identity crisis. The first to examine these issues in North America and Europe Burdens of Proof will be of interest to scholars of life writing and cultural studies.

Franklin's Passage David Solway, 2003 They must have decided to return to the ship despite the flaming sword of the never setting the dark sword of the never rising sun. Same old story. The way back into the garden is also the way into the realm of the minerals. In the end what we are looking for will find us. Living must be your whole occupation the poet wrote. He got it right. No he got it half right. Based upon the various conflicting accounts of John Franklin's calamitous attempt to complete and map the Northwest Passage Franklin's Passage takes as its starting point a series of rhetorical questions posed by Henry David Thoreau in Walden: Is not our own interior white on the chart Is it a North West passage around this continent that we would find Are these the problems which most concern mankind Is Franklin the only man who is lost David Solway explores the concepts of narrative parable and allegory treating the failed Expedition as an unfolding text in which the human adventure is subsumed and recorded introducing the Expedition as a mirror in which the soul may see itself Translating Montreal Sherry Simon, 2006-10-10 Translating Montreal follows the trajectories of adventurous cultural translators such as Malcolm Reid F R Scott and A M Klein pioneers of the 1950s and 1960s Pierre Anctil whose translations from Yiddish to French are emblematic of the dramatic reroutings now occurring across the Montreal landscape and contemporary writer translators such as Gail Scott Erin Mour Jacques Brault Michel Garneau Nicole Brossard and Emile Ollivier Simon argues that translation is a dynamic and subtle tool for analysing cultural contact An original take on cultural relations in the city Translating Montreal explores the emergence of the new Montrealer No longer Franco Qu b cois Anglo Qu b cois immigrant or ethnic the new Montrealer is a citizen of a mixed and cosmopolitan city An Andreas Karavis Companion David Solway, 2000 Drawing on his friendship with Karavis David Solway has leavened the critical commentary and biographical background with a selection of letters and extracts from the notebooks of this enigmatic Greek poet Includes never before published new poems Karavis has sent to Solway The works and days of Andreas Karavis together constitute a rare phenomenon in the cultural life of contemporary Greece A poet who was largely unknown until the late eighties working indefatigably but in almost total obscurity from youth to later middle age he suddenly finds himself in the public eye as a powerful but enigmatic presence yet his life remains an almost impenetrable secret Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index , 1975 International Who's Who in Poetry 2004 Europa Publications, 2003 Provides up to date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets The Pallikari of Nesmine Rifat David Solway, 2004 In this sensuously defiant collection of new poems the winner of the 2004 Grand Prix du Livre de Montr al expands and deepens a poetic ruse In his critically acclaimed collections Saracen Island and Companion David Solway took on the voice of a fictitious Greek poet named Andreas Karavis The poems of these earlier two books were so artful and refreshingly immediate that many readers were convinced that they were authentic translations from the Greek For The Pallikari of Nesmine Rifat a new book of ostensible translations Solway adopts the persona of Karavis s spurned lover Turkish Cypriot poet Nesmine Rifat and explores the aftermath of one of Karavis s love affairs Lushly sexual and sparkling with wit and intelligence these passionate lyrics take the form of undelivered letters written by Rifat in the wake of Karavis s desertion and his eventual marriage to her rival Anna Zoumi Solway portrays with subtlety and sensitivity a powerful woman and gifted poet undergoing a turbulent emotional journey Moving from wrath and arrogant disdain through bitterness and grief to an acceptance of the love she cannot subdue his female poet grows in both strength and art As an intimate record of one woman s anguish The Pallikari of Nesmine Rifat is a remarkable achievement even more so when one recalls that the author is actually a man University of Toronto Quarterly University of Toronto, 1895 International

The Malahat Review, 2003 The Fiddlehead, 2000 36 Cornelian Avenue Christopher Wiseman, 2008 For his tenth collection 36 Cornelian Avenue Christopher Wiseman returns to his wartime childhood in England and revisits the streets shore and woods that belonged to the resort town of Scarborough where his father away fighting he and his mother lived In clear quick moving colloquial poetry Wiseman explores how the Second World War affected his neighbours turning some into curmudgeons others into compassionate heroes and how the experience toughened the frightened women and children into survivors waiting for their men to come home Part novel part memoir part passionate recollection 36 Cornelian Avenue presents these townspeople often in their own words as they were then caught in the heartbreaking hardship of those years Mines on the beach air attacks hostile neighbours and cruel school teachers are among the many vivid brilliantly textured memories recreated in this book the most astonishing Wiseman has ever written

The Empire's Missing Links Walid Bitar, 2008 The Empire's Missing Links explores a world familiar to readers of Walid Bitar's previous three books a world where language is never simple where the most ordinary words are weapons used against us in the play for private and public power Resembling a series of unflinchingly ambivalent and often jarringly enigmatic history lessons Bitar's new poems are rich in original observations about our contemporary unease The effect in the end is of a single wandering monologue its 21st century sense of crisis encoded in unpredictable quatrains whose evasiveness is always in step with lapidary plainness and metaphorical surprise The Empire's Missing Links is Bitar's darkest most daring book yet

Mountain Tea Peter Van Toorn, 2003 This revised edition of a landmark collection of poems nominated for the 1984 Governor General's Award for Poetry showcases the exhilarating work of a unique Canadian literary talent
