Genealogical and Personal Memoirs William Richard Cutter,2000 Women's Health Judith A. Lewis,Judith Bernstein,1996 This book provides an integrated multidisciplinary approach to women s health

Historical sociocultural psychological and biophysiological aspects of women's development are woven together to provide a complete women-centered perspective of health. While several excellent books in print provide information on diagnosis and treatment of women and address women's growth and development, Lewis and Bernstein strive to fill a void by marrying these perspectives. The book also offers a thorough investigation into the life cycle of women and the roles of women as individuals and members of their communities and cultures. Lynching in the New South W. Fitzhugh

Brundage, 2022-08-15 Lynching was a national crime, but it obsessed the South. W. Fitzhugh Brundage's multidisciplinary approach to the complex nature of lynching delves into the such extrajudicial murders in two states: Virginia, the southern state with the fewest lynchings, and Georgia, where 460 lynchings made the state a measure of race relations in the Deep South. Brundage's analysis addresses three central questions: How can we explain variations in lynching over regions and time periods? To what extent was lynching a social ritual that affirmed traditional white values and white supremacy? And what were the causes of the decline of lynching at the end of the 1920s? A groundbreaking study, Lynching in the New South is a classic portrait of the tradition of violence that poisoned American life.
