Schooling And Work In The Democratic State:

Schooling and Work in the Democratic State Martin Carnoy, Henry Levin, 1985-06-01 A new explanation of the relation between schooling and work in the democratic advanced industrial state emerges from this study that rejects both traditional views and the more recent Marxian perspective Traditional views consider schools as autonomous institutions that are able to pursue the goals of equality and social mobility irrespective of the inequalities of capitalist society the Marxian perspective views schools as serving the role of producing wage labor for capitalistic exploitation The authors suggest that the shortcomings of both views are rooted in the fact that they do not recognize the true functions of the democratic capitalist state The state is seen as an arena for struggle between forces pushing for egalitarian democratic reforms and those seeking to use the resources of the state for private capital accumulation Depending on which side has primacy at the moment schools will reflect one set of goals over the other However victory is never complete and the tide of battle has shifted back and forth historically The authors develop this theory through interpreting the dynamic relation between U S schools and the workplace Based on this approach they predict changes in both schooling and work as well as the forms that future conflicts between the contending forces are likely to take

Democracy, Education, and Multiculturalism Carlos Alberto Torres, 1998-10-29 This important book looks at developments that are changing our understanding of the role of education in citizenship and the possibilities of democratic participation The first chapter reviews theories of citizenship and education based on the classical contributions to political theory of C B MacPherson and T H Marshall The second chapter challenges educators to think more politically about education It is based on a seminal analysis that shows the role education plays in the liberal neoliberal and neoconservative state incorporating critical perspectives from neo Marxism postmodernism and feminism In chapter three Professor Torres analyzes the transition from the welfare state to the neoliberal state including the role of international organizations in promoting educational reform and privatization policies In the concluding chapter Torres draws on Hobbes Locke Jefferson Kant Hegel Marx and other writers such as C Mouffe and C Pateman to outline contemporary approaches to multiculturalism in education and citizenship

Organized Sunday School Work in North America, 1918-1922 Herbert Heebner Smith,1922 Education, Power, and Personal Biography Carlos Torres Alberto,1997-12-03 In dialogues with eleven key thinkers in the area of critical education this book documents how a tradition of study grew in the United States Through in depth interviews these thinkers talk about their personal experiences and their work How Schools Meet Students' Needs Katie Kerstetter,2022-11-14 Meeting students basic needs including ensuring they have access to nutritious meals and a sense of belonging and connection to school can positively influence students academic performance Recognizing this connection schools provide resources in the form of school meals programs school nurses and school guidance counselors However these resources are not always available to students and are not always prioritized in school reform policies which tend to focus more narrowly on academic learning This book is about the balancing act that schools and their teachers undertake to respond to the social emotional and material needs of their students in the context of standardized testing and accountability policies Drawing on conversations with teachers and classroom observations in two elementary schools How Schools Meet Students Needs explores the factors that both enable and constrain teachers in their efforts to meet students needs and the consequences of how schools organize this work on teachers labor and students learning Power and Responsibility in Education Keith Watson,1996-12-05 This study by more than 130 contributors assesses the moves to decentralize educational administration The text contains overviews by individual authors and joint papers forming dialogues between different academic contenders It provides a survey of educational policies and planning and an analysis of the changes in England and Wales Curriculum control privatization and leadership issues are also debated This book is one of four volumes which consider the educational dilemmas facing governments professional educators and practising administrators in the current educational climate The issues are addressed from international and comparative perspectives Teachers and Texts Michael W. Apple,2021-12-16 First published in 1987 this research provides insight on the political economy of schooling and includes an analysis of power as they operate both within and outside of schools in the construction of class and gender relations This is part of a series of volumes that have begun to enquire into the relationship between the curriculum and teaching that is found in our formal institutions of education and unequal power in society Politics of Classroom Life Nobuo K.

Shimahara,2014-04-08 The growing economic competition among the world s industrialized and developing nations has spurred comparisons and examinations of national school systems An important aspect of any school system is school and classroom management which is an indicator of the ultimate goals that a nation has for its future workers In this volume international scholars examine the daily life of elementary school classrooms in six nations with complex economies an international presence and salient minority and immigrant populations These original essays analyze contemporary classroom management practices and policies as well as their historical and theoretical frameworks Integrating Service

Learning and Multicultural Education in Colleges and Universities Carolyn R. O'Grady,2014-04-08 The focus of this book is on the ways in which service learning and multicultural education can and should be integrated so that each may be strengthened and consequently have greater effect on educational and social conditions It offers a significant attempt to forge a dialogue among practitioners of service learning and multicultural education The overriding theme is that service learning without a focused attention to the complexity of racial and cultural differences can reinforce the dominant cultural ideology but academic work that seeks to deconstruct these norms without providing a community based touchstone isolates students and schools from the realities of the larger communities of which they are part Although the chapter authors provide varied perspectives on the benefits and challenges of integrating multicultural education and service learning they all are committed to a vision of education that synthesizes both action and reflection None of the authors pretend to have all the answers to what this integration should look like nor do they believe that today s social problems are easily ameliorated through education Rather they share theories practices failures and triumphs in order to further the conversation about the importance of aligning what educators say about the world and how they act in and on it These authors share the view that multicultural education is truly transformative for students only when it includes a community action component and likewise service learning is truly a catalyst for change only when it is done from a multicultural and socially just perspective It is their hope that the ideas explored in this book will further the work of those who share a commitment to the integration of action and reflection American Education and Corporations

Deron Boyles,2018-10-09 Originally published in 1998 American Education and Corporations provides a detailed study of the effects of commercialisation on the public school system The book provides a powerful indictment of corporate culture and its influence on American public schooling within a clear theoretical framework The book looks at the threat of corporate culture to public education and advocates an understanding of the democratic importance of schooling as a public good Building Democracy through Education on Diversity

administrators community organizers and students who have lived together in a third space urban teacher residency program in Newark as they reinvent math and science teaching and teacher education through the lens of inquiry Each chapter includes narratives from multiple perspectives as well as tools we have used within the program to support and build change providing readers with both real cases of how an urban teacher residency can impact school systems and concrete tools and examples to help the reader understand and replicate aspects of the process Capturing both the successes but also the tensions and challenges we offer a kaleidoscopic view of the rich complex and multi layered ways in which multiple stakeholders work together to make enduring educational change in urban schools Our third space NMUTR has been a fragile utopian enterprise one that has relied on a shared commitment of all involved and a deep sense of hope that working collaboratively has the potential even if not perfect to make a difference
