Science In The Locality:

Science in the Locality Arthur Jennings, 1986 The author stresses the importance of linking the science education in secondary schools to the types of science encountered at home work and in further education The Philippine Journal of Science ,1926 A memorial number was issued with v 7 U- and E-Service, Science and Technology Tai-hoon Kim, Hojjat Adeli, Jianhua Ma, Wai-chi Fang, Byeong-Ho Kang, Byungjoo Park, Frode Eika Sandnes, Kun Chang Lee, 2011-12-03 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the International Conference UNESST 2011 held as Part of the Future Generation Information Technology Conference FGIT 2011 Jeju Island Korea in December 2011 The papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions and focus on the various aspects of u and e service science and technology Islamic Science and the Making of the European Renaissance George Saliba, 2007 The Islamic scientific tradition has been described many times in accounts of Islamic civilization and general histories of science with most authors tracing its beginnings to the appropriation of ideas from other ancient civilizations the Greeks in particular In this thought provoking and original book George Saliba argues that contrary to the generally accepted view the foundations of Islamic scientific thought were laid well before Greek sources were formally translated into Arabic in the ninth century Drawing on an account by the tenth century intellectual historian Ibn al Nadim macron over i that is ignored by most modern scholars Saliba suggests that early translations from mainly Persian and Greek sources outlining elementary scientific ideas for the use of government departments were the impetus for the development of the Islamic scientific tradition He argues further that there was an organic relationship between the Islamic scientific thought that developed in later centuries and the science that came into being in Europe during the Renaissance Saliba outlines the conventional accounts of Islamic science then discusses their shortcomings and proposes an alternate narrative Using astronomy as a template for understanding the progress of science in Islamic civilization Saliba demonstrates the originality of Islamic scientific thought He details the innovations including new mathematical tools made by the Islamic astronomers from the thirteenth to sixteenth centuries and offers evidence that Copernicus could have known of and drawn on their work Rather than viewing the rise and fall of Islamic science from the often narrated perspectives of politics and religion Saliba focuses on the scientific production itself and the complex social economic and intellectual conditions that made it possible The American Journal of Science ,1907
