Francis Hutcheson: An Inquiry Concerning Beauty, Order, Harmony, Design F. Hutcheson, 2012-12-06 THE SENSE OF BEAUTY A FIRST APPROXIMATION It is generally acknowledged that during the first half of the eighteenth century a profound change was wrought in the theory of art and natural beauty To this period we owe the establishment of the modern system of the arts 1 In England the notion of a separate and autonomous discipline devoted solely to art and to beauty came into being through the concept of aesthetic disinterestedness 2 In addition emphasis in the theory of art shifted from object to subject from the work of art to the perceiver and critic Focal point for this change was the sense of beauty which in concert with the moral sense of the British school represented a dominant force in Enlightenment value theory It is Francis Hutcheson who more than anyone else can be thought of as the founder and principal spokesman of this philosophical coterie If the aesthetic sense was instrumental in the transfer of interest in the philosophy of art from object to perceiver the aesthetic and moral senses together were no less important in a parallel transference of value judgment from the rational to the sensate

The Emergence of Modern Aesthetic Theory Simon Grote, 2017-10-26 Broad in its geographic scope and yet grounded in original archival research this book situates the inception of modern aesthetic theory the philosophical analysis of art and beauty in theological contexts that are crucial to explaining why it arose Simon Grote presents seminal aesthetic theories of the German and Scottish Enlightenments as outgrowths of a quintessentially Enlightenment project the search for a natural foundation of morality and a means of helping naturally self interested human beings transcend their own self interest This conclusion represents an important alternative to the standard history of aesthetics as a series of preludes to the achievements of Immanuel Kant as well as a reinterpretation of several canonical figures in the German and Scottish Enlightenments It also offers a foundation for a transnational history of the Enlightenment without the French philosophes at its centre while solidly endorsing historians growing reluctance to call the Enlightenment a secularising movement

Gabrielle Starr,2015-01-30 A theory of the neural bases of aesthetic experience across the arts which draws on the tools of both cognitive neuroscience and traditional humanist inquiry In Feeling Beauty G Gabrielle Starr argues that understanding the neural underpinnings of aesthetic experience can reshape our conceptions of aesthetics and the arts Drawing on the tools of both cognitive neuroscience and traditional humanist inquiry Starr shows that neuroaesthetics offers a new model for understanding the dynamic and changing features of aesthetic life the relationships among the arts and how individual differences in aesthetic judgment shape the varieties of aesthetic experience Starr a scholar of the humanities and a researcher in the neuroscience of aesthetics proposes that aesthetic experience relies on a distributed neural architecture a set of brain areas involved in emotion perception imagery memory and language More important it emerges from networked interactions intricately connected and coordinated brain systems that together form a flexible architecture enabling us to develop new arts and to see the world around us differently Focusing on the sister arts of poetry painting and music Starr builds and tests a neural model of aesthetic experience valid across all the arts Asking why works that address different senses using different means seem to produce the same set of feelings she examines particular works of art in a range of media including a poem by Keats a painting by van Gogh a sculpture by Bernini and Beethoven s Diabelli Variations Starr s innovative interdisciplinary analysis is true to the complexities of both the physical instantiation of aesthetics and the realities of artistic representation
