

The background of the book cover is a dark, textured, greenish-grey color. A large, white bird, possibly a swan or egret, is depicted with its wings spread wide, dominating the center of the image. The bird's head is turned back, and its long neck is visible. The wings are detailed with individual feathers. In the top left corner, there is a small, stylized, light-colored plant or leaf motif.

The Epochal Nature of Process in Whitehead's Metaphysics F. Bradford Wallack,1980-01-01 While my book attempts to reflect the full range of scholarly debate I have also attempted to make it useful to anyone interested in Whitehead To this end I have introduced the Whiteheadian terms one by one explaining each in the light of my interpretation and I have used examples wherever possible I try to show that Whitehead intended his philosophy have a place in our lives by reshaping our common conceptions and that he did not intend it to be relegated to purely abstract or esoteric application F Bradford Wallack The twentieth century has seen the greatest innovations in philosophical cosmology since Newton and Descartes and Alfred North Whitehead was the first and greatest of the philosophers to work out these innovations in systematic ways In a book that will be controversial in the philosophical community F Bradford Wallack argues that interpretations widely accepted by Whiteheadians need revaluation because these interpretations are based on materialist and substantialist assumptions that Whitehead sought to replace Specifically she proposes a thorough revision of accepted interpretations of Whitehead's concept of the actual entity Wallack then elucidates Whitehead's ideas in order of their increasing dependence upon other basic Whiteheadian terms to complete the study of Whiteheadian time and to clarify its purpose within the cosmology of Process and Reality Whitehead's philosophy then emerges as more intelligible and cohesive than is generally believed

The Ethics of Husserl's Phenomenology Joaquim Siles i Borràs,2010-02-11 The Ethics of Husserl's Phenomenology aims to relocate the question of ethics at the very heart of Husserl's phenomenology This is based on the idea that Husserl's phenomenology is an epistemological inquiry ultimately motivated by an ethical demand that pervades his writing from the publication of Logical Investigations 1900 1901 up to The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology 1935 Joaquim Siles Borràs traces the ethical concepts apparent throughout Husserl's main body of work and argues that Husserl's phenomenology of consciousness experience and meaning is ultimately motivated by an ethical demand by means of which Husserl aims to re define philosophy and re found science with the aim of making philosophy and science capable of dealing with the most pressing questions concerning the meaningfulness of human existence
