

Pathogenesis of Diabetes Mellitus (DM), Type II

Unhealthy Lifestyle: i.e. over-eating, obesity, inactivity

Intraperitoneal cavity accumulates "visceral fat" (aka. "abdominal fat"), which is an endocrine organ that secretes:

Inflammatory mediators

Adipokines

Free fatty acids (FFAs)

Note: "adipokines" are inflammatory mediators released from adipose tissue (e.g. TNFalpha). The more adipose tissue a patient has, the more adipokines are released.

Genetic Susceptibility:

Polygenetic or monogenetic factors (i.e. maturity-onset diabetes of the young (MODY)) can predispose insulin resistance

Aging: Beta-cell mass declines with aging, so those predisposed to insulin resistance may develop Type II DM as they age.

Medications: i.e. corticosteroids, anti-psychotics, highly-active anti-retrovirals, progestin-only oral contraceptives

Complex, unclear actions on body tissue

Insulin resistance

(liver, muscle, adipose tissue become less responsive to insulin, and thus less able to use glucose as a fuel source)

Upototoxicity:

FFAs inhibit function of GLUT2 on Beta-cells, ↓ glucose import

Beta-cells do not recognize high blood glucose → ↓ insulin secretion

Initially, beta-cells of the pancreas work overtime to ↑ insulin secretion

Blood [glucose] is kept normal

Glucotoxicity: hyperglycemia is directly toxic to Beta-cells

Hyperglycemia

Over many years, as insulin resistance worsens, Beta-cells "tire out", ↓ insulin secretion (relative insulin deficiency)

Over many more years: Beta-cells deteriorate until they finally stop producing insulin, (absolute insulin deficit)

Since cells can't use glucose, body perceives a state of "starvation", thus mobilizing triglycerides into FFAs, to be used as fuel by cells.

Type II Diabetes Mellitus

Note: There is a HUGE genetic basis for Type II DM: high concordance rate between family members (90% for monozygotic twins), and if a first-degree relative is affected, the risk for other family members is 5-10x above baseline.

Pathogenesis And Treatment Of Diabetes Mellitus:

Pathogenesis and Treatment of Diabetes Mellitus J.K. Radder,H.H.P.J. Lemkes,H.M.J. Krans,2012-12-06 In this book on diabetes mellitus both the pathogenesis and treatment of the disease will be discussed Pathogenetic studies have led to the distinction between type I and type II diabetes In type I hyperglycaemia is due predominantly to insulin deficiency in type II insulin resistance is more important Three pathogenetic factors are thought to play a role in the etiology of type I diabetes heredity viral infections and immunity There may be a relationship between these three aspects since genetic predisposition changes the susceptibility to viral infections and or the immunological defence against these infections Insulinitis ensues Auto immune processes initiated by this chain of events may contribute to the destruction of the B cells in the islets of Langerhans and diabetes may eventually follow This means that at the time of the sudden outbreak of the disease the destructive process has already been active for years Current Aspects of the Pathogenesis and Treatment of Diabetes Mellitus , Diabetes
