View from City Hall Patricia De Lille, Craig Kesson, 2017-09-07 The 21st century belongs to cities especially those of a rapidly urbanising Africa South Africa experienced a historic change in city government in 2016 when three major metros changed political leadership The realities that city governments must confront range from dynamic population growth to the potential presented by breakthroughs in digital innovations In View from City Hall Patricia de Lille and Craig Kesson scrutinise the complexities of governing a growing city including what it means to run a modern city with a particular historical context like Cape Town and the choices that must be made for a better future

A House Divided Crispian Olver, 2019-10-10 It's 2018 and Cape Town is wracked by its worst drought on record The prospect of Day Zero when the taps will run dry is driving citizens into a frenzy Then the ruling Democratic Alliance removes control of the water issue from Mayor Patricia de Lille While politicians turn on each other revealing deep lying faultlines and new enmities it raises a critical question who will lead the Mother City through the crisis Against this fraught backdrop author and academic Crispian Olver resolves to explore how the city of his childhood is run and he sets his sights in particular on the relationship between local politicians and property developers Interviewing numerous people including many dropped from the City administration in often questionable circumstances he uncovers a Pandora's box of backstabbing infighting and backroom deals Olver explores dodgy property developments in the agriculturally sensitive area of Philippi on the scenic West Coast and along the glorious and lucrative Atlantic Seaboard delves into attempts to hijack civic associations and exposes the close yet precarious relationship between the mayor and City Hall's laptop boys And in blistering detail he gets to grips with the political meltdown within the DA and the defection of De Lille to form her own party

Patricia de Lille Charlene Smith, 2002 Nelson Mandela called her his favourite opposition politician she is a very strong principled woman he said of her Many say they would vote for her if she decided to run for president She has consistently been voted South Africa's favourite politician after Mandela in recent years Although she represents a small party with a primarily radical black support base her appeal eclipses that of her party the Pan Africanist Congress Among the letters of support in her files are those from opposition politicians and parliamentarians to messages of approval from old white grandmothers and radical young black trade unionists The belief of Robert Sobukwe founder of the Pan Africanist Congress that an African was anyone who gave allegiance to Africa regardless of their skin colour resonated with me It gave me an identity and a home Rhoda Khadalie a former ANC stalwart and Human Rights Commissioner says I am convinced she can start a new political party on the basis of diverse popular support across race lines She is a critical voice in South Africa She is compassionate she cries about things but more than that she gets out of parliament and goes to communities she listens to people she works for them she is unlike any other politician at this stage in South Africa She lives her democratic principles
