Patterns Of Experience In Autobiography:

Autobiographical Quests Elizabeth De Mijolla,1994 Posits two approaches to writing autobiography that which records events in the order they happened and as they were perceived at the time and that which interprets the past in light of subsequent experience and is more or less achronological Shows how Augustine represents the first approach and how the other three express varying divergence from strict temporal order Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

Patterns of Experience in Autobiography Susanna Egan,1984 An award winning biography of Ella Baker 1903 1986 one of the most important African American leaders of the twentieth century and perhaps the most influential woman in the civil rights movement Baker was a gifted grassroots organizer whose remarkable A Modern Poetics of Biography Zhengrun Yang,2025-09-02 This book provides a comprehensive study of biography to summarize the standard forms as well as a range of peripheral and expanded forms of auto biography Discussion and analyses to be done at three levels namely ontology typology and writing It is drawn from local and international theories in biography in addition to related disciplines in particular for those of the twentieth century and summarizing the experiences of the writing of classics in both Chinese and Western biographical history the study establishes a theoretical system of biography This book can serve as a useful reference for postgraduate students and professional readers who are interested in biographical research Boys in Khaki, Girls in Print Jane Potter,2005-10-06 Modernist texts and writings of protest have until now received most of the critical attention of literary scholars of the First World War Popular literature with its penchant for predictable storylines melodramatic prose and patriotic rhetoric has been much maligned or at the very least ignored Boys in Khaki Girls in Print Women s Literary Responses to the Great War redresses the balance It turns the spotlight on the novels and memoirs of women writers many of whom are now virtually forgotten that appealed to a British reading public hungry for amusement news and above all encouragement in the face of uncertainty and grief The writers of 1914 18 had powerful models for interpreting their war as a consideration of texts from the Anglo Boer War of 1899 1902 shows They were also bolstered by wartime publishing practices that reinforced the sense that their books whether fiction or non fiction were not simply light entertainment but a powerful agents of propaganda Generously illustrated Boys in Khaki Girls in Print is a scholarly yet accessible illumination of a hitherto untapped resource of women s writing and is an important new contribution to the study of the literature of the Great War Independent Offices and Department of Housing and Urban Development Appropriations for 1971 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Independent Offices and Department of Housing and Urban Development,1990 Encyclopedia of Life Writing Margareta Jolly,2013-12-04 First published in 2001 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Studies in the Literary Imagination ,1990 The Confessions of Saint Augustine Richard Severson,1996-11-25 The modern scholarly verdict about the Confessions has been nothing short of sensational This work documents the story of 20th century criticism and praise for Augustine's classic, an ancient text that has grown in stature like few other Western classics. Disciplines such as psychology, literature, and religion, plus many others, all claim it as their own. The first chapter of this study puts modern Confessions scholarship into historical context. The other chapters are devoted to autobiographical studies, literary influences, philosophical interpretations, psychology, spirituality, and theological themes. Of interest to scholars and students in many disciplines. At the end of the 19th century, a new critical spirit of inquiry and scholarship helped to change how we think about religious texts. The new criticism uncovered problems with Augustine's Confessions; he may have dramatized events concerning his conversion to Christianity, for example. Yet this work has proved to be relevant in the 20th century like few other ancient texts. That such variegated attention has been devoted to it is testimony to Augustine's enduring legacy. His stature in Western civilization is of the first order, comparable to Homer and Virgil, Plato and Aristotle, Moses and Paul. A History of English Autobiography Adam Smyth, 2016-04-04. A History of English Autobiography explores the genealogy of autobiographical writing in England from the medieval period to the digital era. Beginning with an extensive introduction that charts important theoretical contributions to the field, this History includes wide-ranging essays that illuminate the legacy of English autobiography. Organized thematically, these essays survey the multilayered writings of such diverse authors as Chaucer, Bunyan, Carlyle, Newman, Wilde, and Woolf. Written by a host of leading scholars, this History is the definitive single-volume collection on English autobiography and will serve as an invaluable reference for specialists and students alike.

The Journal of Narrative Technique, 1984. Telling Women's Lives Judy Long, 1999-05. For centuries, the great man format and masculine discourse of biography and autobiography have eclipsed women. If we accept this history, we remain ignorant of Lady Sarashina, a Japanese woman of the Heian period whose book survives from the 11th century. We overlook Margaret Cavendish and Dame Julian, two early English autobiographers. And we fail to consider slave narratives, oral histories, or lesbian coming-out stories. Telling Women's Lives assesses existing traditions of autobiography and biography in search of a method capable of conveying the distinctive content of women's lives while retaining the tenor of feminine subjectivity. Drawing on feminist research methodologies of the past two decades, as well as anthropology and sociology, Long paves the way for the formulation of an emergent feminist methodology for telling women's lives. This highly original study seeks to revise and recreate the genre so as to accommodate a feminine discourse, narrator, reader, and subject. The messiness of women's lives, the daily work and detail that men have programmatically excluded, acquires new meaning as Long develops here an innovative theory of sociobiography. The Experiences of Black Women Diversity Practitioners in Historically White Institutions Johnson, Tristen Brenaé, 2022-12-19. In recent decades, historically white institutions have advanced their focus on diversity, equity, and inclusion practices within their organizations. Today, many organizations feature diversity practitioners within their workforce. Despite this, many historically white institutions, such as education, business, and healthcare organizations, still face systemic racism from within. In the wake of the dual pandemics of COVID-19 and systemic racism it is essential for historically white institutions to listen to the experiences of Black women diversity practitioners so that they may implement the necessary changes to promote a more diverse inclusive and equitable environment The Experiences of Black Women Diversity Practitioners in Historically White Institutions centers on Black women s experiences before during and after the dual pandemics at historically white higher education corporate America and healthcare institutions and how these experiences have affected their ability to perform their jobs The stories and research provided offer crucial information for institutions to look inward at the cultures and practices for their organizations that directly impact Black women diversity practitioners Covering topics such as guidance in leadership Black woman leadership and mindfulness training this premier reference source is an essential resource for higher education staff and administration Black women diversity practitioners administration leaders in business hospital administration libraries students and educators of higher education researchers and academicians The Literary Uses of the Rhetoric of Science, 1989

Pattern and Meaning in History (RLE Social Theory) H.P. Rickman, 2020-07-26 One may state Dilthey s significance in most general fashion by characterizing his work as the first thorough going and sophisticated confrontation of history with positivism and natural science Dilthey s sweep was universal he strove to reduce to order the multifarious realms of knowledge the conflicting traditions of cultural study that he had embraced Thus Dilthey laid out a program that no mortal and certainly no one whose mind had been formed in the third quarter of the nineteenth century could hope to bring to completion Yet despite its inconclusiveness Dilthey s work exerted enormous influence The distinction he had drawn between natural and cultural science became standard for historians and to a lesser extent for social scientists also After Dilthey historians no longer needed to apologize for the unscientific character of their discipline they understood why its methods could never be quite the same as those of natural science And the contemporary tradition of intellectual history grew naturally out of Dilthey s teaching H Stuart Hughes Female Journeys Claire Marrone, 2000-06-30 In this study of 19th and 20th century French and Italian women s autobiography the author illustrates how the protagonists development unfolds through separation from oppressive social and familial structures Reading the selected life stories as bildungsromane and drawing on an array of both canonical and noncanonical texts in the various autobiographical subgenres Marrone concludes that the heroines movements away from oppressive structures are not limited to particular historical periods but are motivated by historical and cultural circumstances She thoughtfully traces the reasons why a 19th century protagonist might leave her country a turn of the century heroine might flee her family and a modern female character might separate from her mother carefully examining their motivations and their goals In telling their stories she concludes women writers continually challenge existing autobiographical conventions Marrone finds that postmodern texts prove that the journey toward selfhood may be an ongoing one that unfolds through the creation of multiple life stories. The author begins her study with a consideration of the tradition of women's autobiography in French and Italian literature of the 19th and 20th centuries. Using several examples from various genres, she brings issues of gender, oppression, marital abuse, sexuality, and motherhood to the forefront of the discussion. She continues by analyzing the genres of autobiography and bildungsroman where they overlap and where they diverge, specifically in women's writing. Turning to specific authors and their works, Marrone moves on to an analysis of the writings of Cristina Trivulzio di Belgiojoso, C. D. Eleste Mogador, Sibilla Aleramo, Oriana Fallaci, Marie Cardinal, and Annie Ernaux. In examining the works of these writers, the author concludes that women writers continue to attempt to define themselves in their own voices. Marrone finds that postmodern writers participate in innovative experimentation in life writing, hybrid texts, creative autobiographies, and collective life stories. This clearly written, engaging volume is a pivotal addition to the growing field of literature on autobiography.

Identity, Learning, and Decision Making in Changing Organizations Charles R. Schwenk, 2002. The relationship between self-concepts, identities, and crucial decisions in a business environment. Having noticed that people's views of major business-related issues are rooted in their personal identities, the author describes how to conceptualize the self and manage people to achieve collective action.
