Patterns Of Thought In Africa And The West Essays On Magic Religion And Science:

Patterns of Thought in Africa and the West Robin Horton, 1997-07-13 Robin Horton's critical and creative writings on African religious thought have influenced anthropologists, philosophers and all those interested in the comparative study of religion and thought. This selection of some of his classic papers with a new introduction and postscript by the author traces Horton's theoretical ideas over thirty years. In attempting to understand African religious thought, he also tackles broader issues in the history and sociology of thought such as secularisation and modernisation. Part I is a critical assessment of two established interpretive approaches: the Symbolist and the Theological. Part II proposes an alternative Intellectualist approach that emphasises the structural and processual similarities between religious and scientific thinking. The postscript appraises the Intellectualist approach in the light of theorising about religion and world views. A Short History of African Philosophy, Second Edition Barry Hallen, 2009-09-03 A Short History of African Philosophy discusses major ideas, figures and schools of thought in philosophy in the African context. While drawing out critical issues in the formation of African philosophy, Barry Hallen focuses on recent scholarship and relevant debates that have made African philosophy critical to understanding the rich and complex cultural heritage of the continent. This revised edition expands the historical perspective, takes account of recent discoveries and new canonical figures, highlights new discussions about gender as a cultural and philosophical phenomenon, clarifies issues regarding indigenous cultures and human rights, and builds on the notion that African philosophy shares methods and concerns of philosophy worldwide. This short reference is an essential resource for students, scholars and general readers. Science and Religion Around the World John Hedley Brooke, Ronald L.

Numbers, 2011-01-11 The past quarter century has seen an explosion of interest in the history of science and religion. But all too often the scholars writing it have focused their attention almost exclusively on the Christian experience, with only passing reference to other traditions of both science and faith. At a time when religious ignorance and misunderstanding have lethal consequences, such provincialism must be avoided, and in this pioneering effort to explore the historical relations of what we now call science and religion, the authors go beyond the Abrahamic traditions to examine the way nature has been understood and manipulated in regions as diverse as ancient China, India and sub-Saharan Africa. Science and Religion around the World also provides authoritative discussions of science in Judaism, Christianity and Islam, as well as an exploration of the relationship between science and the loss of religious beliefs. The narratives included in this book demonstrate the value of plural perspectives and of the importance of location for the construction and perception of science, religion, relations. Philosophy and the Study of Religions Kevin Schilbrack, 2014-03-03 Philosophy and the Study of Religions: A Manifesto advocates a radical transformation of the discipline from its current narrow focus on questions of God to a fully global form of critical reflection on religions in all their variety and dimensions. Opens the discipline of philosophy of religion to the religious diversity that characterizes the world today. Builds bridges between philosophy of religion and the other interpretative and explanatory approaches in the field of religious studies Provides a manifesto for a global approach to the subject that is a practice centred rather than a belief centred activity Gives attention to reflexive critical studies of religion as socially constructed and historically located

Words Made Flesh Justine Bakker, David Kline, 2025-06-03 The first sustained treatment of religion and religions in the scholarship of a prominent Caribbean thinker Sylvia Wynter is a profoundly transdisciplinary scholar whose works span an impressive array of theory literature science anthropology philosophy and religious studies as well as different forms including essays plays a novel and a 935 page unpublished manuscript entitled Black Metamorphosis New Natives in a New World Whatever the medium Wynter frequently engages religion as a relevant category of analysis from reflections on Christianity Islam and Rastafarianism to the category and role of religion as a universal aspect of human social production Wynter's writings have received enthusiastic attention by scholars in Black studies Caribbean theory critical race theory literature and philosophy But until recently little scholarly writing exists that directly engages the topic of religion in her corpus Words Made Flesh seeks to fill this gap by focusing exclusively on religion religions and religiosity in her work Bringing together scholars that provide a wide variety of theoretical perspectives on religion political theology social theory and science studies this book offers an in depth engagement with one of the most innovative and important thinkers of the last forty years and illustrates how Wynter's writing has significant implications for the study of religion and religion's relationship to colonialism race humanism science and political theology

The World's Religions Peter B. Clarke, Peter Beyer, 2009-05-07 This comprehensive volume focuses on the world's religions and the changes they have undergone as they become more global and diverse in form It explores the religions of the world not only in the regions with which they have been historically associated but also looks at the new cultural and religious contexts in which they are developing It considers the role of migration in the spread of religions by examining the issues raised for modern societies by the increasing interaction of different religions The volume also addresses such central questions as the dynamics of religious innovation which is evidenced in the rise and impact of new religious and new spirituality movements in every continent

Forms of Fanonism Reiland Rabaka, 2010-03-08 When Frantz Fanon's critiques of racism sexism colonialism capitalism and humanism are brought into the ever widening orbit of Africana critical theory something unprecedented in the annals of Africana intellectual history happens five distinct forms of Fanonism emerge Forms of Fanonism Frantz Fanon's Critical Theory and the Dialectics of Decolonization is discursively distinguished from other engagements of Fanon's thought and texts insofar as it is the first study to consciously examine his contributions to Africana Studies and critical theory or rather the Africana tradition of critical theory Forms of Fanonism identifies and intensely analyzes Fanon's contributions to the deconstruction and reconstruction of Africana Studies radical politics and critical social theory In highlighting his unique solutions to the problems of racism sexism colonialism capitalism and humanism five distinct forms of Fanonism materialize These five forms of Fanonism allow contemporary critical theorists to innovatively explore the ways in which his thought and texts can be dialectically put to use in relieving the wretched experience of this generation's wretched of the earth. Critics can also apply these forms to deconstruct and reconstruct Africana Studies radical politics and critical social theory using their anti-imperialist interests. Throughout Forms of Fanonism, Reiland Rabaka critically dialogues with Fanon incessantly asking his corpus critical questions and seeking from it crucial answers. This book in short solemnly keeps with Fanon's own predilection for connecting critical theory to revolutionary praxis by utilizing his thought and texts as paradigms and points of departure to deepen and develop the Africana tradition of critical theory.

Religious Encounter and the Making of the Yoruba John David Yeadon Peel, J. D. Y. Peel, 2003-02-21 Peel is by training an anthropologist but one possessed of an acute historical sensibility. Indeed, this magnificent book achieves a degree of analytical verve rare in either discipline. History Today: This is scholarship of the highest quality. Peel lifts the Yoruba past to a dimension of comparative seriousness that no one else has managed. The book teems with ideas about big and compelling matters of very wide interest. T. C. McCaskie In this magisterial book, J. D. Y. Peel contends that it is through their encounter with Christian missions in the mid-19th century that the Yoruba came to know themselves as a distinctive people. Peel's detailed study of the encounter is based on the rich archives of the Anglican Church Missionary Society which contain the journals written by the African agents of mission who, as the first generation of literate Yoruba, played a key role in shaping modern Yoruba consciousness. This distinguished book pays special attention to the experiences of ordinary men and women and shows how the process of Christian conversion transformed Christianity into something more deeply Yoruba.

The Centrality of Christ in Contemporary Missions Mike Barnett, Michael Pocock, 2005 Africa's Social and Religious Quest Randee Ijatuyi-Morphé, 2014-01-30 This well-crafted book probes the key dimensions of Africa's existential predicament. It constitutes an intellectual response to a gnawing African situation, the starting point for grasping Africa's social and religious quest. Beyond split explanations of external versus internal factors (e.g., colonization, slavery vs. leadership, cultural values), this study accounts more comprehensively for emergent issues shaping this situation. The situation reflects a gamut of problems in traditional African religion and material culture which hitherto defines African communality, politics, and destinies vis-à-vis the cosmos and nature. Thus, African religion and communities, each with its own attendant values, do not operate by critical engagement with larger issues of society and civilization especially those shaped by the advent of post modernity Rather they operate via adaptation The communal drive for natural and social harmony inevitably produces a preservationist view of culture leaving things as they are This study takes an integrative approach to religion society and civilization eschews dichotomies and broadly defines and re signifies life and wholeness as a true end of Africans quest today African Traditions in the Study of Religion in Africa Ezra Chitando,2016-04-01 The historiography of African religions and religions in Africa presents a remarkable shift from the study of Africa as Object to Africa as Subject thus translating the subject from obscurity into the global community of the academic study of religion This book presents a unique multidisciplinary exploration of African traditions in the study of religion in Africa and the new African diaspora The book is structured under three main sections Emerging trends in the teaching of African Religions Indigenous Thought and Spirituality and Christianity Hinduism and Islam Contributors drawn from diverse African and global contexts situate current scholarly traditions of the study of African religions within the purview of academic encounter and exchanges with non African scholars and non African contexts African scholars enrich the study of religions from their respective academic and methodological orientations Jacob Kehinde Olupona stands out as a pioneer in the socio scientific interpretation of African indigenous religion and religions in Africa This book is to his honour and marks his immense contribution to an emerging field of study and research Religious Plurality in Africa Marloes Janson,Benedikt Pontzen,Kai Kresse,Hassan A. Mwakimako,2024-07-16 Grounded in ethnographic and historiographic research and taking a cross regional approach this book explores the complex dynamics of similarity and difference rapprochement and detachment and divergence and competition between practitioners of Christianity Islam and African religious traditions Across Africa Muslims Christians and practitioners of African religious traditions live in shared settings demarcating themselves in opposition to one another and at times engaging in violent conflicts but also being entangled in complex ways and showing unexpected similarities and mutual cross overs However while encounters and entanglements of African religious traditions with either Islam or Christianity have long been a central research issue the configuration as a whole has barely been taken into account even though Muslims Christians and practitioners of African religious traditions have long co existed and still co exist more or less peacefully in many settings in Africa Building on recent interventions to move beyond the compartmentalization of the study of religion in Africa this edited volume will spotlight why and how an integrated approach to Islam Christianity and African religious traditions is important Bringing together stimulating case studies from Kenya Nigeria Zanzibar Ghana and Mozambique that offer new directions for ethnographic and historical research the volume will not only shed light on an important phenomenon out there in the world the long overlooked ways in which Muslims Christians and practitioners of African religious traditions interact with one another in various majority minority configurations but will also engage with a critical rethinking of the study of religion in Africa and beyond nterventions to move beyond the compartmentalization of the

The Trouble with Science Robin Ian MacDonald Dunbar, 1995

Robin Dunbar asks whether science really is unique to Western culture even to humankind He suggests that our trouble with science may lie in the fact that evolution has left our minds better able to cope with day to day social interaction than with the complexities of the external world

Philosophical Foundations of the African Humanities through Postcolonial Perspectives ,2019-03-19 Philosophical Foundations of the African Humanities through Postcolonial Perspectives critiques recent claims that the humanities especially in public universities in poor countries have lost their significance defining missions methods and standards due to the pressure to justify their existence The predominant responses to these claims have been that the humanities are relevant for creating a world culture to address the world s problems This book argues that behind such arguments lies a false neutrality constructed to deny the values intrinsic to marginalized cultures and peoples and to justify their perceived inferiority These essays by scholars in postcolonial studies critique these false claims about the humanities through critical analyses of alterity difference and how the Other is perceived defined and subdued Contributors Gordon S K Adika Kofi N Awoonor E John Collins Kari Dako Mary Esther Kropp Dakubu James Gibbs Helen Lauer Bernth Lindfors J H Kwabena Nketia Abena Oduro Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak Ol f mi T w Alexis B Tengan Kwasi Wiredu Francis Nii Yartey A House Built on Sand Noretta Koertge,1998 Cultural critics say that science is politics by other means arguing that the results of scientific inquiry are profoundly shaped by the ideological agendas of powerful elites They base their claims on historical case studies purporting to show the systematic intrusion of sexist racist capitalist colonialist and or professional interests into the very content of science In this hard hitting collection of essays contributors offer crisp and detailed critiques of case studies offered by the cultural critics as evidence that scientific results tell us more about social context than they do about the natural world Pulling no punches they identify numerous crude factual blunders e g that Newton never performed any experiments and egregious errors of omission such as the attempt to explain the slow development of fluid dynamics solely in terms of gender bias Where there are positive aspects of a flawed account or something to be learned from it they do not hesitate to say so Their target is shoddy scholarship Comprising new essays by distinguished scholars of history philosophy and science this book raises a lively debate to a new level of seriousness

African Psychology Augustine Nwoye,2022 One of the most unprecedented developments in the history of the scientific study of psychology in postcolonial Africa is the recent welcome inclusion of the study of African psychology within the psychology degree curriculum of some foreword thinking African universities In each of those universities such as the University of KwaZulu Natal in South Africa and Kenyatta University in Nairobi Kenya East Africa there now exists a gradual entrenchment of the African derived psychology in the curricular provisions of their psychology degree programmes With particular reference to the University of KwaZulu Natal in South Africa for instance a number of African psychology based modules have recently been developed approved and incorporated into the list of modules for psychology degree students at the undergraduate Honours and the Master s degree levels see University of KwaZulu Natal College of Humanities Handbook 2018 Sociology and the World's Religions M.
