Jun Liu, 2001-10-30 The past decade has witnessed a steady increase in the numbers of Asian students in North American institutions of higher learning. While their academic success has been widely recognized, concerns about their silence in classrooms have also been expressed by educators. Following an overview of Asian students in North American higher education, this book presents a focused ethnographic study of twenty Asian graduate students enrolled in a major US university, exploring and describing Asian students' oral classroom participation modes across multiple factors. Four major classroom communication patterns: total integration, conditional interaction, marginal participation and silent observation are identified among the participants and discussed across sociocultural, affective, cognitive, linguistic and pedagogical environmental factors. Also discussed are the Asian concepts of face saving, politeness and social identity in multiple discourse communities in light of Asian students' perceptions of and modes in classroom participation. The book concludes with a call for the development of cultural transformation competence which encompasses social identity negotiation skills and culture sensitivity knowledge and mindful reflexivity in addition to communicative competence. Journal of the Society of Arts, 1908

Integrated Air Quality Management Nguyen Thi Kim Oanh, 2012-07-05 The steady growth in the number of vehicles on the road, heavy reliance on coal use, dirty fuels for residential combustion and extensive open burning are some of the major factors leading to the progressive deterioration of air quality in developing countries in Asia. And despite efforts to establish and implement air quality measurement systems. Journal of the Royal Society of Arts Royal Society of Arts (Great Britain), 1908 Report of a Workshop on Cropping Systems Research in Asia, 1982
