Conservation Jaboury Ghazoul, Douglas Sheil, 2024-03-14 Rain forests represent the world's richest repository of terrestrial biodiversity and play a major role in regulating the global climate They support the livelihoods of a substantial proportion of the world's population and are the source of many internationally traded commodities They remain despite decades of conservation attention increasingly vulnerable to degradation and clearance with profound though often uncertain future costs to global society Understanding the ecology of these diverse biomes and peoples dependencies on them is fundamental to their future management and conservation Tropical Rain Forest Ecology Diversity and Conservation introduces and explores what rain forests are how they arose what they contain how they function and how humans use and impact them The book starts by introducing the variety of rain forest plants fungi microorganisms and animals emphasising the spectacular diversity that is the motivation for their conservation The central chapters describe the origins of rain forest communities the variety of rain forest formations and their ecology and dynamics The challenge of explaining the species richness of rain forest communities lies at the heart of ecological theory and forms a common theme throughout The book's final section considers historical and current interactions of humans and rain forests It explores biodiversity conservation as well as livelihood security for the many communities that are dependent on rain forests inextricable issues that represent urgent priorities for scientists conservationists and policy makers Biotic Evolution and Environmental Change in Southeast Asia David Gower, Kenneth Johnson, James Richardson, Brian Rosen, Lukas Rüber, Suzanne Williams, 2012-07-19 The flora and fauna of Southeast Asia are exceptionally diverse The region includes several terrestrial biodiversity hotspots and is the principal global hotspot for marine diversity but it also faces the most intense challenges of the current global biodiversity crisis Providing reviews syntheses and results of the latest research into Southeast Asian earth and organismal history this book investigates the history present and future of the fauna and flora of this bio and geodiverse region Leading authorities in the field explore key topics including palaeogeography palaeoclimatology biogeography population genetics and conservation biology illustrating research approaches and themes with spatially taxonomically and methodologically focused case studies The volume also presents methodological advances in population genetics and historical biogeography Exploring the fascinating environmental and biotic histories of Southeast Asia this is an ideal resource for graduate students and researchers as well as environmental NGOs Status of Conservation and Decline of Amphibians Harold

Heatwole, Jodi Rowley, 2018-06 Amphibians are among the most threatened groups of animals on earth In part due to their highly permeable skin amphibians are highly sensitive to environmental changes and pollution and provide an early warning system of deteriorating environmental conditions The more we learn about the impact of environmental changes on amphibians the better we as humans will be able to arrest their demise and our own Status of Conservation and Decline of Amphibians brings together the current knowledge on the status of the unique frogs of Australia New Zealand and the Pacific Although geographically proximate each region presents unique challenges and opportunities in amphibian research and conservation This book contributes to an understanding of the current conservation status of the amphibians of each region aims to stimulate research into halting amphibian declines and provides a better foundation for making conservation decisions It is an invaluable reference for environmental and governmental agencies researchers policy makers involved with biodiversity conservation and the interested public

Biodiversity and Conservation of the Yucatán Peninsula Gerald Alexander Islebe, Sophie Calmé, Jorge L. León-Cortés, Birgit Schmook, 2015-11-17 This book provides information relevant for the conservation of biodiversity and the sound management of the coastal and forest ecosystems of the Yucatan Peninsula in the face of global change Various aspects of the biodiversity of the Yucatan Peninsula are analyzed in an integrative manner including phenological ecophysiological ecological and conservation aspects of plants and animals and their relationships with humans in coastal and forest ecosystems

Social and Ecological System Dynamics Krystyna Stave, Goraw Goshu, Shimelis Aynalem, 2017-04-06 This book is a social ecological system description and feedback analysis of the Lake Tana Basin the headwater catchment of the Upper Blue Nile River This basin is an important local national and international resource and concern about its sustainable development is growing at many levels Lake Tana Basin outflows of water sediments nutrients and contaminants affect water that flows downstream in the Blue Nile across international boundaries into the Nile River the lake and surrounding land have recently been proposed as a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve the basin has been designated as a key national economic growth corridor in the Ethiopian Growth and Transformation Plan In spite of the Lake Tana Basin s importance there is no comprehensive integrated system wide description of its characteristics and dynamics that can serve as a basis for its sustainable development This book presents both the social and ecological characteristics of the region and an integrated system wide perspective of the feedback links that shape social and ecological change in the basin Finally it summarizes key research needs for sustainable development

Extinction in Our Times James P. Collins, Martha L. Crump, Thomas E. Lovejoy III, 2009-07-07 For over 350 million years thousands of species of amphibians have lived on earth but since the 1990s they have been disappearing at an alarming rate in many cases quite suddenly and mysteriously What is causing these extinctions What role do human actions play in them What do they tell us about the overall state of biodiversity on the planet In Extinction in Our Times James Collins and Martha Crump explore these pressing questions and many others as they document the first modern extinction event across an entire vertebrate class using global examples that range from the Sierra Nevada of California to the rainforests of Costa Rica and the Mediterranean coast of North Africa Joining scientific rigor and vivid storytelling this book is the first to use amphibian decline as a lens through which to see more clearly the larger story of climate change conservation of biodiversity and a host of profoundly important ecological evolutionary ethical philosophical and sociological issues

Amphibian Alliance for Zero Extinction sites in Chiapas and Oaxaca Rodolfo Cabrera Hernandez, John F. Lamoreux, Meghan W. McKnight, 2015-03-01 The potential for numerous amphibian species to go extinct in Oaxaca and Chiapas is high and worthy of being considered a major environmental problem This report summarizes the findings of a project aimed at gathering information at 16 sites in southern Mexico which had been identified in 2005 as being essential to the continued existence of 22 highly threatened amphibian species the hope being that it could help initiate conservation action Site and species information are presented as a series of profiles

Balkan Biodiversity Huw I. Griffiths, Boris Kryštufek, Jane M. Reed, 2013-03-19 Balkan Biodiversity is the first attempt to synthesise our current understanding of biodiversity in the great European hot spot The conservation of biodiversity is one of today's great ecological challenges but Balkan biodiversity is still poorly understood in a region with complex physical geography and a long history of political conflict The Balkans exhibit outstanding levels of endemism particularly in caves and ancient lakes such as Ohrid lying at the crossroads of Europe and Asia they are also renowned as a focus of Pleistocene glacial refugia This volume unites a diverse group of international researchers for the first time Its interdisciplinary approach gives a broad perspective on biodiversity at the level of the gene species and ecosystem including contributions on temporal change Biological groups include plants mammals spiders and humans cave dwelling organisms fish aquatic invertebrates and algae The book should be read by zoologists botanists speleobiologists palaeoecologists palaeolimnologists and environmental scientists

Vietnam: A Natural History Eleanor Jane Sterling, Martha Maud Hurley, Le Duc Minh, 2008-10-01 A country uncommonly rich in plants animals and natural habitats the Socialist Republic of Vietnam shelters a significant portion of the world's biological diversity including rare and unique organisms and an unusual mixture of tropical and temperate species This book is the first comprehensive account of Vietnam's natural history in English Illustrated with maps photographs and thirty five original watercolor illustrations the book offers a complete tour of the country's plants and animals along with a full discussion of the factors shaping their evolution and distribution Separate chapters focus on northern central and southern Vietnam regions that encompass tropics subtropics mountains lowlands wetland and river regions delta and coastal areas and offshore islands The authors provide detailed descriptions of key natural areas to visit where a traveler might explore limestone caves or glimpse some of the country s twenty seven monkey and ape species and more than 850 bird species The book also explores the long history of humans in the country including the impact of the Vietnam American War on plants and animals and describes current efforts to conserve Vietnam s complex fragile and widely threatened biodiversity Marine, Freshwater, and Wetlands Biodiversity Conservation David L. Hawksworth, Alan T. Bull, 2007-11-25 Marine coastal and wetland habitats are threatened through exploitation and also by climate change as ocean currents change course sea levels rise and rainfall patterns change This book gathers papers on the biodiversity conservation of these increasingly threatened habitats The papers provide a snapshot of the problems they face and offer numerous examples which render this volume valuable to educators in marine freshwater and wetlands ecology conservation and ecological restoration The Conservation and Biogeography of Amphibians in the Caribbean Neftalí Ríos-López, Harold Heatwole, 2023-02-28 An expansive and detailed review of the biology of Caribbean amphibians considering their threats conservation and outlook in a changing world Amphibians are the group of vertebrates undergoing the fastest rate of extinction it is urgent that we understand the causes of this and find means of protecting them This landmark illustrated volume brings together the leading experts in the field As well as offering an overview of the region as a whole individual chapters are devoted to each island or island group and the measures used to protect their amphibians through legislation or nature reserves The biological background of insular biogeography including its methods analysis and results is reviewed and applied specifically to the problems of Caribbean amphibians this includes a re examination of patterns and general ideas about the status of amphibians in the Anthropocene The Conservation and Biogeography of Amphibians in the Caribbean offers an important baseline against which future amphibian conservation can be measured in the face of climate change rising sea level and a burgeoning human population Covers over 300 species Conservation of Caribbean Island Herpetofaunas Volume 1: Conservation Biology and the Wider Caribbean Adrian Hailey, Byron Wilson, Julia Horrocks, 2011-04-07 Most of the islands of the Caribbean have long histories of herpetological exploration and discovery and even longer histories of human mediated environmental degradation Collectively they constitute a major biodiversity hotspot a region rich in endemic species that are threatened with extinction This two volume series documents the existing status of herpetofaunas including sea turtles of the Caribbean and highlights conservation needs and efforts Previous contributions to West Indian herpetology have focused on taxonomy ecology and evolution particularly of lizards This series provides a unique and timely review of the status and conservation of all groups of amphibians and reptiles in the region This volume introduces the issues particularly affecting Caribbean herpetofaunas and gives an overview of evolutionary and taxonomic patterns influencing their conservation Human

The Future of Amazonian Aquatic Biota Samara Silva de Souza,Susana Braz-Mota,Adalberto Luis Val,2024-12-29 The aquatic habitats of the Amazon region are subject to natural daily and seasonal variations in the physico chemical properties of the water The organisms that inhabit these habitats have developed adaptations to cope with these natural events However human induced environmental changes are threatening ecosystems and affecting biodiversity at all levels of biological organization by causing drastic changes in climatic conditions in a shorter period of time without giving organisms time to adapt In this sense the book addresses the future of aquatic organisms in the Amazon including bacterial symbionts insects crustaceans fish plants and amphibians and provides an overview of what the future of biodiversity in the Amazon will look like both in terms of organisms adaptations to natural changes and in terms of vulnerability and responses to human impacts highlighting possible mechanisms to minimize the expected impacts The book also provides a brief overview of the risks that climate change poses to livestock strategies for the sustainable use of species in the Amazon region and the impact of climate change on fish diseases
