Patterns Of Intention On The Historical Explanation Of Pictures:

Patterns of Intention Michael Baxandall, 1985-01-01 Defines and explains various concepts regarding the painter's intentions in order to provide a basis for understanding of a work of art Patterns of Intention Michael Baxandall, 2017 Distinguished art historian Michael Baxandall here discusses the historical understanding of works of art how we can discover the intentions of an artist living in a different time and culture and to what extent we can test and evaluate a historical interpretation of a picture Analyzing in detail paintings by Picasso Chardin and Piero della Francesca Baxandall shows how this inferential criticism sharpens our legitimate satisfaction in the art works themselves Publisher's description

Mitchell's Image Theory Krešimir Purgar, 2016-11-25 W J T Mitchell one of the founders of visual studies has been at the forefront of many disciplines such as iconology art history and media studies His concept of the pictorial turn is known worldwide for having set new philosophical paradigms in dealing with our vernacular visual world This book will help both students and seasoned scholars to understand key terms in visual studies pictorial turn metapictures literary iconology image text biopictures or living pictures among many others while systematically presenting the work of Mitchell as one of the discipline's founders and most prominent figures. As a special feature, the book includes three comprehensive authoritative and theoretically relevant interviews with Mitchell that focus on different stages of development of visual studies and critical iconology.

Ancient Mythological Images and their Interpretation Katharina Lorenz, 2016-08-18 When we try to make sense of pictures, what do we gain when we use a particular method and what might we be missing or even losing? Empirical experimentation on three types of mythological imagery: a Classical Greek pot, a frieze from Hellenistic Pergamon and a second-century CE Roman sarcophagus enables Katharina Lorenz to demonstrate how theoretical approaches to images, specifically iconology, semiotics and image studies, impact the meanings we elicit from Greek and Roman art. A guide to Classical images of myth and also a critical history of Classical archaeology's attempts to give meaning to pictures, this book establishes a dialogue with the wider field of art history and proposes a new framework for the study of ancient visual culture. It will be essential reading not just for students of classical art history and archaeology but for anyone interested in the possibilities and the history of studying visual culture.

Is There a Meaning in this Text? Kevin J. Vanhoozer, 2009 Written by a brilliant young author, this book develops an evangelical theological hermeneutic that sees meaning in the text of Scripture.

Art of Illusion Dan Karlholm, 2006 To survey art history as a whole was a pressing task for a generation of German scholars around the mid-nineteenth century. Their projections of a historicist chain of artworks ranged from textual narratives without illustrations to separate picture compendia as well as images of a more allegorical kind. Other means with which to picture art history as part of a virtually all-encompassing cultural history were the museums of art erected in Germany at the time in Berlin and Munich, especially. This book deals with practices of representing art history in various media. This includes post-Hegelian texts and engravings of art history from the 1840s onwards by Franz Kugler, Julius Schnorr and others. In addition, works of art of the late twentieth century by Andy Warhol, Anselm Kiefer and others provide opportunities to speculate on the after-effects and discursive traces of the old regime. Extending the concept of historiography to include not just textual or institutional endeavours but a host of different images as well as from reproductive prints to pop paintings and visual archives of the digital era, this study is intended to contribute in new ways to a critical historiography of the field of art history and visual culture today.

Artworks Robert Stecker, 1996-12-09 What is art? What is it to understand a work of art? What is the value of art? Robert Stecker seeks to answer these central questions of aesthetics by placing them within the context of an ongoing debate, criticizing but also explaining what can be learned from alternative views. His unified philosophy of art, defined in terms of its evolving functions, is used to explain and to justify current interpretive practices and to motivate an investigation of artistic value. Stecker defines art roughly as an item that is an artwork at time t if and only if it is in one of the central art forms at t and is intended to fulfill a function art has at t or it is an artifact that achieves excellence in fulfilling such a function. Further, he sees the standard of acceptability for interpretations of artworks to be relative to their aim Finally he tries to understand the value of artworks through an analysis of literature and the identification of the most important functions of literary works In addition to offering original answers to major questions of aesthetics Artworks covers most of the major issues in contemporary analytic aesthetics and discusses many major as well as many minor figures who have written about these issues including Stanley Fish Joseph Margolis Richard Rorty and Richard Shusterman "Michael Baxandall, Vision and the Work of Words " Robert Williams,2017-07-05 The most important art historian of his generation is how some scholars have described the late Michael Baxandall 1933 2007 Professor of the Classical Tradition at the Warburg Institute University of London and of the History of Art at the University of California Berkeley Baxandall s work had a transformative effect on the study of European Renaissance and eighteenth century art and contributed to a complex transition in the aims and methods of art history in general during the 1970s 80s and 90s While influential he was also an especially subtle and independent thinker occasionally a controversial one and many of the implications of his work have yet to be fully understood and assimilated This collection of 10 essays endeavors to assess the nature of Baxandall s achievement and in particular to address the issue of the challenges it offers to the practice of art history today This volume provides the most comprehensive assessment of Baxandall s work to date while drawing upon the archive of Baxandall papers recently deposited at the Cambridge University Library and the Warburg Institute

Making Images Move Gregory Zinman,2020-01-03 Making Images Move reveals a new history of cinema by uncovering its connections to other media and art forms In this richly illustrated volume Gregory Zinman explores how moving image artists who worked in experimental film pushed the medium toward abstraction through a number of unconventional filmmaking practices including painting and scratching directly on the film strip deteriorating film with water dirt and bleach and applying materials such as paper and glue This book provides a comprehensive history of this tradition of handmade cinema from the early twentieth century to the present opening up new conversations about the production meaning and significance of the moving image From painted film to kinetic art and from psychedelic light shows to video synthesis Gregory Zinman recovers the range of forms tools and intentions that make up cinema s shadow history deepening awareness of the intersection of art and media in the twentieth century and anticipating what is to come Vermeer's

Wager Ivan Gaskell,2000-10-01 Vermeer s Wager stands at the intersection of art history and criticism philosophy and museology Using a familiar and celebrated painting by Johannes Vermeer as a case study Ivan Gaskell explores what it might mean to know and use a work of art He arg History And-- Ralph Cohen,Michael S. the possibility of collaboration within science and to the communication of artistic innovation Pop's brilliant close readings of the literary and visual practices of Manet and Mallarmé of drawings by Ernst Mach William James and Wittgenstein of experiments with color by Bracquemond and Van Gogh and of the philosophical systems of Frege and Russell add up to a startling but coherent picture of the symbolist heritage of modernity and its consequences
