Imagining the Soul Rosalie Osmond,2003-11-06 Basing

her approach on historical sources Rosalie Osmond explores the way the soul has been represented in different cultures and at different times from ancient Egypt and Greece through medieval Europe and into the 21st century Aircraft David Pascoe,2004-09-03 In his celebrated manifesto Aircraft 1935 the architect Le Corbusier presented more than 100 photographs celebrating airplanes either in imperious flight or elegantly at rest Dwelling on the artfully abstracted shapes of noses wings and tails he declared Ponder a moment on the truth of these objects Clearness of function In Aircraft David Pascoe follows this lead and offers a startling new account of the form of the airplane an object that in the course of a hundred years has developed from a flimsy contraption of wood wire and canvas into a machine compounded of exotic materials whose wings can touch the edges of space Tracing the airplane through the twentieth century he considers the subject from a number of perspectives as an inspiration for artists architects and politicians as a miracle of engineering as a product of industrialized culture as a device of military ambition and finally in its clearness of function as an instance of sublime technology Profusely illustrated and authoritatively written Aircraft offers not just a fresh account of aeronautical design documenting in particular the forms of earlier flying machines and the dependence of later projects upon them but also provides a cultural history of an object whose very shape contains the dreams and nightmares of the modern age

Envisioning the Past Sam Smiles,Stephanie Moser,2008-04-15 Envisioning the Past Archaeology and the Image is a groundbreaking collection of original essays that brings together archaeologists art historians and anthropologists to provide new perspectives on the construction of knowledge concerning the antiquity of man Covers a wide variety of time periods and topics from the Renaissance and the 18th century to the engravings photography and virtual realities of today Questions what we can learn from considering the use of images in the past and present that might guide our responsible use of them in the future Available within the prestigious New Interventions in Art History series published in connection with the Association of Art Historians Who's who in Art Bernard Dolman,1927 British Culture and the First World War Toby Thacker,2014-09-25 The First World War has been mythologized since 1918 and many paradigmatic views of it that it was pointless that brave soldiers were needlessly sacrificed are deeply embedded in the British consciousness More than in any other country these collective British memories were influenced by the experiences and the work of writers painters and musicians This book revisits the British experience of the War through the eyes and ears of a diverse group of carefully selected novelists poets composers and painters It examines how they reacted to and portrayed their experiences in the trenches on the Western Front in distant theatres of war and on the home front in words pictures and music that would have a profound influence on subsequent British perceptions of the war Rupert Brooke Vera Brittain Richard Nevinson Paul Nash Edward Elgar and T E Lawrence are amongst the figures discussed in this original exploration of the First World War and British collective memory The book includes illustrations and maps to aid further study and research Great War Modernism Nanette Norris,2015-12-16 New Modernist Studies while reviving and revitalizing modernist studies through lively scholarly debate about historicity aesthetics politics and genres is struggling with important questions concerning the delineation that makes discussion fruitful and possible This volume aims to explore and clarify the position of the so called core of literary modernism in its seminal engagement with the Great War In studying the years of the Great War we find ourselves once more studying the giants about whom there is so much more to say as well as adding hitherto marginalized writers and a few visual artists to the canon The contention here is that these war years were seminal to the development of a distinguishable literary practice which is called modernism but perhaps could be further delineated as Great War modernism a practice whose aesthetic merits can be addressed through formal analysis This collection of essays offers new insight into canonical British American European modernism of the Great War period using the critical tools of contemporary expansionist modernist studies By focusing on war and on the experience of the soldier and of those dealing with issues of war and survival these studies link the unique forms of expression found in modernism with the fragmented violent and traumatic experience of the time
