Buffer States In World Politics John Chay,2019-03-13 Buffer states countries geographically and or politically situated between two or more regional or global powers function to maintain peace between the larger powers Contributors to this book the first devoted to the buffer state concept analyze the geographical and political factors necessary for the establishment and maintenance of a buffer state and examine its role in helping to maintain world peace The problems and prospects of buffer states and buffer zones and the multiple roles played by the buffer in international politics are also explored Using information from a number of countries including Lebanon Afghanistan Korea and Uruguay the contributors argue that the function of the buffer state has not diminished with the advance of modern technology but that the prospects for a long life for any particular buffer state are tenuous Nevertheless they conclude that although the international benefits from any one buffer state tend to be short term the continued existence of the system will be an important element in preventing armed conflict in many parts of the world

The Decline Of The World Communist Movement Heinz Timmermann,2019-07-11 International Communism today is split on a number of ideological and political issues and is incapable of the kind of unified action implied by the term movement So argues Heinz Timmermann in this assessment of the current state of world Communism Dr Timmermann discusses the historical concept of a world Communist movement in connection with the USSR and China Focusing on Communism in the West he examines such diverse groups as the Communist parties in Italy France Portugal Cyprus Chile and Japan Communist parties in the West are increasingly adjusting their policies to better fit their own cultures and the author links this independence to the emphasis the Soviet Union s Communist Party has been placing on the specifically Russian character of the October Revolution and Soviet state interests Apparently Moscow is now showing some flexibility in its response to tendencies toward differentiation and pluralism within the system of Communist parties Gorbachev is less concerned with ideological orthodoxy than with Communists effectively supporting Soviet foreign policy The author argues that by acceding to the concept of unity in diversity Gorbachev is signaling that the Soviet leadership is willing to look beyond the myth of a world Communist movement

Hot Spots Amitai Etzioni,2017-07-12 There are important reasons for the distinct yet significant course adjustments in American and Western foreign policy which is currently focused on the Middle Eastern and Chinese hot spots In early 2012 the United States pivoted to make the Far East its military and strategic first priority thereby downgrading the Middle East This change in priorities has been accompanied by a curtailed military budget and the end of the two war doctrine Amitai Etzioni argues that pivoting towards the Far East is premature and flawed in principle China can and should be treated for the near future as a potential partner in a changing global order rather than contained and made into an enemy At the same time he argues the true hot spots continue to be in the Middle East albeit not in Iraq or Afghanistan but in Iran and Pakistan Less urgent but of great importance are the ways the West deals with a complex and varied Muslim world with political Islamic parties and social movements and with future waves of Arab awaking Here the distinction between security and nation building becomes essential for both normative and strategic reasons Etzioni expects that we will see few armed humanitarian interventions of the kind we witnessed in 2011 in Libya To this end he examines policies that threaten and favor the promotion of human rights This timely book is written with Etzioni s customary deep appreciation for important issues

Transnational Politics of the Environment Liliana B. Andonova, 2003-11-21 A study of the effect of EU membership on Central and Eastern European environmental policy and the interplay of political incentives and industry behavior that determines policy In Transnational Politics of the Environment Liliana Andonova examines the effect of the European Union EU on the environmental policies of Bulgaria the Czech Republic and Poland Compliance with EU environmental regulations is especially onerous for Central and Eastern European countries because of the costs involved and the legacy of pollution from communist era industries But Andonova argues that EU integration has a positive impact on environmental policies in these countries by exerting a strong influence on the environmental interests of regulated industries With her empirical study of chemical safety and air pollution policies from 1990 to 2000 she shows that export competitive industries such as the chemical industry that would benefit from economic integration have an incentive to adopt EU norms By contrast industries such as electric utilities that primarily serve the domestic market remain opposed to EU environmental standards and must be prodded by their own governments to implement environmental protection measures These differences in domestic interests greatly influence the course of reforms and the adoption of EU standards Transnational Politics of the Environment challenges the current focus on intergovernmental cooperation between East and West by highlighting the roles of industries transnational norms and domestic institutions in promoting change in environmental regulation It offers a generalizable framework for understanding the politics of environmental regulation in emerging market economies and helps bridge the divide between the study of domestic and international environmental politics Global Journalist ,2004
