Policies Affecting Fertility And Contraceptive Use An Assessment Of Twelve Sub Saharan Countries:

Policies Affecting Fertility and Contraceptive Use Susan Scribner, 1995 World Bank Technical Paper No 272 Public examinations in developing countries play a critical role in the selection of students for participation in the educational system The exams dictate what is taught how it is taught and what is and is not learned They are academic have little reference to the everyday lives of the students are limited to pencil and paper tests and are biased toward high achievers Thus students who leave school at an early stage are provided with inadequate opportunities for acquiring relevant knowledge and skills This study identifies practices associated with examinations that may create inequities for some students These include scoring procedures the use of culturally inappropriate questions fee requirements private tutoring exams in a language unfamiliar to the student and a variety of malpractices Quota systems that deal with differences in performance associated with location ethnicity or language group membership also creates inequities for some students The report concludes that the limited available evidence does not indicate that examinations create inequities between genders and that ranking schools on the basis of students examination performance may not provide a fair assessment of the work of schools

The Condition of Young Children in Sub-Saharan Africa Nat J. Colletta, Jayshree Balachander, Xiaoyan Liang, 1996-01-01 Reviews the World Bank's experience in industrial restructuring in 46 countries during the past 14 years The study finds that for most completed public enterprise restructuring operations sustainability of benefits was a large problem mainly because of fragile sector reforms and inadequate governance and management Those completed for the private sector experienced poor outcomes from inadequate attention to country economic conditions and policy distortions To overcome such problems the study recommends that future restructuring operations be designed and implemented to have an impact at the firm level

Review of Early Childhood Policy and Programs in Sub-Saharan Africa Amy Jo Reinhold, 1997-01-01 The collaborative efforts of Colombia's Department of National Planning DNP and the World Bank has produced the National Evaluation System of Public Sector Performance SYNERGY Put in place by the Special Division for Evaluation in DNP this system has been designed and implemented to change the public sector from an inward looking process oriented body which sometimes restrains economic and social progress into a more dynamic results oriented partner of the community and private sector in development This report explores the critical factors in making SYNERGY a successful evaluation system Such factors include ways of making it an effective management tool promoting civil society participation by focusing on results for people and leveraging on their energy and resource defining a constructive learning process for implementation and providing an enabling environment for a results oriented public sector

Sustainability of a Government Targeted Credit Program Shahidur R. Khandker, Zahed H. Khan, M. A. Baqui Khalily, 1995-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 304 Reviews the status and availability in developing countries of photovoltaic PV technology and looks at the prospects for using this technology in light of current energy use and costs of other energy sources The report provides the necessary background information and highlights the questions raised and the calculations that must be made whenever PV applications are being considered in the developing world

The Diffusion of Information Technology Ken Guy, Erik Arnold, 1995-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper No 281 This study examines the best practices of eight OECD countries Canada Germany Ireland Japan the Netherlands Sweden the United Kingdom and the United States in designing national policies and programs to accelerate the effective use of information technology in support of industrial competitiveness New technologies in computing communications and multimedia are changing the competitive advantage of industries services and entire economies Enterprises must therefore increase their technological development and education through government assistance The emerging experience is rich and diverse The study draws on the tacit knowledge of the designers and implementors of national policies and programs to establish key rules of thumb for future programs The authors outline broad directions for adapting these practices to the conditions of developing countries

Managing Primary Health Care Richard Heaver, 1995-01-01 This paper looks at the way in which the pattern of disease is changing in developing countries and the implications this has for the way in which primary health care PHC programs should be designed and managed In the absence of an accepted methodology for discussing health management issues it attempts to develop a conceptual framework suited to analyzing an environment of dynamic change It applies this framework first to the management of primary health care programs provided by governments and then to the role of the non government sector in primary care The paper draws broad clients If the general approach adopted seems useful the conceptual framework needs next to be applied to a series of specific country cases to test its validity and refine it and to adapt the general conclusions to local cultural administrative and political conditions

Preshipment Inspection Services Patrick Low, 1995 Many governments have contracted preshipment inspection PSI services to address problems associated with the over and under invoicing of trade transactions tariff misclassifications shortfalls in revenue collections from trade taxes and the management

Farm Restructuring and Land Tenure in Reforming Socialist Economies , 1995 The transition conditions and legislation Survey design the demographic and physical setting Processes of land reform Crop production Livestock production Markets for inputs and products Capitalization and assets Finance and banking Labour housing and social services

Bank Governance Contracts Richard P. Roulier, 1995-01-01 This report reviews the recent economic and political history of the Middle East and North Africa and discusses ways in which the region may capitalize on its natural financial and human resources to become a key player in an integrating global economy It focuses on concepts of shared and rapid economic growth and draws attention to the current upward trends in the economies of Jordan Morocco and Tunisia

The Uruguay Round and the Developing Economies Will Martin, L. Alan Winters, 1995-01-01 Agricultural liberalization and the Uruguay round The Uruguay round an assessment of economywide and agricultural reforms Trade in manufactures the outcome of the Uruguay round and developing country interest Liberalizing manufactures trade in changing world economy The Uruguay
