Governance and Public Administration in China Toby S. James, Wei Liu, Caixia Man, 2022-12-26 China has traditionally been held up around the world as the archetype of centralised governance and a top down system of public administration But to what extent does this remain true of modern China This book provides an updated perspective on modern China through a series of cutting edge original studies focusing on public administration in China The book opens with an overview of the key political institutions and the evolution of public administration research in China followed by two distinct sections Part I contains studies focusing on power governance and administration Part II focuses on what works in solving wicked problems in Chinese society The volume shows that China has seen some localisation and decentralisation alongside experiments with collaboration and networked based policy making However the system of governance and public administration remains innately top down and centralised with the centre holding strong policy levers and control over society As the pandemic revealed this statist approach provided both governing opportunities and disadvantages The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Policy Studies Chinese Politics as Fragmented Authoritarianism Kjeld Erik Brødsgaard, 2016-10-04 This book explores how far the concept of fragmented authoritarianism remains valid as the key concept for understanding how the Chinese political process works It contrasts fragmented authoritarianism which places bureaucratic bargaining at the centre of policy making arguing that the goals and interests of the implementing agencies have to be incorporated into a policy if implementation is to be secured with other characterisations of China's political process Individual chapters consider fragmented authoritarianism at work in a range of key policy areas including energy issues climate change and environmental management financial reform and civil military relations The book also explores policy making at the national provincial city and local levels debates how far the model of fragmented authoritarianism is valid in its current form or whether modifications are needed and discusses whether the system of policy making and implementation is overcomplicated unwieldy and ineffective or whether it is constructive in enabling widespread consultation and scope for imagination flexibility and variation China's Approach to Energy Security Shaofeng Chen,2023-07-15 This book aims to analyze how and why China takes a state managed marketization approach SMMA to energy security against the backdrop of global efforts of decarbonization and intensified strategic competition between China and the United States How and why does China s SMMA work Taking an evolving historical perspective this book explores China s perception of energy security the policy process institutional restructuring in China s petroleum industry China s foreign energy quest and the ramifications of the Chinese approach on the international energy market and on world decarbonization To demonstrate to what extent China s SMMA differs from other countries it also makes a comparative analyses of the approaches by China the US and India This book will keenly interest scholars of the Chinese political economy climate change and geopolitics Internationalising China's Financial Markets Svenja Schlichting,2008-10-01 Assesses the stability of the Chinese economy and the nature of its economic governance Svenja Schlichting examines how internationalization has impacted on financial market development in China and how far this has contributed to the development of new institutions within China Handbook of BRICS and Emerging Economies PB Anand,Shailaja Fennell,Flavio Comim,2020-12-16 Ever since Jim O Neill at Goldman Sachs coined the term BRICS in 2001 there have been many different assessments of these major emerging economies with some even proclaiming that the promise of the BRICS comprising Brazil Russia India China and South Africa is over However the so called arranged marriage still seems to be working well with the club having become a formal international forum with summit declarations ministerial meetings and numerous BRICS wide fora Is this euphoria misplaced Is there a BRICS model of economic and human development Are inequalities increasing and is this the denouncement of the economic successes Are geo political tensions rising between these nations During the post COVID 19 situation the importance of bilateral and multilateral co operation mechanisms and institutions is becoming clear This book focuses on one such emerging co operation mechanism of BRICS but also more widely on those five countries and other similar economies As a global depression looms large global economic recovery depends on the performance of not only its largest economies but also many other important and significant economies within the so called G20 group Even prior to the COVID 19 outbreak multilateral institutions have been under considerable strain as with the relationship between the United States of America and China and risks to global economic recovery appear very real This book brings together multi disciplinary perspectives from over sixty scholars and it presents a comprehensive and deep dive into the BRICS and emerging economies and into an understanding the political economic and social contexts that can help in designing approaches for recovery and regaining the last momentum in the journey towards the Sustainable Development Goals Institutions, Regulatory Styles, Society and Environmental Governance in China Carlos Wing-Hung Lo, Shui-Yan Tang, 2013-08-15 During the past three decades of rapid industrial growth China has suffered from devastating environmental degradation Most scholarly and popular publications have painted a rather pessimistic picture about the worrisome trend Yet a somewhat more optimistic view has emerged in the past decade given the Chinese government's increased commitment to fighting industrial pollution the public's increased concerns regarding the adverse effects of pollution and domestic and international civil society's increased involvement in promoting environmental protection in China Drawing on the authors extensive research on Guangdong Province and a few large cities in other provinces this book provides an in depth study on China's environmental governance and regulatory enforcement in the past two decades Section 1 examines various institutional constraints for environmental regulation enforcement at the local level and how governance reform efforts in the past decade have contributed to the lessening of those constraints Section 2 draws on data derived from surveys and interviews conducted in multiple cities and times it examines the dominant regulatory enforcement styles of local environmental protection bureaus and how these styles vary across different regions and over time Section 3 examines how various stakeholders the general public environmental groups government entities and corporations affect the environmental governance process Overall the book presents a cautiously optimistic view on the evolution of environmental governance in China While highlighting many political institutional social and economic constraints it also documents many changes that have taken place including reform efforts from within the government administrative system increasingly societal concerns and actions and changing attitudes among corporate executives potentially paving the way for more effective environmental governance in the future Domestic Law
