Policy Practice And Provision For Children With Specific Learning Difficulties:

Policy, Practice, and Provision for Children with Specific Learning Difficulties Jill Duffield, Sheila Riddell, Sally A. Brown, 1995 Dyslexia or specific learning difficulty continues to arouse controversy This report of an investigation in Scotland shows how contrasting views of the problem underlie variations in policy and provision and hinder communications between different groups involved Educational psychologists local authority officials and learning support advisers provided the framework of views which the authors used to research other perspectives Parents and other users and practitioners concerned with specific learning difficulties were all surveyed The book deals with areas of common concern for Scotland and for England and Wales However key differences are clearly explained Policy, Provision and Practice for Special Educational Needs and Disability Peter Wood, 2021-12-30 This book showcases the diverse nature of policy provision and practice for special educational needs and disability SEND across different international settings Situated across a backdrop of varied international policies relating to inclusion the book offers insights into the rhetoric of SEND policy and practice across a range of settings to contribute to our understanding of SEND provision It explores the complexities concerns and challenges experienced by staff pupils parents and carers in contemporary education settings Chapters draw on empirical research and are structured around four parts special education needs and disability within policy stakeholder perceptions and experiences of SEND provision meeting the needs of SEND children and moving towards inclusive practice The volume will challenge thought stimulate critique and provoke debate in the field of special educational needs both locally and globally and will be of interest to researchers and postgraduate students in the field of inclusive education special needs education and comparative education Resources in Education ,2001 Specific Learning Difficulties (Dyslexia) Mr Peter D Pumfrey, Peter Pumfrey, Rea Reason, 2013-09-05 Drawing on the work of eleven experienced educational psychologists this book presents a variety of approaches to prevention identification and intervention and makes practical recommendations for future progress Addressing Difficulties in Literacy Development Gavin Reid, Janet Soler, Janice Wearmouth, 2013-09-27 This book outlines and critiques international strategies and programmes designed to address difficulties in literacy development The high profile team of contributors consider teaching programmes which operate at family school pupil and teacher levels They argue that school is not the only legitimate location for literacy education and show how difficulties in literacy can be addressed sequentially both in and out of the school context Issues addressed include the dilemmas facing practitioners in choosing between multiple approaches to practice the factors which must be addressed in strategies which operate at the level of the family and the community how to ensure the school can support programmes designed to improve literacy learning how to put theory into practice in programmes designed for use with individual students the teacher as reflective practitioner developing professional practice which effectively raises literacy achievement This book will be of interest to postgraduate students teachers researchers educational professionals and policymakers who are looking for practical strategies to address difficulties in literacy development This reader forms the basis of the Open University's Difficulties in Literacy Development course and is ideal for similar courses nationally and internationally

Growing Up with Disability Carol Robinson, Kirsten Stalker, 1998-01-01 This book encompasses a wide range of perspectives on childhood impairment and its social implications The book adopts a child-centred approach stressing the importance of communicating with disabled children and includes pieces of writing by young disabled people Preschool and school-age children describe their behavior and feelings within their own families substitute families and residential homes The book explores how such children can best be protected and how their quality of life can be improved Using the social model of disability which identifies the material and social barriers to inclusion contributors give examples of progressive practice and examine the aspirations of young disabled people their friendships and how they come to terms with adolescence and the transition to adulthood

Controversial Issues in Special Education Garry Hornby, Jean Howard, Mary Atkinson, 2013-07-04 First published in 1997 This book provides practitioners in the field of special education with the information they need to decide whether controversial diagnoses and treatments in this field are valid The aim of this book is to review the literature on each topic and comment on the current state of the art of each in a way which is accessible to teachers other professionals and parents The book is of relevance to all teachers and other professionals who are concerned with the education of children with SEN including teachers in mainstream and special schools

Disability, Stigmatization, and Children's Developing Selves Misa Kayama, Wendy Haight, May-Lee Ku, Minhae Cho, Hee Yun Lee, 2020 Stigmatization is part of the everyday lives of children with disabilities their families and friends Negative social encounters even with perfect strangers can dampen joyful occasions add stress to challenging situations and lead to social isolation In this book we describe a program of research spanning a decade that seeks to understand disabilities in their developmental and cultural contexts We are especially interested in understanding adults' socialization practices that promise to reduce stigmatization in the next generation Guided by developmental cultural psychology including the concept of universalism without uniformity we focus on the understandings and responses to disability and associated stigmatization of elementary school educators practicing in Japan Taiwan South Korea and the US Educators from all four cultural groups expressed strikingly similar concerns about the impact of stigmatization on the emerging cultural self both of children with disabilities and their typically developing peers Educators also described culturally nuanced socialization goals and practices pertaining to inclusive education In Japan for instance educators emphasized the importance of peer group belonging and strategies to support the participation of children with disabilities In the US educators placed relatively more emphasis on individual development and discussed strategies for the equitable treatment of children with disabilities Educators in Taiwan and South Korea emphasized the cultivation of compassion in typically developing children The understanding gained through examination of how diverse individuals address common challenges using cultural resources available in their everyday lives provides important lessons for strengthening theory policy and programs Disability, Policy and Professional Practice Jennifer Harris, Alan Roulstone, 2010-12-10 This is the first book on working with disabled people to take an aspirational outcomes focused approach to professional practice It forms the first attempt to grapple with the massive legislative and policy shifts in the Disability field in the last 15 years and provides an up to date positive approach to professional practice based on the social model of disability Importantly the book translates both adult and children s disability legislation and policy guidance into positive creative enabling practice methods for professionals in social care health employment and independent living The book takes a practical approach that challenges professionals to confront key issues in disability studies policy and practice The key topics covered are o The Historical Legacy Legislation Policy and Guidance o Community Care and Beyond o Pivotal Moments in the development of disability policy o Independent Living Choices and Rights o Life course Issues o Valuing Diversity o Key Challenges for an aspiring social model practitioner This book is an indispensable resource for all professionals and students working with disabled people Special Education Reformed Harry Daniels, 2002-01-04 Brings together in one volume the perspectives of teachers practitioners researchers and important external bodies such as the LEA and national organisations like the RNIB Part of the New Millennium Series which takes stock of education now and predicts the shape of likely developments The book asks leading authorities on Special Educational Needs to probe the issues currently topping the agenda and to predict what will happen in SEN for the foreseeable future Useful for those working and training to work in special schools and mainstream schools
