Forging Military Identity in Culturally Pluralistic Societies Daniel Zirker, Thomas Stubbs, 2015-10-08 Ethno politics has become a major force in the post Cold War era The fundamental challenge to military establishments in deeply plural societies is the formation of institutional unity from diverse ethnic groups This edited volume examines seven case studies of countries that have attempted with varying degrees of success to develop or to begin to develop within their military establishments a single quasi ethnic military identity to effect unity within their ranks and attenuate the deep and often violent ethnic divisions that otherwise would pertain The volume compares contrasting outcomes in two African regions West Africa with the contrasting cases of Guinea and Nigeria and East Africa with the cases of Tanzania Uganda and Kenya It also examines the very different cases of Algeria and Suriname In most of these cases the emergence of a single unified quasi ethnic identity is in its earliest stages although rapid global change points to the likelihood that this pattern will prevail

Turkish Politics and the Military William Hale, 2013-09-13 Turkey s geographical position between the Middle East and Europe and at the centre of the current upheavals in the USSR and the Balkans has led to a reawakening of interest in its international standing Meanwhile its domestic politics are of increasing interest and Turkey seems to have become a model for Liberal Democracy in Central Asia David Hale focuses on the role of the military in contemporary politics He author argues that the military has behaved quite differently from its counterparts in other third world states it has acted in some degree as a guardian of the state committed to economic and social modernisation The book places contemporary politics in perspective by looking at the evolution of the armed forces in Turkey from the end of the eighteenth century The author traces the role of the military through the establishment of the Republic the military coups of 1960 and 1980 the gradual return to civilian government of the sixties and seventies and the military disengagement from politics of 1983 onwards Hale is interested in the army as an actor in the political drama rather than in the professional functions of soldiers and his historical exposition reveals much about the modern scene

Nested Political Coalitions Terrence E. Cook, 2001-11-30 Cook s principles of coalition politics are really rules of thumb followed by boundedly rational actors and can predict much coalition politics behavior Agents prefer to create marginally winning coalitions with like minded groups in the expectation of receiving rewards commensurate with investments Four distinct types of coalitions country regime agenda and cabinet are explored along with a thorough examination of current coalition literature Normally nested the broader coalitions give rise to narrower ones revealing diminishing bases of support and duration Also barring political catastrophe change in coalitions at the program or cabinet level usually do not harm and may actually strengthen the regime or country coalitions from which they arise Students and scholars in comparative politics and political theory will benefit from Cook s ability to rise above the usual divisions and limitations of sub fields A distinctive and refreshing mix of theory and empirical material INested Political Coalitions R provides a sensible digest of diverse theoretical literatures a good overview of coalition dynamics from one level to the next and illustrates all this with breathtaking empirical coverage

Elites and Democratic Transitions by Regime Transformation in Southern Europe Ioannis Tzortzis, 2022-09-16 This book examines three cases of democratic transitions by self transformation of the non democratic regimes in Southern Europe the Spanish reforma pactada ruptura pactada of 1976 77 the Greek Markezinis experiment of 1973 and the Turkish democratic transition of 1983 in a comparative perspective The author argues that a democratic transition initiated by the regime elites is in contrast to widely held assumptions and notwithstanding some reservations on whether democracy can be re introduced by non democrats worth viewing as a window of opportunity for democratisation It is up to the democratic counter elites to respond to it using the civil society and the international factor as allies to achieve their goal of acquiring more concessions from the regime
