Political Economy Of Peacebuilding In Bosnia:

The Political Economy of Peacebuilding in Post-Dayton Bosnia Timothy Donais, 2005-06-21 A fresh examination of the political economy of the peacebuilding process in Bosnia Herzegovina in the aftermath of the country's 1992-95 war. Little progress has been made in transforming the country's war-shattered economy into a functioning market economy; this new study explains the principal dynamics that have led to this and places Bosnia's economic transition process within the context of the country's broader post-conflict peacebuilding process. The central argument this book persuasively advances is that much of Bosnia's ongoing economic crisis and its current reform stalemate can be explained by exploring the interactions of an inappropriate international model of economic reform with the country's particular post-conflict and post-socialist political economy. This book is essential for readers who wish to build an understanding of the region and assess its future prospects and hopes.

Political Economy of Statebuilding Mats Berdal, 2017-07-05 This volume examines and evaluates the impact of international statebuilding interventions on the political economy of post-conflict countries over the past 20 years. While statebuilding today is typically discussed in the context of peacebuilding and stabilisation operations, the current phase of interest in external interventions to rebuild and strengthen governmental institutions can be traced back to the good governance policies of the International Financial Institutions (IFIs) in the early 1990s. These sought political changes and improvements in the quality of governance in countries that were subject to or were seeking support under IFI-designed structural adjustment programmes. The focus of this book is specifically on statebuilding efforts in conflict-affected countries: countries that are emerging or have recently emerged from periods of war and violent conflict. The interventions covered in the present volume fall into three broad and overlapping categories: International administrations and transformative occupations (East Timor, Iraq and Kosovo); Complex peace operations (Afghanistan, Burundi, Haiti and Sudan); Governance and statebuilding programmes conducted in the context of economic assistance (Georgia and Macedonia). This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding, humanitarian intervention, post-conflict reconstruction, political economy, international organisations and IR Security Studies in general.

Blue Helmets and Black Markets Peter Andreas, 2011-08-15 The 1992 1995 battle for Sarajevo was the longest siege in modern history It was also the most internationalized attracting a vast contingent of aid workers UN soldiers journalists smugglers and embargo busters The city took center stage under an intense global media spotlight becoming the most visible face of post Cold War conflict and humanitarian intervention However some critical activities took place backstage away from the cameras including extensive clandestine trading across the siege lines theft and diversion of aid and complicity in the black market by peacekeeping forces In Blue Helmets and Black Markets Peter Andreas traces the interaction between these formal front stage and informal backstage activities arguing that this created and sustained a criminalized war economy and prolonged the conflict in a manner that served various interests on all sides Although the vast majority of Sarajevans struggled for daily survival and lived in a state of terror the siege was highly rewarding for some key local and international players This situation also left a powerful legacy for postwar reconstruction new elites emerged via war profiteering and an illicit economy flourished partly based on the smuggling networks built up during wartime Andreas shows how and why the internationalization of the siege changed the repertoires of siege craft and siege defenses and altered the strategic calculations of both the besiegers and the besieged The Sarajevo experience dramatically illustrates that just as changes in weapons technologies transformed siege warfare through the ages so too has the arrival of CNN NGOs satellite phones UN peacekeepers and aid convoys Drawing on interviews reportage diaries memoirs and other sources Andreas documents the business of survival in wartime Sarajevo and the limits contradictions and unintended consequences of international intervention Concluding with a comparison of the battle for Sarajevo with the sieges of Leningrad Grozny and Srebrenica and more recently Falluja Blue Helmets and Black Markets is a major contribution to our understanding of contemporary urban warfare war economies and the political repercussions of humanitarian action Liberal Peacebuilding and the Locus of Legitimacy David Roberts, 2016-02-05 Liberal peacebuilding too often builds neither peace nor Liberalism In a growing number of cases people aren't rejecting and relegating democracy because it's bad they're challenging it because it isn't relevant to their priorities and needs The peacebuilding moment when consent for intervention is present and the opportunity to build a sustainable social contract between peacebuilders and people is most fruitful is being squandered This relationship between governed and governance relies on mutual needs realization but there is no formal or informal requirement and mechanism for ascertaining what the subjects of peacebuilding might prioritize Instead peacebuilders give the subjects of peacebuilding what they think they should have This legitimacy gap between what peacebuilders give and what subjects want is the subject of this book Through a range of empirical case studies conducted by country specialists the book reveals that when asked people often prioritize roads electricity jobs housing schooling and pertinent justice amongst other things in the immediate aftermath of war We find that mapping this locus of legitimacy may help develop the kind of relationship upon which the sustainability of any social contract between governed and governance rests This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Intervention and Statebuilding Peacebuilding in Practice Adam Moore, 2013-07-12 In November 2007 Adam Moore was conducting fieldwork in Mostar when the southern Bosnian city was rocked by two days of violent clashes between Croat and Bosniak youth It was not the city's only experience of ethnic conflict in recent years Indeed Mostar's problems are often cited as emblematic of the failure of international efforts to overcome deep divisions that continue to stymie the postwar peace process in Bosnia Yet not all of Bosnia has been plagued by such troubles Mostar remains mired in distrust and division but the Brcko District in the northeast corner of the country has become a model of what Bosnia could be Its multiethnic institutions operate well compared to other municipalities and are broadly supported by those who live there it also boasts the only fully integrated school system in the country What accounts for the striking divergence in postwar peacebuilding in these two towns Moore argues that a conjunction of four factors explains the contrast in outcomes in Mostar and Brcko The design of political institutions the sequencing of political and economic reforms local and regional legacies from the war and the practice and organization of international peacebuilding efforts in the two towns Differences in the latter in particular have profoundly shaped relations between local political elites and international officials Through a grounded analysis of localized peacebuilding dynamics in these two cities Moore generates a powerful argument concerning the need to rethink how peacebuilding is done that is a shift in the habitus or culture that governs international peacebuilding activities and priorities today

The Urban Transformation of Sarajevo Jordi Martín-Díaz, 2021-08-10 Following the signing of the peace agreement and the end of three and a half years of siege Sarajevo simultaneously experienced a double transition from war to peace and from socialism to capitalism that was marked by an increasing international intervention This book presents a study of the urban transformation of Sarajevo during the post war period and considers both the role and the impact of the international community in its spatial and ethnic configuration Part I focuses on the period of maximum international involvement developed at local level from December 1995 until 2003 and comprises chapters on the ethno territorial division of the city the reconstruction of its ethnic diversity and the liberal transition fostered and imposed internationally Part II deals with the impact of these policies on the current spatial functional and ethnic configuration in the area of Sarajevo

Overcoming Obstacles to Peace James Dobbins, 2013 This volume analyzes the impediments that local conditions pose to successful outcomes of nation building interventions in conflict affected areas Previous RAND studies of nation building focused on external interveners activities This volume shifts the focus to internal circumstances first identifying the conditions that gave rise to conflicts or threatened to perpetuate them and then determining how external and local actors were able to modify or work around them to promote enduring peace It examines in depth six varied societies Cambodia El Salvador Bosnia and Herzegovina East Timor Sierra Leone and the Democratic Republic of the Congo It then analyzes a larger set of 20 major post Cold War nation building interventions The authors assess the risk of renewed conflict at the onset of the interventions and subsequent progress along five dimensions security democratization government effectiveness economic growth and human development They find that transformation of many of the specific conditions that gave rise to or fueled conflict often is not feasible in the time frame of nation building operations but that such transformation has not proven essential to achieving the primary goal of nation building establishing peace Most interventions in the past 25 years have led to enduring peace as well as some degree of improvement in the other dimensions assessed The findings suggest the importance of setting realistic expectations neither expecting nation building operations to quickly lift countries out of poverty and create liberal democracies nor being swayed by a negative stereotype of nation building that does not recognize its signal achievements in the great majority of cases Page 4 of cover
