Much of what is known today of Georgia history was preserved through the diligent efforts of a single family From Wormsloe their ancestral plantation near Savannah the De Rennes built an extraordinary collection of books and manuscripts on the history of the state and the Confederacy much of which is now housed at the University of Georgia and the Museum of the Confederacy This book focuses on their efforts in the years 1827 through 1970 conveying the passion and purpose with which they pursued their avocation William Harris Bragg has mined a vast array of archival sources to present this engaging narrative of the De Renne family He tells how wealthy bibliophile and philanthropist G W J De Renne and his wife Mary set the precedent for the family s accumulation of historic material how their son established the Wymberley Jones De Renne Georgia Library that bears his name and how his children in turn expanded upon that tradition The De Rennes also printed limited editions of primary historical materials beginning with the series known as the Wormsloe Quartos Bragg s account of three generations of the De Renne family vividly records their achievements as it reconstructs their life at Wormsloe and follows them in their travels around the world It provides glimpses into the dynamics and behavior of one of Georgia s oldest and most prominent families and the evolution of the southern aristocracy The book draws on newly available material to expand significantly on Ellis Merton Coulter s 1955 work Wormsloe and provides the most complete account to date of the De Rennes Beyond the story of the De Renne family Bragg also reveals much about the history of collecting and of the antiquarian book trade as well as of the evolution of Georgia historical documentation Appendix material includes genealogical tables and lists of collections and publications making De Renne Three Generations of a Georgia Family an invaluable source for all scholars and aficionados of southern history

The Marlin Compound Frank Calvert Oltorf,2014-08-19 Written over a hundred year period the letters of Zenas Bartlett and his family and friends capture the vitality that marked the expansion and development of Texas during the nineteenth century Warm humorous and illuminating these letters and other papers record the changes in a family and in a region as bustling towns replaced clusters of log cabins and the hardships of the frontier were gradually mellowed by the luxuries of settled life The earliest letters describe the adventures of young Zenas Bartlett who left his home in Maine and traveled first to Alabama and then to camps of the California Gold Rush A new venture brought him to Marlin Texas in 1854 The transformation of a wilderness area into a prosperous community is the unifying theme of the rest of the collection Churchill Jones Bartlett s future father in law writes about his struggles to establish a cotton plantation at the Falls of the Brazos River Zenas antebellum letters perceptively reveal the poignancy of his partner s death and the joys of his own fulfilling marriage John Watkins an associate in Bartlett s store expresses the pride loyalty and eventual disillusionment of a soldier in the Civil War Zenas correspondence with his family in the East describes the privations endured by Marlin during Reconstruction Beguiling Mollie Dickson s schoolgirl journal and the letters of Zenas large family depict happier times during the eighties and nineties The last letters were written by Lottie Barnes a former servant who recalls the tranquil years following the turn of the century An epilogue brings the story to conclusion and selections from the author s delightful collection of family photographs illustrate the book Frank Calvert Oltorf was reared on the Marlin Compound the home where members of this singular family lived or visited and where many of the manuscripts included in this book were found His comments bind the letters in a narrative of pioneering which is also a humorous and human family history
